Rosencrantz Guildenstern Are Dead Film:

The Reel Shakespeare Lisa S. Starks, Courtney Lehmann, 2002 This collection models an approach to Shakespeare and cinema that is concerned with the other side of Shakespeare's Hollywood celebrity taking the reader on a practical and theoretical tour through important non mainstream films and the oppositional messages they convey The collection includes essays on early silent adaptations of Hamlet Greenway's Prospero's Books Godard's King Lear Hall's A Midsummer Night's Dream Taymor's Titus Polanski's Macbeth Welles Chimes at Midnight and Van Sant's My Own Private Idaho Shakespeare Films Peter E.S. Babiak, 2016-05-12 This study reexamines the recognized canon of films based on Shakespeare's plays and argues that it should be broadened by breaking with two unnecessary standards the characterization of the director as auteur of a play's screen adaptation and the convention of excluding films with contemporary language or modern or alternative settings or which use the play as a subtext The emphasis is shifted from the director's contribution to the film's social cultural and historical contexts The work of the auteurs is reevaluated within present day contexts preserving the established canon while proposing new criteria for inclusion Rosencrantz and Guildenstern are Dead Tom Stoppard, 1991

Great Flicks Dr. Dean Keith Simonton, 2011-02-23 What does it take to make a great motion picture? What do we even mean by cinematic greatness? What is more important: movie awards, critical acclaim, or box office success? Who has the biggest impact: the writer, the director, or the actors? Scientific research has provided some provocative answers. This review of cinematic creativity and aesthetics is confined to scientific studies carried out by a multidisciplinary group of researchers. Do great films receive both shiny trophies and five stars? Chapter 2 concentrates on movie awards, including the Oscars and Golden Globes, and how those awards relate to critical acclaim. How do the dramatic awards compare with the visual, technical, and music awards? Chapter 3 studies more closely how these awards cluster together and which of these clusters best predict cinematic success. How does box office compare with critical evaluations and movie awards? Chapter 4 adds a new consideration: namely, the film's financial performance. The following four chapters focus on specific contributions to a film's impact: Chapter 5 covers the script, including writers; Chapter 6, the director or auteur; Chapter 7, the actors, especially gender differences; and Chapter 8, the music, both scores and songs. Chapter 9 addresses the question of whether the same cinematic factors that make some films great also make other films bad. Are bombs the exact opposite of masterpieces? The book closes with an epilogue on future directions in scientific studies of cinematic creativity and aesthetics. What do researchers need to do if we want a complete understanding of what it takes to create a powerful cinematic experience? This volume will be invaluable to anyone interested in film, including any aficionado who is open to a scientific approach and researchers in the areas of creativity, aesthetics, and cultural economics. The reported research comes from many disciplines, including psychology, sociology, economics, management, marketing, communications, journalism, broadcasting, history, musicology, and statistics.

The New European Cinema Rosalind Galt, 2006-03-21 New European Cinema offers a compelling response to the changing cultural shapes of Europe, charting political, aesthetic, and historical developments through innovative readings of some of the most popular and influential European films of the 1990s. Made around the time of the revolutions of 1989 but set in post-World War II Europe, these films grapple with the reunification of Germany, the disintegration of the Balkans, and a growing sense of historical loss and disenchantment felt across the continent. They represent a period in which national borders became blurred and the events of the mid-twentieth century began to be reinterpreted from a multinational European perspective. Featuring in-depth case studies of films from Italy, Germany, eastern Europe, and Scandinavia, Rosalind Galt reassesses the role that nostalgia, melodrama, and spectacle play in staging history. She analyzes Giuseppe Tornatore's Cinema Paradiso, Michael Radford's Il Postino, Gabriele Salvatores's Mediterraneo, Emir

Kusturica's Underground and Lars von Trier's Zentropa and contrasts them with films of the immediate postwar era including the neorealist films of Roberto Rossellini and Vittorio De Sica socialist realist cinema in Yugoslavia Billy Wilder's A Foreign Affair and Carol Reed's The Third Man Going beyond the conventional focus on national cinemas and heritage Galt's transnational approach provides an account of how post Berlin Wall European cinema inventively rethought the identities ideologies image and popular memory of the continent By connecting these films to political and philosophical debates on the future of Europe as well as to contemporary critical and cultural theories Galt redraws the map of European cinema
