Housing and Labour Markets John Allen, Chris Hamnett, 2018-12-07 First published in 1991 The connection between housing and work is one of the most discussed yet least understood aspects of modern society Housing and Labour Markets explores the different ways in which housing and labour are linked and examines their central significance in many of the key changes in society today It provides a wide ranging analysis of the relationships between housing and labour markets with accounts of the different forms of work paid and unpaid in which various types of households are engaged This edited collection addresses the varied impact of restructuring in both housing and labour markets in different localities and regions including contributions from the USA and Australia By making an important input into the growing debate over the links between home and work this book shows the direction in which the debate should go draws out the principal lines of connection and suggests a way forward The issues addressed in Housing and Labour Markets will be of interest to a wide range of social science disciplines especially urban studies economics sociology geography and planning Local government officers in housing and planning will also find it makes an invaluable contribution to developing links between housing and the workplace Essays on housing supply, land use regulation and regional labourmarkets Wouter Vermeulen, 2003

Institutions and Regional Labour Markets in Europe Lambert van der Laan, Santos M. Ruesga, 2019-05-23 First published in 1998 this volume examines the performance of labour markets against the background of different economic and institutional settings in Western and Eastern Europe The book gives a clear picture of the mosaic of impressive transformations presently taking place in Western and Eastern European labour markets and provides access to information which was previously either widely dispersed or non existent The book gives detailed information about how countries and regions deal with transformations described The substantive country wide and regional diversity that is discussed allows the reader to understand the role of labour and institutions in the development of countries and regions The book is written by labour market and regional experts from the various countries concerned The Impacts of Automotive Plant Closure Andrew Beer, Holli Evans, 2013-09-13 Economic restructuring has been a notable feature of so called mature industrial economies such as the UK and Australia in the last two decades with deregulation privatisation technological change and globalisation combining to reshape such economies Some industries have grown while others have declined Moreover while overall employment in the UK and Australia has grown many newly created positions require skills not found in the industries shedding labour or are in casualised and low paid occupations Many lesser skilled workers leaving declining industries are therefore at risk of long term unemployment or leaving the workforce entirely Both mental and physical health can be affected after redundancy It is therefore crucial that the measures put in place in many domains of social policy such as formal health policy employment assistance community development housing assistance and so on to adequately address the difficulties confronting this group This volume takes a closer look at the impact of manufacturing notably automotive plant closures in the UK Birmingham and Australia Adelaide in recent years and policy responses to those closures It attempts to tease out differences in policy response and effectiveness and attempts to identify areas where policy could be made to work better in terms of adjusting to large scale manufacturing change and resulting job losses In so doing it begins for the first time we believe to take a comparative approach to understanding the impact of plant closures and policy responses This book was published as a special issue of Policy Studies

Compensation of Regional Unemployment in Housing Markets Jos van Ommeren, 2005 Regional Labor Market Dynamics, Housing, and Migration Kari Hämäläinen, Petri Bockerman, 2004 This study explores the impact of plant level labor market dynamics and housing markets on gross migration flows The internal and the external reorganizations of regional labor markets are shown to be related An increase in internal turnover of jobs and workers in regional labor markets is found to increase net migration This effect arises mainly from a reduction in out migration Housing markets constitute constraints for migration In particular an increase in regional housing prices and a large share of owner occupancy housing discourages net migration to a region by reducing in migration In contrast the out migration rate remains largely unaffected by housing markets
