Deborah Manley,2011-12-08 No railway journey on Earth can equal the Trans Siberian between Moscow and Vladivostock It is not just its vast length and the great variety of the lands and climes through which it passes It is not just its history as the line that linked the huge territories which are Russia together It is a dream which calls countless travellers to the adventure of the longest railway in the world From the birth aboard of Rudolf Nureyev to the childhood obsession with the railway of Lesley Blanch to the weariness that eventually overcame Paul Theroux to the excitement of the author s own journey this revised and updated collection of travellers accounts brings together emotions descriptions and humour from a century of travel This new edition of a classic anthology takes us through the tremendous achievement of the railway's construction across harsh unsettled lands through the earliest journeys of Western travellers and the trains on which they travelled and their descriptions of fellow travellers food scenery domestic arrangements adventures on and off the train convicts revolution and war as the train carried them through a lonely lovely landscape The barrier of Lake Baikal was crossed by a British built ice breaker put together on the lakeside until the link around the deep water and through the first tunnels of the route was completed The railway played and still plays a huge part in holding this vast country together

The Tungus Event, Or, The Great Siberian Meteorite John Engledew, 2010 This popular science book shares the fascination of the Tungus Event a major mystery of the 20th century in a factual and informed way It provides on the ground descriptions of the site and explains the findings and the puzzlement of international scientists who have investigated it over the decades After a brief and readable overview of comets meteors the sun and the solar system the author ponders the range of possible explanations for the great Siberian meteorite The research is up to date factual and scientific While making no absurd claims to solving the puzzle the author studies some intriguing clues in NASA's orbit diagrams for Comet Encke and he is bold in discussing the possible causes of what was the greatest natural explosion in recorded history As he points out Hypotheses include rogue asteroids mini black holes and even alien intervention These explanations are not entirely equal to the facts In the unique case of the Tunguska event there was wholesale destruction to the mighty taiga woodlands but none of the debris that one would expect should exist from the body itself Evidence like a strewn field of meteorite debris or meteoric dust on the trees and ground were never found nor were any craters in the area beneath the site of the fireball nor anywhere along the path it took There are no craters because the Tunguska Cosmic Body TCB did not hit the ground Atmospheric anomalies prior to the dramatic appearance of the fiery body puzzlingly occurred for several days adding to the enigma There are just a handful of English language books on this subject The most recent The Tunguska Mystery by the Russian Rubstov Astronomers Universe Springer Science 2009 is authoritative but highly technical and hard going for the general reader Mr Engledew instead tells the story in a balanced and engaging style
