to critically analyze their past readings as history has been proven to be distorted by some of the historians

François-Xavier Fauvelle, François-Xavier Fauvelle-Aymar, 2021-02-09 From the birth of Islam in the seventh century to the voyages of European exploration in the fifteenth Africa was at the center of a vibrant exchange of goods and ideas It was an African golden age in which places like Ghana Nubia and Zimbabwe became the crossroads of civilizations and where African royals thinkers and artists played celebrated roles in the globalized world of the Middle Ages Drawing on fragmented written sources as well as his many years of experience as an archaeologist the author reconstructs an African past that is too often denied its place in history He looks at ruined cities found in the mangrove exquisite pieces of art rare artifacts like the golden rhinoceros of Mapungubwe ancient maps and accounts left by geographers and travelers Medieval Islamic

Civilization: L-Z, index Josef W. Meri, 2006 Publisher description Sources and Methods in African History Toyin Falola, Christian Jennings, 2003 An overview of the ongoing methods used to understand African history The Oxford Handbook of African Archaeology Peter Mitchell, Paul Lane, 2013-07-04 Africa has the longest and arguably the most diverse archaeological record of any of the continents It is where the human lineage first evolved and from where Homo sapiens spread across the rest of the world Later it witnessed novel experiments in food production and unique trajectories to urbanism and the organisation of large communities that were not always structured along strictly hierarchical lines Millennia of engagement with societies in other parts of the world confirm Africa's active participation in the construction of the modern world while the richness of its history ethnography and linguistics provide unusually powerful opportunities for constructing interdisciplinary narratives of Africa's past This Handbook provides a comprehensive and up to date synthesis of African archaeology covering the entirety of the continent's past from the beginnings of human evolution to the archaeological legacy of European colonialism As well as covering almost all periods and regions of the continent it includes a mixture of key methodological and theoretical issues and debates and situates the subject's contemporary practice within the discipline's history and the infrastructural challenges now facing its practitioners Bringing together essays on all these themes from over seventy contributors many of them living and working in Africa it offers a highly accessible contemporary account of the subject for use by scholars and students of not only archaeology but also history anthropology and other disciplines Visualizing Africa in Nineteenth-Century British Travel Accounts Leila Koivunen, 2008-11-19 This study examines and explains how British explorers visualized the African interior in the latter part of the nineteenth century providing the first sustained analysis of the process by which this visual material was transformed into the illustrations in popular travel books At that time central Africa was effectively a blank canvas for Europeans unknown and devoid of visual representations While previous works have concentrated on exploring the stereotyped nature of printed imagery of Africa this study examines the actual production process of images and the books in which they were published in order to demonstrate how why and by whom the images were manipulated Thus the main focus of the work is not on the aesthetic value of pictures but in the activities interaction and situations that gave birth to them in both Africa and Europe

Medieval Islamic Civilization: A-K, index Josef W. Meri, 2006 Publisher description The Storied City Charlie English, 2018-05-01 Timbuktu is a real place and Charlie English will fuel your wanderlust with true descriptions of the fabled city's past present and future Fodor's Two tales of a city The historical race to discover one of the world's most mythologized places and the story of how a contemporary band of archivists and librarians fighting to save its ancient manuscripts from destruction at the hands of al Qaeda added another layer to the legend To Westerners the name Timbuktu long conjured a tantalizing paradise an African El Dorado where even the slaves wore gold Beginning in the late eighteenth century a series of explorers gripped by the fever for discovery tried repeatedly to reach the fabled city But one expedition after another went disastrously awry succumbing to attack the climate and disease Timbuktu was rich in another way too A medieval center of learning it was home to tens of thousands according to some hundreds of thousands of ancient manuscripts on subjects ranging from religion to poetry law to history pharmacology and astronomy When al Qaeda linked jihadists surged across Mali in 2012 threatening the existence of these precious documents a remarkable thing happened a team of librarians and archivists joined forces to spirit the manuscripts into hiding Relying on extensive research and firsthand reporting Charlie English expertly twines these two suspenseful strands into a fraught and fascinating account of one of the planet s extraordinary places and the myths from which it has become inseparable Encyclopedia of African History Kevin Shillington,2005 Offers more than one thousand entries covering all aspects of African history civilization and culture
