Before the scrutiny of scientific Enlightenment and Age of Reason in the eighteenth century, ghost ships and oceanic monsters were the stuff of superstition, myth and legend to explain the inexplicable, to enthral the imagination and enliven the unimaginable. Narratives of phantom ships manned by ghostly, sometimes skeletal crews or damned like the Flying Dutchman to roam the seas forever of sinister, sinuous sea serpents and the lore of the terrible, multi-tentacled kraken. Accounts inspired, spirited controversy amongst believers and sceptics in the awe-struck thrill of such frightful enigmas. Ecosystems and Biodiversity in Deep Waters and High Seas Kristina M. Gjerde, 2006 Ecosystems and Biodiversity in Deep Waters and High Seas outlines a number of options for the conservation and sustainable management of the deep seas and open oceans including actions and measures that reflect an integrated approach to oceans management based on ecological boundaries rather than just political ones giving higher levels of protection to vulnerable species like deep sea fish as well as to biologically and ecologically significant ecosystems such as cold water corals and hydrothermal vent communities Here are Mysteries work to combine an analysis of Guenon's ideas about esoterism with a critical examination of their application to Christianity in terms of data provided by Christianity itself. But to accomplish this such data cannot simply be surveyed superficially; it must be known firsthand, hence the abundance of citations and references in this text. Such an approach not only lets us decide about certain issues but may also help us rediscover an all too misunderstood facet of the revelation of Christ. Jean Borella taught philosophy at the University of Nancy until 1995. A Platonist by formation, he has been strongly influenced by Guenon and Eastern metaphysics. But his deepest inspiration derives from unceasing meditation on the Christian faith, which led him to undertake the present searching critique of Guenonian Christianity. A religious philosopher, he strives to hear the reverberations awakened in human thought by revelation. Rene Guenon was one of the great metaphysical minds of the last few centuries, and it was a great loss to the Catholic Church when he converted to Islam. Prof. Borella shows in this landmark study exactly where Guenon's work remains of perennial value for Christians but also demonstrates the limitations and personal idiosyncrasies which led Guenon to distort some of the most important elements of Catholic and Orthodox doctrine. Prof. Borella's book may well stimulate the recovery of authentic metaphysics within the Church for which Guenon longed but which he despaired of seeing in his lifetime.
