James Wells, 1979 Building Networks: Exchange of Knowledge, Ideas and Materials in Medieval and Post-Medieval Europe Jeroen Bouwmeester, Laura Patrick, Duncan Berryman, 2024-02-19 This book aims to explore different aspects of networks in relation to the archaeology of buildings It is divided into three major themes the trade in materials the exchange of knowledge of techniques and or materials and the exchange of style Within each of these themes two primary aspects are addressed notably who were the actors and how did the network function In medieval and post medieval Europe the development of buildings of style and the use of material cannot be understood from a local regional or even national perspective Not only were the borders different than in modern day Europe but the contacts of inhabitants also transcended local and regional boundaries This volume describes the continuous exchange of aesthetic ideals technological developments and building materials during this period This volume is a culmination of four years of sessions held at the European Archaeology Association EAA conference between 2016 2020 on the topic It is of interest to archaeologists architects and scholars of built heritage Eat My Words Janet Theophano, 2016-01-26 Some people think that a cookbook is just a collection of recipes for dishes that feed the body In Eat My Words Reading Women's Lives through the Cookbooks They Wrote Janet Theophano shows that cookbooks provide food for the mind and the soul as well Looking beyond the ingredients and instructions she shows how women have used cookbooks to assert their individuality develop their minds and structure their lives Beginning in the seventeenth century and moving up through the present day Theophano reads between the lines of recipes for dandelion wine Queen of Puddings and half pound cake to capture the stories and voices of these remarkable women The selection of books looked at is enticing and wide ranging Theophano begins with seventeenth century English estate housekeeping books that served as both cookbooks and reading primers so that women could educate themselves during long hours in the kitchen She looks at A Date with a Dish a classic African American cookbook that reveals the roots of many traditional American dishes and she brings to life a 1950s cookbook written specifically for Americans by a Chinese migr and transcribed into English by her daughter Finally Theophano looks at the contemporary cookbooks of Lynne Rosetto Kaspar Madeleine Kamman and Alice Waters to illustrate the sophistication and political activism present in modern cookbook writing Janet Theophano harvests the rich history of cookbook writing to show how much more can be learned from a recipe than how to make a casserole roast a chicken or bake a cake We discover that women s writings about food reveal and revel in the details of their lives families and the cultures they help to shape

Carolingian Medical Knowledge and Practice, c.775-900 Claire Burridge, 2024-07-15 Carolingian Medical Knowledge and Practice explores the practicality and applicability of the medical recipes recorded in early medieval manuscripts It takes an original dual approach to these overlooked and understudied texts by not only analysing their practical usability but by also re evaluating these writings in the light of osteological evidence Could those individuals with access to the manuscripts have used them in the context of therapy And would they have wanted to do so In asking these questions this book unpacks longstanding assumptions about the intended purposes of medical texts offering a new perspective on the relationship between medical knowledge and practice

East-West Scientific Co-operation Kazimiera Prunskiene, Elmar Altvater, 2013-11-11 All former Soviet Union countries experience their past as a heavy burden It led to the centralisation of scientific personnel the separation of research from teaching at universities and a concentration of certain branches of technology in different parts of the Union This has given rise to a one sided technology and science potential which frequently cannot be sufficiently supported due to a lack of adequate finance Cooperation between the Baltic States themselves is often hampered by an exaggerated sense of national identity and international cooperation can be made difficult by linguistic problems A critical issue is finance The Baltic States themselves are experiencing budgetary constraints and the West is cutting back on funding The analytical issues dealt with here include specific questions such as in the sectors of energy policy electrical equipment and electronics and environmental considerations The transfer of technology is also discussed as is security there is the possibility that science and scientific results can be obtained from the former Soviet Union at low cost by the criminal community The Routledge History Handbook of Central and Eastern Europe in the Twentieth Century Włodzimierz Borodziej, Sabina Ferhadbegović, Joachim von Puttkamer, 2020-04-21 Statehood examines the extending lines of development of nation state systems in Eastern Europe in particular considering why certain tendencies in state development found a different expression in this region compared to other parts of the continent This volume discusses the differences between the social developments political decisions and historical experience that have influenced processes of state building with a focus on the structural problems of the region and the different paths taken to overcome them The book addresses processes of building social orders and examines the contribution of state institutions to social and cultural integration and disintegration It analyses institutional and personnel continuities that have outlasted the great political changes of the twentieth century and addresses the expansion of state activity in shaping property relations in agriculture and industry as well as in social security and family politics Taking a comparative approach based on experiential history allowing individual experience to be detached from specific national references the volume delineates a transnational comparison of problems shared within the region as they have been passed down through history providing definition to the specificity of Eastern Europe and situating the historical experience of the region within a pan European context The second in a four volume set on Central and Eastern Europe in the twentieth century it is the go to resource for those interested in statehood and state building in this complex region Global Challenges, Local Responses in Higher Education Branković Jelena, Manja Klemenčič, Predrag Lažetić, Pavel Zgaga, 2014-05-05 The volume offers state of the art contributions in the intersection of academic profession research training and institutional governance They reflect the profound interest of contemporary researchers in the questions of how the contemporary higher education reforms across Europe affect university governance and especially the roles and functions of academics The volume includes several contributions from the peripheral and developing higher education systems of Central and South East Europe hence attempting to rebalance the European profile of higher education research and at the same time contribute to the most salient debates in the field This book confirms once again that the higher education research landscape is a diverse and rich one At the same time these diverse cases have at least one commonality the fact that even though they are located in different higher education systems they address issues that albeit as a rule context specific can be found in all parts of Europe and beyond Certainly the local responses to the hereby addressed global challenges represent a mere snapshot of a broader landscape the European higher education dynamics is Temporary higher
