My Work Among the Faithful Lisa C. Beskin, 1999      The Prose Works of John Milton John Milton, 1866      Consuming Grief Beth A. Conklin, 2001-07-15 Mourning the death of loved ones and recovering from their loss are universal human experiences yet the grieving process is as different between cultures as it is among individuals As late as the 1960s the Wari Indians of the western Amazonian rainforest ate the roasted flesh of their dead as an expression of compassion for the deceased and for his or her close relatives By removing and transforming the corpse which embodied ties between the living and the dead and was a focus of grief for the family of the deceased Wari death rites helped the bereaved kin accept their loss and go on with their lives Drawing on the recollections of Wari elders who participated in consuming the dead this book presents one of the richest most authoritative ethnographic accounts of funerary cannibalism ever recorded Beth Conklin explores Wari conceptions of person body and spirit as well as indigenous understandings of memory and emotion to explain why the Wari felt that corpses must be destroyed and why they preferred cannibalism over cremation Her findings challenge many commonly held beliefs about cannibalism and show why in Wari terms it was considered the most honorable and compassionate way of treating the dead      The God Between Us Lyn Brakeman, 2019-11-07 Connecting disconnecting reconnecting So goes the ageless pattern of relationships We love hate hurt heal fight forgive and we turn to TV talk shows therapists friends and books to help us understand our relationship problems Lyn Brakeman a therapist herself looks to the stories of ancient Scripture for fundamental clues to healing our relationships Using the Jewish interpretive storytelling technique known as midrash she brings to life a God who is in the middle of things Her unusual take on the God Between Us the Great connector who reconnects us with the love and the faith to go on takes lively form in six relationship studies of mother daughter marriage partners man woman mother son two men and a group of women Reflection questions at the end of each chapter add a rich dimension for individual or group use      The Half Century Magazine , 1917      Church work Guild of st. Seid, 2008-09-26 For centuries the New Testament book of Hebrews has been interpreted as though it had been written for Jewish Christians in danger of lapsing back into legalism and religious ceremony This view is now being challenged by current scholarship Rather than attacking the Old Testament and Judaism the author of Hebrews praises the person and work of Jesus through a series of comparisons on which he bases exhortations and warnings to the present people of God Hebrews urges God's people to learn from past mistakes and failures and to take up the challenge in difficult times to live faithfully in the new relationship to

God through Jesus God's Son In The Second Chance for God's People Messages from Hebrews Quaker pastor and professor Timothy W Seid encourages today's church to respond to the challenge of Hebrews first individually by progressing in spiritual and moral maturity and second collectively by being God's faithful people in the world In the light of ancient Greek language and rhetoric after having extensively researched Hebrews Seid interprets the text of Hebrews section by section in an accessible and nontechnical way while also illustrating and applying the meaning of the text for the contemporary church
