Regulating Medicines In Europe Competition Experts And Public Health:

Regulating Medicines in Europe John Abraham, Graham Lewis, 2014-04-04 This Book explains and investigates how medicines are controlled in Europe especially the EU Based on penetrating documentary and interview research with the pharmaceutical industry regulators and consumer organisations it provides the first major critical examination of the new Europeanised systems of medicine regulation The authors argue that the drive to produce and approve more drugs more quickly for a single European market dominates other considerations such as improvements in democratic accountability the independence of regulators and scientific expertise from commercial interests and drug safety testing and surveillance

Regulating Pharmaceuticals In Europe: Striving For Efficiency, Equity And Quality Mossialos, Elias, Mrazek, Monique, Walley, Tom, 2004-06-01 This thoughtful and comprehensive book represents the best work I have seen on the current situation concerning medication policies in the EU It is not just that this is a very up to date compendium of facts and data across a wide variety of domains that impact on pharmaceutical regulation The book is also strong on analysis of those facts as well Jerry Avorn Harvard Medical School This book offers a comprehensive examination of approaches to manage pharmaceutical expenditures in Europe It is a must read for those who seek to understand and navigate the changing regulatory environment for medicines in the European Union Bernie O'Brien McMaster University Canada The rising cost of pharmaceutical expenditures in many European countries is of concern to governments required to make effective use of health care budgets Taking a broad perspective that encompasses institutional political and supranational aspects of pharmaceutical regulation this book examines approaches used to manage pharmaceutical expenditure across Europe and what impact these strategies have had on efficiency quality equity and cost of pharmaceutical care Regulating Pharmaceuticals in Europe is an important book for students of health policy regulation and management and for health managers and policy makers The editors Elias Mossialos is Brian Abel Smith Professor of Health Policy at the London School of Economics and Political Science and a Research Director of the European Observatory on Health Systems and Policies Monique Mrazek is a Health Economist Europe and Central Asia region for the World Bank and formerly a Research Officer in Health Economics for the European Observatory on Health Systems and Policies Tom Walley is Professor of Clinical Pharmacology at the University of Liverpool and Director of the UK National Health Technology Assessment Programme Contributors Julia Abelson Christa Altenstetter Vittorio Bertele Christine Bond Marcel L Bouvy Colin Bradley Steve Chapman Anna Dixon Michael Drummond Pierre Durieux Edzard Ernst Armin Fidler Eric Fortess Richard Frank Silvio Garattini Leigh Hancher Ebba Holme Hansen Steve Hudson Kees de Jonchere Panos Kanavos Sjoerd Kooiker Jean Marc Leder Graham Lewis Donald W Light Alistair McGuire Elias Mossialos Monique Mrazek Maria Pia Orru Govin Permanand Guenka Petrova Munir Pirmohamed Dennis Ross Degnan Frans Rutten Steven Soummerai David Taylor Sarah Thomson Tom Walley Multilevel Regulation and the EU Andreas Føllesdal, Ramses A. Wessel, Jan Wouters, 2008 Rules are no longer merely made by states but increasingly by international organizations and other international bodies. At the same time these rules do impact the daily life of citizens and companies as it has become increasingly difficult to draw dividing lines between international EU and domestic law. This book introduces the notion of a multilevel regulation as a way to study these normative processes and the interplay between different legal orders. It indicates that many rules in such areas as trade, financial cooperation, food safety, pharmaceuticals, security, terrorism, civil aviation, environmental protection or the internet find their origin in international cooperation. Apart from mapping multilevel regulation on the basis of a number of case studies, the book analyses its consequences in relation to forms of legal protection and legitimacy. In that respect it proposes an agenda for research to study how to cope with multilevel regulation. This work offers valuable resources for researchers involved in studying the interplay between international, European and domestic law. For practitioners it offers background information on the ways in which many international rules come into being.

The Interplay of Global Standards and EU Pharmaceutical Regulation Sabrina Röttger-Wirtz, 2021-08-26. This book analyses the implementation of global pharmaceutical impact standards in the European risk regulation framework for pharmaceuticals and questions its legitimacy. Global standards increasingly shape the risk regulation law and policy in the European Union and the area of pharmaceuticals is no exception to this tendency. As this book shows, global pharmaceutical standards set by the International Council for Harmonisation of Technical Requirements for the Registration of Pharmaceuticals for Human Use (ICH) after they are adopted through the European Medicines Agency (EMA) are an important feature of the regulatory framework for pharmaceuticals in the EU. In addition to analysing the influence of these global standards in the EU legal and policy framework, the book questions the legitimacy of the Union's reliance on global standards in terms of core administrative law principles of participation, transparency and independence of expertise. It also critically examines the accountability of the European Commission and the European Medicines Agency as participants in the global standard setting and main implementation gateway of the global pharmaceutical standards into the European Union.

Building EU Regulatory Capacity Eva Heims, 2018-09-29. This book examines regulatory capacity beyond the nation state. It suggests that we can only understand why EU agencies are able to build EU regulatory capacity if we acknowledge that national regulators provide their expertise, staff and resources to the regulatory processes taking place in these EU bodies. This raises the puzzle of why national regulators are willing to provide life support to potentially rival organisations. The book is devoted to answering this question in order to understand how EU regulatory capacity is created in the absence of a full supranational regulatory bureaucracy. To do so, the book studies to what extent national regulators from two countries, the UK and Germany, support EU agencies in their work across four policy sectors: drug safety, food safety, maritime safety and banking supervision. The book makes a significant contribution by developing a bureaucratic politics perspective that highlights the importance of national regulators for EU regulatory capacity building.
