Sears, Jack S. Levy, Jennifer Jerit, 2023 This updated third edition gathers together an international group of distinguished scholars to provide an up to date account of key topics and areas of research in political psychology Focusing first on political psychology at the individual level attitudes values decision making ideology personality and then moving to the collective group identity mass mobilization political violence this fully interdisciplinary volume covers models of the mass public and political elites and addresses both domestic issues and foreign policy Now with new chapters on authoritarianism nationalism status hierarchies and minority political identities along with updated material this is an essential reference for scholars and students interested in the intersection of the two fields British Public Opinion on Foreign and Defence Policy Ben Clements, 2018-12-07 This book provides a long term perspective on the opinions of the British public on foreign and defence policy in the post war era Thematically wide ranging it looks at the broader role of foreign and defence policy in British politics and elections public opinion towards Britain's key international relationships and alliances the United States NATO the EU and the Commonwealth and public opinion towards the projection of soft power overseas aid and hard power defence spending nuclear weapons and military intervention Assessing the main areas of change and continuity in the public's views it also pays close attention to the dividing lines in wider society over foreign and defence policy Analysing an extensive range of surveys and opinion polls the book situates the analysis in the wider context of Britain's changing foreign policy role and priorities in the post war era as well as linking public opinion with the politics of British external policy the post war consensus on Britain's overseas role historical and contemporary areas of inter party debate and enduring intra party divides This text will be of key interest to scholars and students of British politics European politics foreign policy analysis public opinion defence and security studies and more broadly to comparative politics and international relations International Law, Human Rights and Public Opinion Heping Dang, 2017-03-16 This book explores situations in which public opinion presents itself as an obstacle to the protection and promotion of human rights Taking an international law perspective it primarily deals with two questions first whether international law requires States to take an independent stance on human rights issues second whether international law encourages States to inform and mobilise public opinion with regard to core human rights standards The discussion is mainly organised within the framework of the UN system The work is particularly relevant to situations in which public opinion appears as discriminatory attitudes based on race gender age health sexual orientation and other factors It is also pertinent to circumstances in which public opinion is responsible for the existence of certain harmful customs and practices such as female genital mutilation and capital punishment Noting that the death penalty is increasingly recognised as an infringement of human rights this study further challenges States argument that capital punishment cannot be abolished because of public opinion The book also discusses the role that education bears under international law in moulding favourable attitudes towards human rights Finally the book challenges States acceptance that public opinion cannot be confronted in this respect

Australian Public Opinion, Defence and Foreign Policy Danielle Chubb,Ian McAllister,2020-10-28 This book examines the impact of Australian public opinion towards defence and foreign policy from the mid twentieth century to the present day For most of this period the public showed little interest in defence and security policy and possessed limited knowledge about the strategic options available The principal post war exception to this pattern is of course the Vietnam War when political divisions over Australia s support for the U S led action eventually resulted in the withdrawal of troops in 1972 The period since 2001 has seen a fundamental change both in the public s views of defence and foreign affairs and in how these issues are debated by political elites This has come about as a result of major changes in the strategic environment such as a heightened public awareness of terrorism party political divisions over Australia s military commitment to the 2003 11 Iraq War and the increasing overlap of economic and trade considerations with defence and foreign policies which has increased the public s interest in these issues Combining the expertise of one of Australia s foremost scholars of public opinion with that of an expert of international relations particularly as pertains to Australia in Asia this book will be a critical read for those wishing to understand Australia s alliance with the U S interactions with Asia and China and the distinctive challenges posed to Australia by its geographic position

Japan in the 1960s Robert D. Eldridge,Jason M. Morgan,2024-08-05 Eldridge and Morgan set a new paradigm for East Asian contemporary historiography by viewing the decade of the 1960s as hermeneutically powerful From street battles over Japan s security treaty with the United States to a peace treaty with the former Japanese territory of South Korea to Japan s hosting the 1964 Summer Olympics the 1960s in Japan was a decade of turning points This book is the first to see the 1960s as a historical subject in its own right and argues that the specificity and internal complexity rooted in East Asia during this period showed how East Asians were dynamic agents in shaping the decade In this volume contributors consider Japanese responses to a 1961 coup in the Republic of Korea the Sat Eisaku administration s approach to nuclear deterrence and to the question of Okinawa s return from American control U S Japan intellectual exchange during the Cold War support by Japanese businesspeople for the Self Defense Forces the soft power of Japanese cinema in the 1960s Japan s understanding of 1960s United Nations peacekeeping operations changes in national polity discourse in the 1960s the Dalai Lama s 1967 visit to Japan economic development in and cultural exchange between

1960s Japan and Spain Japan's science and technology interactions with the United States and the earliest known and suspected cases of North Korean abduction of Japanese citizens Much of the information in this volume has never appeared in English before This is an important volume for historians political scientists sociologists and other scholars specializing in the twentieth century and those interested in cutting edge history writing about a transformative 10 year period in East Asia

Democracies and Foreign Policy Bernard Cecil Cohen, 1995 In Democracies and Foreign Policy however Bernard Cohen offers the first detailed comparison of two Western democracies the United States and the Netherlands and their patterns of public participation in foreign policy To assess the influence of citizens on the foreign policies of each nation he examines the institutions that both shape and express public opinion national legislative bodies media of communication organized interest groups and searches for the roots of these institutions in the national political systems Cohen's thought provoking results demand a reassessment of aspects of foreign policy making that have been taken for granted in each of these countries Cohen finds for example that within the United States the media have significant power in setting agendas while the political parties remain relatively mute on foreign policy issues In the Netherlands on the other hand the media have a lesser role with the government instead sampling the opinion of the more outspoken political parties and party members The Dutch Foreign Ministry remaining walled off from the public has a much freer hand in foreign policy Cohen also finds that the U S State Department is much more sensitive to public opinion than its Dutch counterpart but surprisingly is less successful in understanding and coping with demands from its public

Lauterpacht, C. J. Greenwood, 1998-11-26 Includes International Court of Justice Advisory Opinions on use of nuclear weapons

Constructing National Security Jarrod Hayes, 2013-10-07 Jarrod Hayes explores why democracies tend not to use military force against each other He argues that democratic identity the shared understanding within democracies of who we are and what we expect from each other makes it difficult for political leaders to construct external democracies as threats At the same time he finds that democratic identity enables political actors to construct external non democracies as threats To explore his argument he looks at US relations with two rising powers India and China Through his argument and case studies Professor Hayes addresses not just the democratic peace but also the larger processes of threat construction in international security the role of domestic institutions in international relations and the possibility for conflict between the United States and the world s two most populous countries     NATO Review , 1983     Peacemakers Douglas Roche, 2014-03-27 A world without war this is the vision that Douglas Roche has pursued for decades A long time Progressive Conservative Member of Parliament Canadian ambassador for disarmament and later a senator Roche has been in the thick of international affairs for more than forty years Though few of us realize it today the world is more peaceful than in past centuries Death and destruction due to war have diminished dramatically in the past two decades This is no accident it is the cumulative result of the work of the world s peacemakers Sometimes in public often behind the scenes talented high achievers are waging a campaign for peace that is in ascendance over the warlike intentions of the arms industry military generals and aggressive government leaders Neither Roche nor the peacemakers shy away from the thorniest issues the world faces including the threat posed by nuclear weapons the Israeli Palestinian conflict and multiple threats of genocidal violence Roche shows how new ideas like the responsibility to protect innocent civilians from genocide or armed attack by their own government and new institutions like the International Criminal Court are moving the world along the path to the end of war To tell this story

Roche profiles some leading peacemakers of our time and the work they are doing and also interviews keen observers of world politics who offer informed commentary on the work of the peacemakers You will meet former prime ministers and foreign ministers senior UN officials religious figures women s organization leaders and activists Few are household names Roche documents the many successes of the past two decades in reducing conflict in the world and in creating structures and institutions which are making war less likely and more difficult for states to initiate With a Resources section of websites books and films
