O'Loughlin, 2018-06-14 The eighteenth century witnessed the publication of an unprecedented number of voyages and travels genuine and fictional Within a genre distinguished by its diversity curiosity and experimental impulses Katrina O Loughlin investigates not just how women in the eighteenth century experienced travel but also how travel writing facilitated their participation in literary and political culture She canvases a range of accounts by intrepid women including Lady Mary Wortley Montagu's Turkish Embassy Letters Lady Craven's Journey through the Crimea to Constantinople Eliza Justice's A Voyage to Russia and Anna Maria Falconbridge's Narrative of Two Voyages to the River Sierra Leone Moving from Ottoman courts to theatres of war O Loughlin shows how gender frames access to people and spaces outside Enlightenment and Romantic Britain and how travel provides women with a powerful cultural form for re imagining their place in the world

Fletcher, 1995-01-01 During the early modern period men and women in England lived their lives within a social and gender framework inherited from biblical times Patriarchy the social and cultural dominance of the male has long been a feature of western civilization and this work attempts to provide a portrait of the origins and operation of the system over a long stretch of the English past Modernist Women Writers and War Julie Goodspeed-Chadwick, 2011-01-01 In Modernist Women

Writers and War Julie Goodspeed Chadwick examines important avant garde writings by three American women authors and shows that during World Wars I and II a new kind of war literature emerged one in which feminist investigation of war and trauma effectively counters the paradigmatic war experience long narrated by men In the past Goodspeed Chadwick explains scholars have not considered writings by women as part of war literature They have limited war writing to works by men such as William Butler Yeats's poem An Irish Airman Foresees His Death 1919 which relies on a male perspective a pilot contemplates his forthcoming flight his duty to his country and his life in combat But works by Djuna Barnes H D and Gertrude Stein set in wartime reveal experiences and views of war markedly different from those of male writers They write women and their bodies into their texts thus creating space for female war writing insisting on female presence in wartime and perhaps most significantly critiquing war and patriarchal politics often in devastating fashion Goodspeed Chadwick begins with Barnes who in her surrealist novel Nightwood 1936 emphasizes the actual perversity of war by placing it in contrast to the purported perverse and deviant behavior of her main characters In her epic poem Trilogy 1944 1946 H D validates female suffering and projects a feminist spiritual worldview that fosters healing from the ravages of war Stein for her part in her experimental novel Mrs Reynolds 1952 and her long love poem Lifting Belly 1953 captures her experience of the everyday reality of war on the home front within the domestic economy of her household In these works the female body stands as the primary textual marker or symbol of female identity an insistence on women's presence in both the text and in the world outside the book The strategies employed by Barnes H D and Stein in these texts serve to produce a new kind of writing Goodspeed Chadwick reveals one that ineluctably constructs a female identity within and authorship of the war narrative

The Blue Box Sallie Bingham, 2014-08-18 A memoir of three generations of women rich in historical detail from the Civil War to the Jazz Age Kirkus Reviews Shortly after her mother's death in 2011 Sallie Bingham discovered a blue box in her mother's closet containing the forgotten remnants of her foremothers lives From her great grandmother Sallie was a gilded memoir written for her children during her final years from her grandmother Helena a book of short stories she'd published called Legends of Virginia and her mother Mary had left behind a grand romance in letters documenting her four year courtship to the man who'd become Sallie Bingham's father Long before Sallie knew the details of these women's lives she recognized the steel thread that ran through their personalities resilience and indomitability But to what extent did this steel thread tie up their secrets How closely linked were their unquestioned feelings of Southern superiority social racial moral intellectual to their ability to survive even flourish as their fortunes sank and rose For years Sallie could only speculate Out of this astonishing 150 year treasure trove Sallie Bingham has woven more than a memoir it's an historical account of the legacies heritages and travails of three generations of Southern women in the living language of complex and exquisitely preserved letters Sallie Bingham's meticulous and comprehensive work gives us a glimpse into another world previously frozen in a cornflower blue time capsule Bowling Green Daily News

Women's Agency in Early Modern Britain and the American Colonies Rosemary O'Day, 2014-06-11 Women in early modern Britain and colonial America were not the weak husband and father dominated characters of popular myth Quite the reverse strong women were the norm They exercised considerable influence as important agents in the social economic religious and cultural life of their societies This book shows how women on both sides of the Atlantic while accepting a patriarchal system with all its advantages and disadvantages contrived to carve out for themselves meaningful lives Unusually it concentrates not only on the making and meaning of marriage but also upon the partnership between men and women It also looks at the varied roles cultural religious and educational that women played both inside and outside marriage during the key period 1500 1760 Women emerge as partners patrons matchmakers investors and network builders
