Register Of John Waltham Bishop Of Salisbury 13881395:

Gender and Authority in the Late Medieval Church Ian Forrest, 2025-06-15 Gender and Authority in the Late Medieval Church asks a deceptively simple question How did the governance of the medieval institutional church remain exclusively male despite plentiful evidence of women being as capable and devout as men The remarkable endurance of an all male clergy is an important element of medieval church government one that is frequently taken for granted in the historiography and is connected to another overlooked feature of episcopal authority the strategies that bishops used to secure the compliance of a relatively autonomous clergy As Ian Forrest shows bishops kept their clergy in check through normative standards of masculinity that necessarily disqualified women from leadership roles Everywhere in the medieval church were women who had the capacity the resources and often the ambition to take part in governance from abbesses to priests servants mothers sisters and unofficial wives Bringing together evidence of female activity at the margins of the institutional church Forrest argues that the male monopoly on formal power was haunted by female capability and aspiration at every turn Drawing on case studies from the English diocesan clergy between the mid thirteenth and early sixteenth centuries he explores how women s involvement in governance was rendered unthinkable through the very discursive strategies that bishops used to control their male clergy In doing so Gender and Authority in the Late Medieval Church tells an integrated history that explains how both the exclusion of women and the inclusion of men underpin a rigidly gendered system of religious governance

The English in Rome, 1362-1420 Margaret Harvey, 2000-01-20 Centred on a study of the early archives of the Venerable Collegio Inglese in Rome the predecessor of the English College of today this book is more than a study of the beginnings of English institutions in Rome It attempts to place the English community there between 1362 when the first English hospice for poor people and pilgrims was founded and 1420 in its political commercial and religious setting It includes a portrait of a group of English merchants with their wives and widows as well as members of the papal curia in Rome from 1376 including a study of Cardinal Adam Easton a well known scholar and opponent of John Wycliffe The book also uncovers a notable although unsuccessful attempt to forward English participation in commerce with Rome before 1420 revealing important links between the English laity in Rome and the city of London

Parliament and Political Pamphleteering in Fourteenth-century England Clementine Oliver, 2010 Sixty years before the advent of the printing press the first political pamphlets about parliament were circulated in the city of London These handwritten pamphlets reported on victories against the crown and point to the existence of a market of readers hungry for news of parliament

The Detection of Heresy in Late Medieval England Ian Forrest, 2005-10-20 Heresy was the most feared crime in the medieval moral universe It was seen as a social disease capable of poisoning the body politic and shattering the unity of the church The study of heresy in late medieval England has to date focused largely on the heretics In consequence we know very little about how this crime was defined by the churchmen who passed authoritative judgement on it By examining the drafting publicizing and implementing of new laws against heresy in the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries using published and unpublished judicial records this book presents the first general study of inquisition in medieval England In it Ian Forrest argues that because heresy was a problem simultaneously national and local detection relied upon collaboration between rulers and the ruled While involvement in detection brought local society into contact with the apparatus of government uneducated laymen still had to be kept at arm s length because judgements about heresy were deemed too subtle and important to be left to them Detection required bishops and inquisitors to balance reported suspicions against canonical proof and threats to public safety against the rights of the suspect and the deficiencies of human justice At present the character and significance of heresy in late medieval England is the subject of much debate Ian Forrest believes that this debate has to be informed by a greater awareness of the legal and social contexts within which heresy took on its many real and imagined attributes

Trustworthy Men Ian Forrest, 2020-03-31 The medieval church was founded on and governed by concepts of faith and trust but not in the way that is popularly assumed Offering a radical new interpretation of the institutional church and its social consequences in England Ian Forrest argues that between 1200 and 1500 the ability of bishops to govern depended on the cooperation of local people known as trustworthy men and shows how the combination of inequality and faith helped make the medieval church Trustworthy men in Latin viri fidedigni were jurors informants and witnesses who represented their parishes when bishops needed local knowledge or reliable collaborators Their importance in church courts at inquests and during visitations grew enormously between the thirteenth and fifteenth centuries The church had to trust these men and this trust rested on the complex and deep rooted cultures of faith that underpinned promises and obligations personal reputation and identity and belief in God But trust also had a dark side For the church to discriminate between the trustworthy and untrustworthy was not to identify the most honest Christians but to find people whose status ensured their word would not be contradicted This meant men rather than women and usually the wealthier tenants and property holders in each parish Trustworthy Men illustrates the ways in which the English church relied on and deepened inequalities within late medieval society and how trust and faith were manipulated for political ends

The Pastor Bonus Theo Clemens, Wim Janse, 2003-07-30 From earliest times the Western Church has fiercely debated questions about the place of the ministry within the Church and Church government What requirements should be met by candidates for holy orders and what do we expect of priests and ministers personal holiness training for their calling social skills or merely the possession of official ordination The Church has at different times produced very different answers and the 30 scholars from Britain the Netherlands and Belgium whose papers in this volume follow the course of the debate concerning the good shepherd from the early church through to modern times show on the one hand what happens to Christian communities that have lost a clear view of the functions of the ministry and on the other just how much trust people have always placed in their priests and pastors With contributions by Anton Weiler Charles Caspers Robert Swanson Petty Bange Mathilde van Dijk Claire Cross Fred van Lieburg Ingrid Dobbe Frank van de Pol Eamon Duffy Joke Spaans Trevor Johnson Gian Ackermans David Wykes Jeremy Gregory W M Jacob Joris van Eijnatten Nigel Yates David Bos Leo Kenis F G M Broeyer Frances Knight John Tomlinson Stuart Mews Lieve Gevers and Ian Jones Calendar of the Close Rolls Preserved in the Public Record Office England.
