Owls are all grown up and now they're returning home to play an exhibition game in the town's new arena. But deep trouble has also come to Tamarack. The Screech Owls are all grown up. Ten years have passed and Travis, Sarah, Nish, and their friends have gone their separate ways, most of them scattered far and wide from their old home town. Travis is a teacher, Sarah is captain of the women's Olympic hockey team, Data runs a computer business with Fahd, Wilson is a police officer, and Nish is in Las Vegas, a valued member of the aerial stunt team The Flying Elvises. When the people of Tamarack decide to name their new sports complex The Sarah Cuthbertson Arena, it is the perfect time for all the old friends to reunite and play an opening night exhibition game. But as the Screech Owls start to return, trouble also comes to Tamarack. The unspoiled town faces disaster in the form of a new gambling casino, and it seems that the powerful developers will stop at nothing to get their way. Not even murder.

Children's Books in Print R R Bowker Publishing, Bowker, 1999-12      The Seven A.M. Practice Roy MacGregor, 1996 Many Canadian parents are familiar with the painful tradition of the seven a.m. practice. It is enacted weekly across the country hours before most sane people think of rising from their beds as long suffering mothers and fathers bundle sleepy children into the family car or minivan, then drive their budding athletes to the arena, the pool, the field, the gym. Roy MacGregor knows the joys and frustrations of cheering on a sporting child. He has, in particular, become known as an expert on the subject of fathers' sons and the game of hockey where parent and child often find a rare opportunity to meet on common ground and forge a relationship mediated by their love of the sport. But Roy MacGregor also has some first hand experience on the subject of fathers' sons and ear piercing fathers' daughters and the pre-teen dance. In the funny, sometimes hair-raising stories collected in The Seven A.M. Practice in which he describes life at home with his own four children, Roy MacGregor brings his gently affectionate eye to the relationship of parent and child in every aspect of their lives. With bemused good humour, MacGregor charts the highs and lows of being a parent, from the cherished time when he is the centre of his child's life to the sad day when it dawns on him that he is being gently nudged ever further to one side.
