Nowlan,1977 Contemporary Canadian Women's Fiction C. Howells,2003-08-22 This book charts the significant changes in contemporary Canada's literary profile since the mid 1990s within a context of the new national rhetoric of multiculturalism By looking closely at a representative range of fictions in English by women from a variety of ethnocultural backgrounds Howells examines the complexities embedded within Canadian identity What does Refiguring Identities mean for these writers given their individual agendas and the multiple affiliation of any woman's identity construction All these writers are engaged in rewriting history across generation and Howells argues that woman's fiction negotiates new possibilities for cultural change introducing more heterogeneous narratives of identity in multi cultural Canada Remnants of Nation Roxanne Rimstead,2001-01-01 Treating poverty not simply as a theme in literature but as a force that in fact shapes the texts themselves Rimstead adopts the notion of a common culture to include ordinary voices in national culture in this case the national culture of Canada

Into the Looking-glass Labyrinth, 2007 Forms and Functions of the Trickster Figure in Thomas King's Green Grass, Running Water Aleksandra Pendarovska, 2004-08-06 Seminar paper from the year 2004 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies Literature grade 2 B University of Cologne English Seminar language English abstract Thomas King's novel Green Grass Running Water distinguishes itself from most of the modern novels above all from the novels written by Native American authors in its genuine form and content Not only the synthesis of oral and written form of narrating stories makes it a valuable literary work that reveals evidence for the existence of a relatively if not utterly unknown culture but also the author's effort to depict characters and stories from the mythology of the Native Americans contribute to it The central figure among the mythological figures from the Native American culture in the novel Green Grass Running Water is by all means the figure of Coyote A lot of research has been conducted on the importance of this figure in the Native American mythology on its meaning in Thomas King's novel and on the combination of these two aspects It could be regarded that Thomas King attempts through his characters to illustrate on a larger scale the relationship between two diverse entities and their unequal position in it This argument has been considered to a large extent by many authors and academics among which Herb Wyile presents the following point in his article Trust Tonto Thomas King's subversive fictions and the politics of cultural literacy Given these various elements it might be tempting initially to describe his work as blending Western literary forms with forms from Native cultures A more appropriate characterization however can be found in Kimberley Blaeser's description of the trickster figure in Native writing as not a composite which is made up of distinct and recognizable parts but a complex which is one unit whose makeup is intricate and interwoven Trickster 51 Her description applies nicely to King's writing since in those Native cultures and King's writing as an extension of them that blending or syncretism is already there because of the cross fertilization historically and currently between different tribal traditions and because of the legacy of the history of colonialism during which cultural interaction was imposed 1 In the light of the opinion presented in the above written quotation this paper will concentrate on the analysis of the meaning and form of the pivotal figure in Thomas King's novel Green Grass Running Water the trickster figure of Coyote and attempt to discover the intertwined intertextuality in the dialogs in which Coyote takes part
