Please fill it out honestly and thoughtfully, and use it as a tool to guide discussions with your healthcare practitioner.

Section 1: Relationship Assessment

- Describe the relationship you want to repair or improve:

- Relationship Type: Spousal
- Length of the Relationship: 10 years
- Key Issues/Challenges:

Our communication has deteriorated significantly over the past year, and we've been arguing more frequently. Trust issues have also arisen due to past conflicts.

- Identify your emotional responses within the relationship:

Anger, frustration, sadness, anxiety, and a general sense of disconnection.

- Examine your thoughts about this relationship:

My spouse doesn't understand me anymore, and they're not interested in working things out.

Section 2: Cognitive Distortions

- Identify and challenge cognitive distortions:

"My spouse doesn't understand me anymore" might involve "mind-reading" – assuming I know what they think without concrete evidence. I should challenge this by seeking their perspective.
