Regulating Girls And Women:

Regulating Girls and Women Joan Sangster, 2001-12-15 For people living in Ontario as throughout Canada the period from 1920 to 1960 was one of great change and turmoil the roaring twenties the Great Depression the upheaval of war and the economic boom of the postwar years One constant in society over those years however was the differential treatment that females and males received before the law especially in regard to family matters and sexuality A patriarchal justice system increasingly under the influence of expert opinion from social workers psychologists psychiatrists and other medical doctors openly espoused a sexual double standard and sought to regulate the behaviour of girls and women for their own good Indeed women in physically abusive relationships were at times advised by judges probation officers and social workers to go home and sleep with your husband on the assumption that keeping him sexually sated would end the violence In this fascinating study of sexuality family and the law historian Joan Sangster focuses on key issues that drew women into the courts as plaintiffs and defendants incest and sexual abuse wife assault prostitution female delinquency and the unique colonization of the soul that Aboriginal women had to endure before the law As Sangster writes While history does not offer pat solutions to present dilemmas it may stimulate some sobering second thoughts on current debates by dissecting the changing definitions of criminality and the process by which law constituted gender race and class relations by mounting a critique of past reform efforts and importantly by suggesting how the law affected the lives of girls and women who came into conflict with it

Regulating Lives John McLaren, Dorothy E. Chunn, Robert J. Menzies, 2002 Nine essays investigate the history of law as an instrument of social control moral regulation and the government focusing primarily on British Columbia Canada where most of the contributors work as scholars in law or criminology Among the areas they tackle are the sex trade the spread of venereal disease the use and abuse of liquor child welfare mental disorder intrafamily sexual abuse Aboriginal culture and traditions and Doukhobor beliefs and customs The studies rely on forays into archival material at the national provincial and local levels Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR

Rethinking Feminist History and Theory Lisa Pasolli, Julia Smith, 2025-01-31 Rethinking Feminist History and Theory considers the past present and future of feminist history and theory emphasizing how feminism has influenced the histories of gender class and labour and their intersections This vibrant collection inspired by the work of historian and women's studies scholar Joan Sangster features essays from academics across multiple disciplines highlighting the dynamism of feminist historical scholarship in Canada The book explores questions such as the following How has women's resistance and radicalism been expressed lived represented and repressed over the past century How do we research these phenomena How do we situate feminism in relation to other movements for egalitarian social change Contributors explicitly address these recurring themes aiming to chart new directions for future research and teaching While primarily Canadian focused the collection includes global perspectives with contributions from scholars in Chile Finland Sweden and the UK The essays emphasize the importance of cross disciplinary collaboration incorporating insights from labour studies political economy anthropology legal studies and feminist theory Ultimately Rethinking Feminist History and Theory engages deeply with Sangster's rich and wide ranging work to understand and interpret women's experiences It seeks to inspire future scholarship and teaching in feminist history and theory showcasing the ongoing relevance and adaptability of feminist perspectives Breadwinning Daughters Katrina

Srigley,2010-01-02 As one of the most difficult periods of the twentieth century the Great Depression left few Canadians untouched Using more than eighty interviews with women who lived and worked in Toronto in the 1930s Breadwinning Daughters examines the consequences of these years for women in their homes and workplaces and in the city's court rooms and dance halls In this insightful account Katrina Srigley argues that young women were central to the labour market and family economies of Depression era Toronto Oral histories give voice to women from a range of cultural and economic backgrounds and challenge readers to consider how factors such as race gender class and marital status shaped women's lives and influenced their job options family arrangements and leisure activities Breadwinning Daughters brings to light previously forgotten and unstudied experiences and illustrates how women found various ways to negotiate the burdens and joys of the 1930s Westward Bound Lesley Erickson,2011-08-01 In the late nineteenth century European expansionism found one of its last homes in North America While the American West was renowned for its lawlessness the Canadian Prairies enjoyed a tamer reputation symbolized by the Mounties' legendary triumph over chaos Westward Bound debunks the myth of Canada's peaceful West and the masculine conceptions of law and violence upon which it rests by shifting the focus from Mounties and whisky traders to criminal cases involving women between 1886 and 1940 Lesley Erickson reveals that judges and juries' responses to the most intimate or violent acts reflected a desire to shore up the liberal order by maintaining boundaries between men and women Native peoples and newcomers and capital and labour Victims and accused could only hope to harness entrenched ideas about masculinity femininity race and class in their favour The results Erickson shows were predictable but never certain This fascinating exploration of hegemony and resistance in key contact zones draws prairie Canada into larger debates about law colonialism and nation building Sex and the Married Girl Heather

Stanley,2022-11-01 Sex who was having it who shouldn't have it and who was supposed to be having it but wasn't was a major concern to social authorities in the immediate postwar era Though they are often remembered with nostalgia as a sexually simpler time the 1950s and early 1960s were incredibly sexually productive years Sex and the Married Girl examines how two interrelated and dominant groups in Canada medical professionals and church leaders used married heterosexual female sexuality as a lever to rebuild the Canadian family and the state itself Using embodied historical methodologies the book examines not only discourses around sex but also how those discourses could influence the actual experience of sex for married women Heather Stanley draws upon extensive oral life histories of women who lived married and had sex during this liminal social period to demonstrate that this was a time of simultaneous sexual and gender quiescence and change

Criminalizing Women, 2nd Edition Gillian Balfour, Elizabeth Comack, 2021-01-10T00:00:00Z Criminalizing women has become all too frequent in these neo liberal times Meanwhile poverty racism and misogyny continue to frame criminalized women s lives Criminalizing Women introduces readers to the key issues addressed by feminists engaged in criminology research over the past four decades Chapters explore how narratives that construct women as errant females prostitutes street gang associates and symbols of moral corruption mask the connections between women s restricted choices and the conditions of their lives The book shows how women have been surveilled disciplined managed corrected and punished and it considers the feminist strategies that have been used to address the impact of imprisonment and to draw attention to the systemic abuses against poor and racialized women In addition to updating material in the introductions and substantive chapters this second edition includes new contributions that consider the media representations of missing and murdered women in Vancouver s Downtown Eastside the gendered impact of video surveillance technologies CCTV the role of therapeutic interventions in the death of Ashley Smith the progressive potential of the Inside Out Prison Exchange Program and the use of music and video as decolonizing strategies
