Ghisotti, 1995 The Red Sea is the closest tropical sea to Europe. It is almost an extension of the Mediterranean from which it is separated by the Isthmus of Suez. This proximity to the early civilisations of the Mediterranean have strongly affected the history of the Red Sea which has always progressed in parallel to that of the Old World. The Red Sea was frequented by the ancient Egyptians, Phoenicians, Greeks and Romans who left traces of their passing in shipwrecks that every now and then are rediscovered. The ships that have ploughed the waters of the Red Sea for millennia have had to deal with strong currents and high winds that have turned this sea into a graveyard of ships from every age. The result is a delight for divers who have always found in the sea an underwater Eldorado. The famous Austrian pioneer Hans Hass came here after World War II and took the first photographs of the Umbria and her 360 000 unexploded bombs using his legendary Robot. The Italians arrived in 1953 on the Formica in an expedition whose members counted names that have gone down in diving history: Vailati, Quilici, Cousteau. This book tells the story of the exploration of the Red Sea, especially underwater, taking both history and natural history into account. The reader is guided through the magical submerged gardens of the Sinai on the adventurous discovery of unknown wrecks on a search for the remains of the Precontinent II to Cousteau's village face to face with sharks and to the beaches. This new title in the Secrets of the Sea series contains dramatic underwater photography. Dive the Red Sea

Guy Buckles, 2007-09-11 With fabulous coral walls and gardens stocked with mythically beautiful sea life, the Red Sea is the stuff of legends. This outstanding guide features full color photos, maps and detailed coverage of more than 125 dive and snorkel sites along the length of the sea. Red Sea Sharks Jeremy Stafford-Deitsch, 1999 A comprehensive guide to the sharks of the Red Sea. It contains information under the following headings: sharks and divers, where are sharks found on Red Sea coral reefs, how likely is a diver to see a shark on a Red Sea reef, are the sharks seen on reefs confined to reefs, is a shark doomed to swim or sink, can sharks rest on the bottom, sensory mechanisms, reproduction and development, sharks and their escorts, conservation, does the great white shark occur in the Red Sea, diving with sharks, danger and diet, warning signs.

attacking to feed attacks on divers time of day does size matter feeding sharks sharks and marine mammals when things go wrong safety tips Red Sea Alasdair J. Edwards,2013-10-22 The Red Sea is a unique and fragile environment All but landlocked between Africa and Arabia its peculiar oceanographic conditions its geographical position and its geological history all conspire to make it particularly vulnerable to the side effects of human civilization In places it is already a key environment under threat What makes the Red Sea unique What are the threats to this environment Where should future research be directed These are just three of the major questions addressed by the scientists contributing to this book
