The Figure of the Migrant in Contemporary European Cinema Temenuga Trifonova, 2020-07-09

The Figure of the Migrant in Contemporary European Cinema explores contemporary debates around the concepts of Europe and European identity through an examination of recent European films dealing with various aspects of globalization the refugee crisis labour migration the resurgence of nationalism and ethnic violence neoliberalism post colonialism with a particular attention to the figure of the migrant and the ways in which this figure challenges us to rethink Europe and its core Enlightenment values citizenship justice ethics liberty tolerance and hospitality in a post national context of ephemerality volatility and contingency that finds people desperately looking for firmer markers of identity The book argues that a compelling case can be made for re orienting the study of contemporary European cinema around the figure of the migrant viewed both as a symbolic figure representing post national citizenship urbanization the gap between ethics and justice and as a figure occupying an increasingly central place in European cinema in general rather than only in what is usually called migrant and diasporic cinema By drawing attention to the structural and affective affinities between the experience of migrants and non migrants Europeans and non Europeans Trifonova shows that it is becoming increasingly difficult to separate stories about migration from stories about life under neoliberalism in general

The Novel and Europe Andrew Hammond, 2016-10-05 This book examines the ways in which fiction has addressed the continent since the Second World War Drawing on novelists from Europe and elsewhere the volume analyzes the literary response to seven dominant concerns ideas of Europe conflict borders empire unification migration and marginalization offering a ground breaking study of how modern and contemporary writers have participated in the European debate The sixteen essays view the chosen writers not as representatives of national literatures but as participants in transcontinental discussion that has occurred across borders cultures and languages In doing so the contributors raise questions about the forms of power operating across and radiating from Europe challenging both the institutionalized divisions of the Cold War and the triumphalist narrative of continental unity currently being written in Brussels

The Problemski Hotel Koushyar Parsi, 2018-03-27 Unfortunately this is not only the destiny of Maqsood the imaginary character of the novel but also the destiny of many people with flesh and blood Dimitri Verhulst spent a few days in a refugee camp in Belgium to write a report on asylum seekers in 2001 at the request of a literary journal The Problemski Hotel is an imaginary story based real events It is a collection of events depicting how life deteriorates when a cigarette box is the most valuable capital and when visiting a church is to kill the time Bipul Masli is the unfortunate narrator from Ethiopia a former photographer who fled his country after a riot Longing for a better life he ends up in a refugee camp in Belgium where Dimitri Verhulst lives The author describes vividly the fortunate and less fortunate moments of people who are ordained to the same destiny Despite the book's painful subject Verhulst's depiction is filled with satire and comic scenes although this satire may not often be cheerful but it is touching Dimitri Verhulst allows the moments to anchor in his soul enabling him to pen his observations on paper Not having lived in a cave for years without any access to media one will certainly know that Verhulst is not an unfamiliar name in the world literature The reader will immediately see Verhulst's virtuosity at reading this book Once Aristotle said The whole is greater than the sum of its parts and one can see this in Verhulst's book The Problemski Hotel consists of 23 sections each about 4 pages Although one can read each part independently the book runs coherently from the beginning to the end bringing the reader closer to the author and the narrator In the shortest possible way Verhulst says much about a terrible life in asylum From Will to Well Stefaan Slembrouck, Miriam Taverniers, Mieke van Herreweghe, 2009
