McDowall,2015-06-02 Excerpt from Evolution and Spiritual Life Many laymen feel that the humanity of a doctor is generally though by no means always richer than the humanity of a clergyman Not a few courageously proclaim the fact greatly to the discomfort and perhaps the benefit of the clergy And as we mentally run through the long roll of literary doctors beginning with Luke the Beloved Physician noting the names of Sir Thomas Browne Dr John Brown Dr Oliver Wendell Holmes and many more till we reach contemporary writers like Douglas White and the author of The Corner of Harley Street we cannot but agree that the laymen have a good deal of justice on their side And our personal experience teaches us the same The reason of this is not far to seek The humanity of the doctor is richer than the humanity of the parson because he knows so much more about the mechanism in which the soul lives Very few doctors fall into the mistake of thinking they have to talk to and counsel a mechanism without a soul while quite a many clergymen talk to a soul as if it had not got a mechanism tied on to it About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work
