The Struggle Against Mourning Ilany Kogan, 2007-06-14 The main questions raised in this book are How does the analyst help the patient to be in touch with pain and mourning Is the relinquishment of defenses always desirable And what is the analyst's role in the mourning process should the analyst struggle to help patients relinquish defenses against pain and mourning which they may experience as vital to their precarious psychic survival Or should he or she accompany patients on their way to self discovery which may or may not result in the patients letting go of their defenses when faced with the pain and mourning inherent in trauma the utilization of various defenses and the resulting unresolved mourning reflect the magnitude of the anxiety and pain that is found on the road to mourning The ability to mourn and the capacity to bear some helplessness while still finding life meaningful are the objectives of the analytic work in this book

The Analyst's Torment Dhvani Shah, 2022-10-20 Dhvani Shah moves the focus from using psychoanalytic theory and technique to explore the patient's mind from a safe distance Instead he concentrates on the analyst's feelings subjective experiences and histories and how these impact on the intersubjective space between analyst and patient His eight chapters each highlight a particular emotional state or problematic feeling and explore their impact on the analytic work which requires emotional honesty and open reflection This authenticity is vital for every unique encounter within the shared space of both the analyst and patient The analyst must strive to be responsive yet disciplined and this requires the work of mentalization An ability to go there with patients offers the best chance at helping them The analyst's uncomfortable and disowned emotional states of mind are inevitably entangled with the therapeutic process and this has the potential to derail or facilitate progress The chapters deal with uncomfortable themes for the analyst to face arrogance racism dread and its close relation erotic dread dissociation shame hopelessness and jealousy These bring up common ways in which analysts stop listening and struggle in the face of uncertainty and intensity the difficulties in facing unbearable experiences with patients such as suicidality disruptions to being with patients in an affective and embodied way and thwarted fantasies of being the hero With all of these difficult topics Shah describes painful and tormenting experiences in a clinically meaningful way that allow growth In this exceptional debut work Shah demonstrates that what analysts feel in their affects bodies and reveries with patients is vital in helping them to understand and metabolise the patients emotional experiences This is a must read for all practising clinicians
