The Study of Greek and Roman Religions Nickolas P. Roubekas, 2022-07-14 How should ancient religious ideas be approached Is religion an applicable term to antiquity Should classicists ancient historians and religious studies scholars work more closely together Nickolas P Roubekas argues that there is a disciplinary gap between the study of Greek and Roman religions and the study of religion as a category a gap that has often resulted in contradictory conclusions regarding Greek and Roman religion This book addresses this lack of interdisciplinarity by providing an overview criticism and assessment of this chasm It provides a theoretical approach to this historical period raising the issue of the relationship between theory of religion and history of religion and explores how history influences theory and vice versa It also presents an in depth critique of some crucial problems that have been central to the discussions of scholars who work on Graeco Roman antiquity encouraging us to re examine how we approach the study of ancient religions Introducing Religion Robert S. Ellwood, Patrick Horn, 2024-08-22 Introducing Religion examines the different ways of looking at religion in the twenty first century Providing a broad overview to the discipline of religious studies this new edition continues to introduce

Traditional Islamic Ethics: The Concept of Virtue and its Implications for Contemporary Human Rights Irfaan Jaffer, 2021-09-07 Traditional Islamic Ethics The Concept of Virtue and its Implications for Human Rights concentrates on the subject of Islam and modernity and Islam and human rights a topic that has become popular and relevant with the rise of globalization and the interest in Islamic extremism and human rights This book distinguishes itself by operating within the framework of the traditional school of thought or Islamic Traditionalism In doing so it draws on Islam's 1400 year old spiritual and intellectual tradition and its understanding of ethics and virtue along with truth justice freedom and equality This book argues that Islam's pre modern approach is indispensable in creating an organic and integral human rights model for Muslims The first section argues that the current understanding and implementation of international human rights needs to be more flexible and inclusive if it truly aims to be universal in scope this is because The Universal Declaration and its offshoots are still underpinned by secular liberal principles and therefore are at odds with other cultural traditions To this end this section critically explores popular human rights histories and contemporary ethical theories that attempt to justify human rights The second section of this book provides a general overview on the subject of Islam and Human Rights After explaining some of the main problems this section examines various solutions offered by Muslim academics and scholars focusing on four different types of Muslim responses to modernity and human rights liberal progressive traditional and fundamentalist It concludes that there are spaces of convergence between modern liberal ethics and traditional Islamic virtue ethics while maintaining that there are also fundamental differences and that these differences should be welcomed by human rights theorists and advocates The book's intended audience is primarily post graduate students and professional academics in the fields of Human Rights Ethical Philosophy and Islamic Studies modern Islamic thought Sufism Islamic theology Islamic Philosophy and Traditionalism It will also appeal to anyone interested in the subject of Islam and modernity in general and Islam and human rights in particular

Religions and Migrations in the Black Sea Region Eleni Sideri, Lydia Efthymia

Roupakia, 2016-12-26 This book focuses on the interconnections of religion and migration in the Black Sea region through case studies that explore shifting identities, community and national boundaries as well as social practices and networks. During the past few decades, the Black Sea has been transformed from a largely closed region due to the Cold War to a bridge for human, economic and cultural capital flows. As the region opened up, understandings and practices of religion were re-signified due to new and diverse mobilities and resettlements. This volume addresses and responds to the current scarcity of academic research on the repercussion of political reform, migration and modernization in the areas surrounding the Black Sea. Contributors uncover and examine the pivotal role of religion in current cultural contestations taking place in this strategic region. Engaging with a wide range of case studies, the book offers a fresh comparative examination of migration as it relates to different countries and religious groups in the region.
