Reconstructing Individualism, 1988 Reconstructing Individualism Thomas C. Heller, Morton Sosna, David E. Wellbery, 1986 Edge of Catastrophe Roger Frie, 2024-07-16 In Edge of Catastrophe Roger Frie introduces readers for the first time to the unpublished Holocaust letters in the family of the public intellectual and psychoanalyst Erich Fromm. The letters provide new insights into Fromm's life and work, particularly in relation to his lifelong concerns with fascism, racism, and human destructiveness. The image of Fromm that emerges enriches our understanding of what it means to be both a social critic and practicing psychologist. In light of the racial hatred, antisemitism, and political crises we see today, this book demonstrates that a politics of engagement and a psychology of well-being go hand in hand.

Postmodernity and the Fragmentation of Welfare John Carter, 2012-10-12 Postmodern ideas have been vastly influential in the social sciences and beyond. However, their impact on the study of social policy has been minimal. Postmodernity and the Fragmentation of Welfare analyses the potential for a postmodern or cultural turn in welfare, as it treats postmodernity as an evolving canon from the seminal works of Baudrillard, Foucault, and Lyotard through to recent theories of the risk society. Already disorientated by globalisation, new technologies, and the years of new right ascendancy, welfare faces a significant challenge in the postmodern. It suggests that rather than universality and state provision, the new social policy will be consumerised and fragmented, a welfare state of ambivalence. With contributions from authors coming from a variety of fields, offering very different perspectives on postmodernity and welfare, Postmodernity and the Fragmentation of Welfare also keeps social policy's intellectual inheritance in view. By exploring ways in which theorisations of postmodernity might improve understanding of welfare issues in the 1990s and assessing the relevance of theories of diversity and difference to mainstream and critical social policy traditions, this book will be an essential text for all students of social policy, social administration, social work, and sociology.

Moral Injury and Soldiers in Conflict Tine Molendijk, 2021-03-15 This book advances an interdisciplinary understanding of moral injury by analyzing the stories of military veterans of combat and peace missions. In the past decade, the concept of moral injury has emerged to address the potential moral impact of deployment. This book contributes to an interdisciplinary conceptualization of moral injury while at the same time critically evaluating the concept's premises and implications. It paints an urgent and compassionate picture of the moral impact of soldiers' deployment experience and the role of political practices and public perceptions in moral injury. It does so by drawing on the experiences of close to a hundred Dutch veterans deployed to Bosnia Srebrenica and Afghanistan and analyzing their stories from the perspectives of psychology, philosophy, theology, and social sciences. Ultimately, this book advances the understanding of moral, political, and societal dimensions of moral injury and contributes to practical efforts aimed at its prevention. This book will be of much interest to students of ethics and war, cultural anthropology, conflict studies, and international relations.

Gender, Culture and Human Rights Siobhán Mullally, 2006-05-26 In recent years, feminist theory has increasingly defined itself in opposition to universalism and to discourses of human rights Rejecting the troubled legacies of Enlightenment thinking feminists have questioned the very premises upon which the international human rights movement is based Rather than abandoning human rights discourse however this book argues that feminism should reclaim the universal and reconstruct the theory and practice of human rights Discourse ethics and its post metaphysical defence of universalism is offered as a key to this process of reconstruction The implications of discourse ethics and the possibility of reclaiming universalism are explored in the context of the reservations debate in international human rights law and further examined in debates on women s human rights arising in Ireland India and Pakistan Each of these states shares a common constitutional heritage and in each religious cultural claims intertwined with processes of nation building have constrained the pursuit of gender equality Ultimately this book argues in favour of a dual track approach to cultural conflicts combining legal regulation with an ongoing moral political dialogue on the scope and content of human rights
