Hearings, Reports, Public Laws United States. Congress. House. Committee on Education and Labor, 1967. Official Gazette of the United States Patent and Trademark Office, 2003. Religion and Public Life in the Pacific Region Wade Clark Roof, Mark Silk, 2005. Pretty much like the rest of the country only more so. This quip from Wallace Stegner well represents the Pacific region's religious culture. California, Nevada and Hawaii emerged more recently, more quickly and with more diversity and fluidity than the other United States. Although influenced by Mexican Catholicism, Native Traditions, Asian Religions and Euro American Christianity, no religious tradition dominates and a secular ethos usually reigns. But this very religious indifference makes California and the rest of the region open to all sorts of missionary movements and religious innovations. New organizational forms, new spiritual therapies and new religious hybrids all compete for residents' attention along with secular ways for making meaning. With all these options, residents of the region mix, match and move between religious identities more than other Americans. Without ignoring its diversity, Religion and Public Life in the Pacific Region highlights the key aspects of the region's fluctuating religions and its spirituality's impact on

Searching for Spirituality in Higher Education Bruce W. Speck, Sherry Lee Hoppe, 2007 Searching for Spirituality in Higher Education brings together eclectic points of view on spirituality, drawing upon various theoretical perspectives to frame a discussion of spirituality in higher education. Subsequent theory chapters make no unified claims about the basis of spirituality, reflecting the speculative nature of an ethereal subject. The final section contains rich examples that explore ways to integrate spirituality in several academic disciplines as well as in student affairs. In its entirety, the book encompasses a comprehensive review of the salient issues related to spirituality in higher education. The volume will be useful in courses on religion, nursing, business, and the humanities.
