Recognizing Spirituality The Interface Between Faith And Social Work:

Recognizing Spirituality Rae Shirley Lindsay, 2002 Education in the helping professions has tended to adopt a secular view of human beings focusing on aspects of human behavior which are empirically measurable and avoiding the more irrational elements The religious beliefs and spiritual values of both students and clients have been ignored Rae Lindsay argues that this prevents students from fully exploring their own attitudes and biases and increases the likelihood that these personal values will be foisted on clients It also reduces the chances that practitioners will explore the spiritual factors influencing clients In a multicultural country such as Australia it is extraordinary that varied religious and spiritual beliefs should not be considered in the relationship between the professional and the client Pretending that these beliefs don't exist or are irrelevant is to ignore an important dimension of human existence and interaction Little has been written on this problem in an Australian cultural context This book presents opinions of social work educators and practitioners and statistics about Australian religious beliefs It also discusses the stages of faith development The persistence and strength of spiritual and religious beliefs is clear from all sources Rae Lindsay challenges the status quo and argues that spirituality and religion should be included in contemporary professional discourses

Spirituality and Social Work Beth R. Crisp, 2016-04-01 For much of the twentieth century professional social work sought to distance itself from its religious origins with the consequence being that the role of spirituality in the lives of service users tended to be sidelined Yet it is clear that many people begin to explore their spirituality precisely at times when they are trying to make sense of difficult life circumstances or experiences and may come into contact with social workers In recent years there has been an increasing understanding that in order to be relevant to the lives of people they work with social workers need to go beyond their material needs but there is little understanding of how spirituality can be sensitively incorporated into practice especially when either practitioners or service users have no religious affiliation or there is no shared religious background In this pathbreaking volume Beth Crisp offers social workers ideas of beginning conversations in which spiritual values and beliefs may surface allowing service users to respond from their own framework and to begin to discuss the specific religious or spiritual practices and beliefs which are important to them She considers spirituality in the context of lived experience a perspective that she argues breaks down any mystique and suspicion of explicitly religious language by focusing on language and experiences with which most people can identify Such a framework allows exploration of issues that emerge at different stages in the lifespan both by persons who are religious and those who do not identify with any formal religion Most literature on spirituality within social work refers to the elderly to those who are sick or have been bereaved yet as Crisp points out spirituality is important for people of all ages and not just at seemingly exceptional moments

The Routledge Handbook of Religion, Spirituality and Social Work Beth R. Crisp, 2017-04-07 This international volume provides a comprehensive account of contemporary research new perspectives and cutting edge issues surrounding religion and spirituality in social work The introduction introduces key themes and conceptual issues such as understandings of religion and spirituality as well as definitions of social work which can vary between countries The main body of the book is divided up into sections on regional perspectives religious and spiritual traditions faith based service provision religion and spirituality across the lifespan and social work practice The final chapter identifies key challenges and opportunities for developing both social work scholarship and practice in this area Including a wide range of international perspectives from Australia Canada Hong Kong India Ireland Israel Malta New Zealand South Africa Sweden the UK and the USA this Handbook succeeds in extending the dominant paradigms and comprises a mix of authors including major names significant contributors and emerging scholars in the field as well as leading contributors in other fields of social work who have an interest in religion and spirituality The Routledge Handbook of Religion Spirituality and Social Work is an authoritative and comprehensive reference for academics and researchers as well as for organisations and practitioners committed to exploring why and how religion and spirituality should be integral to social work practice Promoting Health and Well-being in Social Work Education Beth R. Crisp,Liz Beddoe,2013-10-18 Social work educators can play an important part in ensuring that the promotion of health and well being is firmly on the social work agenda for service users as well as for students and educators Nevertheless this has not been a priority within social work education and presents a challenge which requires some re thinking in terms of curriculum content pedagogy and how social workers respond to social problems Furthermore if the promotion of health and well being is not considered a priority for social workers this raises important questions about the role and relevance of social work in health and thus poses challenges to social work education both now and in the future This book contains contributions from social work educators from Australia America Canada New Zealand and the UK They reflect on how best to prepare students to put health and well being to the forefront of practice drawing on research on quality of life subjective well being student well being community participation and social connectedness religion and spirituality mindful practices trauma and health inequalities This book is an extended version of a special issue of Social Work Education Spiritual Care for Allied Health Practice Lindsay B. Carey,Bernice A. Mathisen,2018-06-21 This textbook explains the importance of Allied Health Professionals providing spiritual care and gives applied information on how this can be done The first book of its kind it is essential reading for AHPs and students in order to understand how to give holistic and patient centred care Oxford Textbook of Spirituality in Healthcare Mark Cobb,Christina M Puchalski,Bruce Rumbold,2012-08-09 Spirituality and healthcare is an emerging field of research practice and policy Healthcare organisations and practitioners are therefore challenged to understand and address spirituality to develop their knowledge and implement effective policy This is the first reference text on the subject providing a comprehensive overview of key topics Africanizing the School Curriculum Anthony Afful-Broni,Jophus Anamuah-Mensah,Kolawole Raheem,George J. Africanizing the school curriculum and the implications of local knowledge for schooling reform This book also raises a variety of key questions how do we frame an inclusive anti colonial African future and what is the nature of the work required to collectively arrive at that future what education are learners of today going to receive and how will they apply it to their schooling and work lives how do we re fashion our work as African educators and learners to create more relevant understandings of what it means to be human how do we challenge colonizing and imperializing relations of the academy What are the possibilities and limits of counter visions of education how do we make school curricula inclusive through teaching research and graduate training in questions of Indigeneity and multi centric ways of knowing The book identifies specific areas of an inclusive decolonized curriculum agenda through educational programming and reform It is essential reading to any student or teacher concerned about understanding the many facets of an African school curriculum Perfect for courses such as Principles of Anti Racism Education Anti Colonial Thought Pedagogical Implications Indigenous Knowledge and Decolonization Pedagogical Implications Modernization Development and Education in African Contexts African Systems of Thought Introduction to African Studies

Re-imagining Religion and Belief Christopher Baker, Beth R. Crisp, Adam Dinham, 2018-08-29 The need to reimagine religion and belief is precipitated by their greater visibility in public life Meanwhile social policy responses often see them from a problem based rather than an asset based approach However with growing diversity of religion and belief in every sector comes the potential for new dialogues across previously impermeable policy and disciplinary silos This volume brings together leading international authors to critically consider these challenges within legal and policy frameworks including security and cohesion welfare law health and social care inequality cohesion extremism migration and abuse It challenges policy makers to re imagine religion and belief as an integral part of public life that contains resources practices forms of knowledge and experience that are essential to a coherent policy approach to diversity enhanced democracy and participation

Decolonizing Social Work Mel Gray, John Coates, Michael Yellow Bird, Tiani Hetherington, 2016-05-13 Riding on the success of Indigenous Social Work Around the World this book provides case studies to further scholarship on decolonization a major analytical and activist paradigm among many of the world's Indigenous Peoples including educators tribal leaders activists scholars politicians and citizens at the grassroots level Decolonization seeks to weaken the effects of colonialism and create opportunities to promote traditional practices in contemporary settings Establishing language and cultural programs honouring land claims teaching Indigenous history science and ways of knowing self esteem programs celebrating ceremonies restoring traditional parenting approaches tribal rites of passage traditional foods and helping and healing using tribal approaches are central to decolonization These insights are brought to the arena of international social work still dominated by western based approaches Decolonization draws attention to the effects of globalization and the universalization of education methods of practice and international development that fail to embrace and recognize local knowledges and methods In this volume Indigenous and non Indigenous social work scholars examine local cultures beliefs values and practices as central to decolonization Supported by a growing interest in spirituality and ecological awareness in international social work they interrogate trends issues and debates in Indigenous social work theory practice methods and education models including a section on Indigenous research approaches The diversity of perspectives decolonizing methodologies and the shared struggle to provide effective professional social work interventions is reflected in the international nature of the subject matter and in the mix of contributors who write from their contexts in different countries and cultures including Australia Canada Cuba Japan Jordan Mexico New Zealand South Africa and the USA
