The Royal Navy and Anti-submarine Warfare, 1917-49 Malcolm Llewellyn-Jones, 2006 An essential new account of how anti submarine warfare is conducted with a focus on both historic and present day operations This new book shows how until 1944 U boats operated as submersible torpedo craft which relied heavily on the surface for movement and charging their batteries This pattern was repeated in WWII until Allied anti submarine countermeasures had forced the Germans to modify their existing U boats with the schnorkel Countermeasures along also pushed the development of high speed U boats capable of continuously submerged operations This study shows how these improved submarines became benchmark of the post war Russian submarine challenge Royal Navy doctrine was developed by professional anti submarine officers and based on the well tried combination of defensive and offensive anti submarine measures that had stood the press of time since 1917 notwithstanding considerable technological change This consistent and holistic view of anti submarine warfare has not been understood by most of the subsequent historians of these anti submarine campaigns and this book provides an essential and new insight into how Cold War and indeed modern anti submarine warfare is conducted

Royal Navy Strategy in the Far East 1919-1939 Andrew Field, 2004-05-20 Between the ending of the Great War and the start of the Second World War in 1939 the Royal Navy remained the largest in the world But with the League of Nations seeming to offer a solution to all future conflicts a country weary of war and without an obvious enemy there seemed no need for a large battlefleet The strategic focus shifted eastwards to Japan with its growing battlefleet as the new threat to the British Empire and to the Royal Navy's supremacy From 1924 a strategic plan War Memorandum Eastern was written and refined The plan called for the Royal Navy still the largest in the world even after the Washington Naval Treaties to move eastwards to a defended base at Singapore cut off Japan and force her battlefleet into a decisive fleet battle As a strategy War Memorandum Eastern had many flaws Its real importance lay in the fact that it provided a justification for the Royal Navy to maintain its leading position in the world and to be in the forefront of the development of new tactical thinking Through planning for a war with Japan the Royal Navy was able to test its readiness for a future war Many of the lessons learnt during this period were ultimately put to good use against a different foe in 1939
