Problematizing The African Renaissance Africa Institute Research Paper:

Problematizing the African Renaissance Eddy Maloka, Elizabeth Le Roux, 2000 These papers address aspects of the contentious intellectual and policy debate about the revival and revitalisation of Africa's political economic and cultural situation the so called African Renaissance The work considers the ideological antecedents of the concept of the African Renaissance the African Renaissance as an imperative for survival and how President Thabo Mbeki of South Africa and the ANC use the notion The contributors discuss the ethical ramifications of globalisation whether neo liberalism can be considered a stable base for the African Renaissance and the likelihood of genuine progress when there are many indicators that neo liberalism is unleashing a kind of global apartheid On this judgement they draw parallels with the apartheid era in South Africa and envisage a similar struggle for change The contributors are five scholars including the Russian Vladimir Shubin and the book's editor Eddy Maloka

Regionalism in Africa Daniel Bach, 2015-12-22 Africa which was not long ago discarded as a hopeless and irrelevant region has become a new frontier for global trade investment and the conduct of international relations This book surveys the socio economic intellectual and security related dimensions of African regionalisms since the turn of the 20th century It argues that the continent deserves to be considered as a crucible for conceptualizing and contextualizing the ongoing influence of colonial policies the emergence of specific integration and security cultures the spread of cross border regionalisation processes at the expense of region building the interplay between territory space and trans state networks and the intrinsic ambivalence of global frontier narratives This is emphasized through the identification of distinctive threads of regionalism which by focusing on genealogies trajectories and ideals transcend the binary divide between old and new regionalisms In doing so the book opens new perspectives not only on Africa in international relations but also Africa's own international relations This text will be of key interest to students and scholars of African politics African history regionalism comparative regionalism and more broadly to international political economy international relations and global and regional governance

Problematizing Local Indigenous Community Research Allucia L. Shokane, Kelly J. Gross, 2021-12-30 This book deliberates on developments related to Knowledge Pathing Multi Inter and Trans Disciplining in Social Sciences The book explores the value of this vexed concept in advancing the course for multi inter and trans disciplinary perspectives methodologies theories and epistemologies of knowledge pathing The discourse on knowledge pathing remains critical in advancing debates and dialogues in the humanities and social sciences spaces of research and studies This book makes a significant contribution to the scholarly understanding of indigenous knowledge research by focusing on problematizing local indigenous community research from Afro sensed perspectives The field of indigenous knowledge research and higher education in Africa is complex Yet across the continent higher education has been the sector to least embrace Indigenous Knowledge Systems IKS or regard indigenous science as a legitimate source of inspiration for the development of youth and local communities Higher education institutions and local indigenous communities should thus generate knowledge and power through research. On the other hand, higher education researchers should use their research processes and skills for cross-beneficiation when engaging local indigenous communities. This book embodies the current discourse on decolonisation and the use of indigenous knowledge in research and is intended for research specialists in the field of indigenous knowledge systems. The Routledge International Handbook of Learning Peter Jarvis, Mary H. Watts, 2012. As our understanding of learning focuses on the whole person rather than individual aspects of learning, so the process of learning is beginning to be studied from a wide variety of perspectives and disciplines. This handbook presents a comprehensive overview of the contemporary research into learning; it brings together a diverse range of specialities with chapters written by leading scholars throughout the world from a wide variety of different approaches. The International Handbook of Learning captures the complexities of the learning process in seven major parts. Its 54 chapters are sub-divided in seven parts: Learning and the person; senses, cognitions, emotions, personality, traits, and learning styles; Learning across the lifespan; Life-wide learning; Learning across the disciplines, covering everything from anthropology to neuroscience; Meaning, systems, and interpretation; Learning and disability; Historical and contemporary learning theorists. Written by international experts, this book is the first comprehensive multi-disciplinary analysis of learning, packing a diverse collection of research into one accessible volume.

Decolonisation after Democracy Laurence Piper, 2020-05-21. Decolonisation after Democracy addresses the provocative idea that we need to rid higher education of lingering forms of colonial knowledge. This matters because in the colonial era much knowledge was put to the service of subjugating indigenous peoples and the assumptions from this era may linger into the present. Examples of deep-rooted and foundational forms of knowledge that carry colonial traits are normative binaries such as civilised and backward, modern and traditional, and rational and superstitious. In addition, some accounts of positive values like freedom, equality, justice, and democracy may hide the assumption that the western experience is the norm from which other kinds are rendered imitations, deviations, or pathologies. In this collection, some of South Africa's leading political scientists and academics engage with the challenge of decolonising knowledge in the research and teaching of politics. It includes new insights about the state, international relations, clientelism, state-society relations, and land reform, and introduces new ways to engage the colonial library, curriculum reform, and the marginality of historically black institutions. Finally, the contributors deal with the decolonial challenge posed by the Fees Must Fall student movements, reflecting on issues of revolutionary politics and gender and sexual violence. This book was originally published as a special issue of Politikon.

Politics in South Africa Tom Lodge, 2003. Further chapters consider the future prospects of South African democracy and provide assessments of both Nelson Mandela and his successor Thabo Mbeki.

European Security Bjørn Møller, 2016-04-22. Europe has undergone quite profound changes since the end of the Cold War. Having been a highly militarised conflict ridden and war ridden region the core of Europe today constitutes a security community where armed conflicts among the constituent states has become inconceivable This comprehensive book offers a theoretically founded and thoroughly documented analysis of European security with a special emphasis on the role played by the United Nations and the various regional and sub regional organisations especially the North Atlantic Treaty Organisation the Organisation for Security and Cooperation in Europe the Council of Europe and the European Union When it comes to explaining peace in Europe opinions differ widely Some argue that it was only because the West refused to give in to Soviet threats that the latter eventually gave up or that the long peace in Europe was due to the combination of a bipolar alliance structure pitting the North Atlantic Treaty Organisation NATO against the Warsaw Pact with the presence of nuclear weapons on both sides Others point instead to the extraordinarily dense network of international institutions and organisations in Europe offering a wide panoply of fora in which to handle disputes peacefully or to the web of interdependence in economic and other affairs tying together all states in Europe in relations which militate strongly against war Still others believe that the external peace between the states in Europe is simply a reflection of a convergence of cultures democracies with marked economies that are open towards the world market These questions are the focal point of this book which concentrates on security albeit not in the sense of being a treatise on military matters but security obtainable by much more indirect and non military means It will be required reading for all students and scholars of European security and the organisations which underpin it

Private and Public Sectors Karl Wohlmuth, 2004 The African Development Perspectives Yearbook series fills a gap in the literature on Africa s development problems Experts from African institutions and regional organisations from international organisations from universities and research institutions from governmental and non governmental organisations and from the donor community analyse issues and report on problems and solutions on new policies programmes projections and visions and on new and ongoing projects in and for Africa Various levels of action that are relevant for Africa s development are considered in this Yearbook the international community in its relation to Africa interregional and national issues of Africa s development but also local projects and local development achievements are documented Africa s development perspectives are therefore analysed and commented from the global to the local space by presenting analytical surveys and policy statements declarations and programmes of international regional national and voluntary organisations It is also the purpose of the African Development Perspectives Yearbook to establish a news and information network a forum for international communication on Africa s development perspectives This tenth volume presents analyses policy oriented papers development projections and proposals for reforms with regard to the role of public and private sectors in Africa The balance between private and public sector development in Africa is challenging due to a rapidly changing international environment in the era of globalisation It discusses the role of the private sector the functions of the private sector institutions the state of the privatisation programmes and the importance of a strengthening of public policies public infrastructures and public institutions in Africa
