Managing Martians:

Managing Martians Donna Shirley, 2010-06-09 Donna Shirley's 35 year career as an aerospace engineer reached a jubilant pinnacle in July 1997 when Sojourner the solar powered self guided microwave oven sized rover was seen exploring the Martian landscape in Pathfinder's spectacular images from the surface of the red planet The event marked a milestone in space but for Donna Shirley the leader of the mostly male team that designed and built Sojourner and the first woman ever to manage a NASA program it marked a triumph of another kind Managing Martians is Shirley's captivating memoir of a life and career spent reaching for the stars From her seemingly outlandish aspiration at age ten to build aircraft to abandoning high school Home Ec in favor of mechanical drawing and at sixteen becoming a licensed pilot Shirley defied expectations from the beginning In a vivid narrative rich with anecdotes and thrilling turning points Shirley recounts the intense battles she waged to defend her vision and the ingenuity and resourcefulness of her committed team Her moment by cliffhanging moment account of Pathfinder's landing and Sojourner's first tentative foray across the sands of Mars brilliantly captures the fulfillment of a lifelong dream as it heralds a brave new era of space exploration

Into the Black Peter J. Westwick, 2008-10-01 div In the decades since the mid 1970s the Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena California has led the quest to explore the farthest reaches of the solar system JPL spacecraft Voyager Magellan Galileo the Mars rovers and others have brought the planets into close view JPL satellites and instruments also shed new light on the structure and dynamics of earth itself while their orbiting observatories opened new vistas on the cosmos This comprehensive book recounts the extraordinary story of the lab's accomplishments failures and evolution from 1976 to the present day This history of JPL encompasses far more than the story of the events and individuals that have shaped the institution It also engages wider questions about relations between civilian and military space programs the place of science and technology in American politics and the impact of the work at JPL on the way we imagine the place of humankind in the universe div

Putting Our Differences to Work (EasyRead Super Large 20pt Edition), Into the Extreme Valerie Olson, 2018-05-22 The first book length in depth ethnography of U S human spaceflight What if outer space is not outside the human environment but rather defines it This is the unusual starting point of Valerie Olson's Into the Extreme revealing how outer space contributes to making what counts as the scope and scale of today's natural and social environments With unprecedented access to spaceflight worksites ranging from astronaut training programs to life science labs and architecture studios Olson examines how U S experts work within the solar system as the container of life and as a vast site for new forms of technical and political environmental control Olson's book shifts our attention from space's political geography to its political ecology showing how scientists physicians and engineers across North America collaborate to build the conceptual and nuts and bolts systems that connect Earth to a specifically ecosystemic cosmos This cosmos is being redefined as a competitive space for potential economic resources social relations and political strategies Showing how contemporary U S environmental power is bound up with the production of national technical and scientific access to outer space Into the Extreme brings important new insights to our understanding of modern environmental history and politics At a time when the boundaries of global ecologies and economies extend far below and above Earth's surface Olson's new analytic frameworks help us understand how varieties of outlying spaces are known made and organized as kinds of environments whether terrestrial or beyond Knowledge Management in the Space Industry Phillip Olla, Jeanne Holm, 2006 Putting Our Differences to Work Debbie Kennedy, 2009-03-19 Putting our differences to work means creating an environment where people naturally unique and different can work more effectively in ways that drive new levels of creativity innovation problem solving leadership and performance in the marketplaces workplaces and communities of the world Debbie Kennedy shows how to make all the dimensions of difference such as thinking styles perspectives experiences work habits and management styles as well as more traditional diversity considerations like gender race ethnicity physical abilities sexual orientation and age tremendous sources of strength Kennedy draws on the latest research and a wealth of real world examples to offer compelling evidence showing exactly how putting our differences to work accelerates innovation and contribution She identifies five distinctive qualities of leadership that leaders must add to their portfolio of skills to make differences an engine of success And she provides a detailed six stage process for making the most of differences in the workforce combining first person best practice stories and strategic with tactical ideas to help you put each step into action Lady Astronauts, Lady Engineers, and Naked Ladies Karin Hilck, 2019-07-08 The book Lady Astronauts Lady Engineers and Naked Ladies is a gender history of the American space community and by extension a social history of American society in the twentieth century during the Cold War In order to expand and differentiate the prevalent postwar narrative about gender relations and cultural structures in the United States the book analyzes several different groups of women interacting in different social spaces within the space community It therewith grants insight into the several layers of female participation and agency in the community and the gender and race based obstacles and hurdles the female prospective astronauts scientists engineers artists administrators writers hostesses secretaries and wives were faced with at NASA and in the space industry In each chapter a different social space within the space community is analyzed The spaces where the women lived and worked are researched from a media individual and institutional angle ultimately revealing the differing gender philosophies communicated in the public sphere and the space community workplaces by government and space community officials While women were publicly encouraged to participate in the American space effort to beat the Soviet Union in the race to the moon women had to deal with gender based barriers which were integral to the structures of the space community just as they were an intrinsic component of all societal structures in the United States in the 1960s. The female space workers who were often perceived as disrupters of the prevalent social order in the space community and discriminated by some of their male colleagues and bosses on a personal basis still managed to assert themselves. They molded pockets of agency in the space community workspaces without the facilitation of regulations on the part of NASA that might have provided them with easier access or more agency. Thus the space community a place of technological innovation was not necessarily also a place of social innovation but a community with a government agency at its center that mainly mirrored the current changing social order conventions and policies in the 1960s as well as in the 1970s and 1980s. Nevertheless the women presented in this book were instrumental in advancing and consolidating the social transformation that happened within the space community and the United States and therefore make intriguing subjects of research. Thus this systematic analysis of the connection between gender space and the Cold War adds a new dimension to space history as well as expands the discourse in American history about gender relations and the opportunities of women in the twentieth century.

For the Love of Mars Matthew Shindell, 2023-05-18 A tour of Mars in the human imagination from ancient astrologers to modern explorers. Mars and its secrets have fascinated and mystified humans since ancient times. Due to its vivid color and visibility its geologic kinship with Earth and its potential as our best hope for settlement Mars embodies everything that inspires us about space and exploration. For the Love of Mars surveys the red planet's place in the human imagination beginning with ancient astrologers and skywatchers and ending in our present moment of exploration and virtual engagement. National Air and Space Museum curator Matthew Shindell describes how historical figures across eras and around the world have made sense of this mysterious planet. We meet Mayan astrologer priests who incorporated Mars into seasonal calendars and religious ceremonies. Babylonian astrologers who discerned bad omens. Figures of the Scientific Revolution who struggled to comprehend it as a world. Victorian astronomers who sought signs of intelligent life and twentieth and twenty-first century scientists who have established a technological presence on its surface. Along the way we encounter writers and artists from each of these periods who take readers and viewers along on imagined journeys to Mars. By focusing on the diverse human stories behind the telescopes and behind the robots we know and love Shindell shows how Mars exploration has evolved in ways that have also expanded knowledge about other facets of the universe. Captained by an engaging and erudite expert For the Love of Mars is a captivating voyage through time and space for anyone curious about Curiosity and the red planet.
