Regional Innovation Knowledge And Global Change:

Regional Innovation, Knowledge and Global Change Zoltan Acs, 2013-12-19 First Published in 1999 The process of globalization is shaped and reinforced by a rapidly changing knowledge environment As economies become less constrained national frontiers they become more geographically specialized Thus important elements of the innovation process tend to become regional rather than national In this new environment large corporations are weakening their links with their home country spreading their innovation activities to source different regional systems of innovation Regional networks of forms are creating new forms of learning and production The aim of this book is to broaden both conceptually and empirically the national systems of innovation approach developed by Lundvall Freeman Nelson and others While recognizing the creative nature of economic adjustment in a turbulent world and the highly uneven distribution of economic growth the national systems approach lacks a mechanism by which to understand innovation when realistic unit of analysis is no longer the nation state Written by leading scholars in the field this book provides a ground breaking examination of sub regional systems of innovation in an interconnected global economy

Knowledge, Complexity and Innovation Systems Manfred M. Fischer, Josef Fröhlich, 2013-11-27 In recent years there has been growing scientific interest in the triangular relationship between knowledge complexity and innovation systems The concept of innovation systems carries the idea that innovations do not originate as isolated discrete phenomena but are generated through the interaction of a number of actors or agents This set of actors and interactions possess certain specific characteristics that tend to remain over time Such characteristics are also shared by national regional sectoral and technological interaction systems They can all be represented as sets of institutional actors and interactions whose ultimate goal is the production and diffusion of knowledge The major theoretical and policy problem posed by these systems is that knowledge is generated not only by individuals and organisations but also by the often complex pattern of interaction between them To understand how organisations create new products new production techniques and new organisational forms is important An even more fundamental need is to understand how organisations create new knowledge if this knowledge creation lies in the mobilisation and conversion of tacit knowledge Although much has been written about the importance of knowledge in management little attention has been paid to how knowledge is created and how the knowledge creation process is managed The third component of the research triangle concerns complexity

Broadening Our Knowledge on Cluster Evolution Dirk Fornahl, Robert Hassink, Max-Peter Menzel, 2018-02-02 Although clusters are regarded as important elements in economic development the strong focus in the literature on the way clusters function is contrasted with a disregard for their evolutionary development how clusters actually become clusters how and why they decline and how they shift into new fields and transform over time Although recently new cluster life cycle approaches emerged both empirical evidence and theoretical contributions on this topic are still limited This book therefore contributes to broadening our knowledge on the life cycle and evolution of clusters both empirically and theoretically It contains chapters on inter firm relations as drivers of cluster transformation as well as chapters on the heterogeneity of firms and firm capabilities during cluster evolution and on the role of institutions in stimulating the emergence and growth of clusters Case studies stem from different industries and technologies such as biogas film and television new media and medical technologies and from different countries such as Sweden Austria Switzerland and South Korea All chapters underline that cluster evolution does not only depend on internal dynamics but that external relations are an integral part of cluster dynamics This book was previously published as a special issue of European Planning Studies Regional Innovation Systems Philip N. Cooke, Martin Heidenreich, Hans-Joachim Braczyk, 2004 Since the first edition was published in 1998 there has been a worldwide innovation led boom subsequent slump This new edition registers this change offers an interesting test of the robustness of the original arguments

Regional Innovation Systems Hans-Joachim Braczyk, Philip Cooke, Martin Heidenreich, 2003-09-02 First published in 1998 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company De-coding New Regionalism James W. Scott, 2016-05-13 Bringing together comparative case studies from Central Europe and South America this book focuses on new regions regions created as political projects of modernization and re scaling Through this approach it de codes New Regionalism in terms of its contributions to institutional change while acknowledging its contested nature and contradictions It questions whether these regions are merely a strategy of neo liberal adjustment to changing political and economic conditions or whether they are indicative of true reform greater citizen participation and empowerment It assesses whether these regions are really representing something new or whether they are a reconfiguration of traditional power relationships It provides a timely critical analysis of region building and the extent to which national processes of decentralization and sub national processes of regionalism can enhance the effectiveness and responsiveness of governance De-coding New Regionalism Professor James W. Scott, 2012-11-28 Bringing together comparative case studies from Central Europe and South America this book focuses on new regions regions created as political projects of modernization and re scaling Through this approach it de codes New Regionalism in terms of its contributions to institutional change while acknowledging its contested nature and contradictions It questions whether these regions are merely a strategy of neo liberal adjustment to changing political and economic conditions or whether they are indicative of true reform greater citizen participation and empowerment It assesses whether these regions are really representing something new or whether they are a reconfiguration of traditional power relationships It provides a timely critical analysis of region building and the extent to which national processes of decentralization and sub national processes of regionalism can enhance the effectiveness and responsiveness of governance Knowledge Commercialization and Valorization in Regional Economic Development Tüzin Baycan, 2013-01-01 The commercialization of academic knowledge is increasingly seen as a potential economic development model particularly for improving the capabilities and economic performance of regions This insightful volume investigates the emerging factors in knowledge commercialization from an international perspective and highlights research agendas and challenges to be met across academia industry and government The expert contributors focus specifically on the new role of universities in regional economic development through knowledge commercialization as well as university industry interaction and the factors that influence knowledge and technology transfer They explore knowledge commercialization in the US knowledge valorization in Europe and technology transfer dynamics in China A forum for discussion of whether why and how commercialization and valorization of knowledge can lead to higher levels of innovation and economic development from an international perspective is also provided This thought provoking book will prove a stimulating read for academics students and researchers with an interest in regional economics regional studies and knowledge management
