Reconstructing Old Age New Agendas In Social Theory And Practice:

Reconstructing Old Age Chris Phillipson, 1998-10-26 In this timely and authoritative overview on social gerontology and social theory Chris Phillipson outlines the changing contexts and experiences associated with later life as we move into a new century The book critically reviews the different theoretical explanations which attempt to explain these changes Phillipson shows how in late modernity changes to pensions employment and retirement and intergenerational relations are placing doubt on the meaning of growing old He suggests that later life is being reconstructed as a period of potential choice on the one hand but also of risk and danger on the other This book will be essential reading for students and academics in social gerontology as well as for students and academics in sociology social policy and related disciplines interested in the future of an ageing population and the future of social gerontology

The Community Life of Older People in Ireland Carmel Gallagher, 2008 This book is a contemporary sociological account of the lives of older people in two different communities in Ireland one urban and one rural The book is based on primary research that examined the social and community participation of older people in Rathmore and Rathbeg using both ethnographic and survey approaches The data presented provides insights into the nature of a community in a rapidly changing society and into older people's contributions to that community It points to realms of activity that offer genuine meaning and value in older people's lives A model of connectedness is developed in the study that identifies key characteristics and processes involved in sociability and solidarity within neighbourhoods and communities A typology of ten relational patterns describes the different ways in which older adults may be connected within their communities The author proposes an explanatory framework for understanding the complex and varied connections between people in communities The book also demonstrates what older people in Ireland perceive as a good life

Equality and Public Policy Paul Chaney, 2011-01-31 Equality of opportunity is a contested concept It evokes strong emotions from proponents and opponents alike Enduring issues of inequality and discrimination mean that it remains at the forefront of political priorities in the twenty first century Traditional analyses tend to focus on developments at the level of the unitary state or European Union In contrast this book underlines the salience of multi level governance and offers the first detailed comparative analysis of contemporary efforts to promote equality of opportunity in the wake of constitutional reform in the UK It presents a summary of social theory on equalities in relation to gender and a full range of social groups and identities such as disability ethnicity sexual orientation and age It outlines the contemporary evidence base relating to patterns and processes of inequality in the devolved nations A governance perspective is also advanced one that details how constitutional law establishing the devolved legislatures contains equality clauses that enable and empower government to promote equality in public policy and law Analysis reveals the development of distinctive regulatory structures and equalities policy lobbies in each territory Overall this volume charts the development of divergent legal rights and public policy on the promotion of equality in the wake of constitutional reform in the UK Notwithstanding ongoing challenges it is argued that the move to quasi federalism is significant for it marks a shift from the predominant centralised administration of social policy witnessed throughout the twentieth century to divergent approaches designed to address contrasting socio economic patterns and processes in Wales Scotland and Northern Ireland Changing Worlds and the Ageing Subject Britt-Marie Öberg, 2018-01-18 Research into ageing and later life has tended to describe old age in relation to society's problems concerning health and social care Today demographic changes current advancements in technology and political and socio cultural developments also affect the living conditions of both young and old people This exceptional volume draws together scholars from Europe and the USA to inspire and encourage new research approaches Taking old people's own ideas experiences and opinions as the starting point for studies of the ageing process the contributors regard old age as an equally important and varied stage of the life cycle The volume considers the humanistic historical dimension of ageing and substantiates new perspectives on family roles and intergenerational relationships It also examines age discrimination the impact of the increase in early retirement the effect of old and new technology on older people's lives different ageing experiences of men and women and how to emphasize old people's own interpretation and understanding of the ageing process Medicine and the Body Simon Williams, 2003-03-19 An intelligent and informed account of medical sociology Simon Williams has produced an original and comprehensive sociological statement of the centrality of the body to an understanding of medicine health and illness His scope is impressive It will shape future teaching and research in the field of health and illness Bryan S Turner Professor of Sociology University of Cambridge This is a clear well written account of medicine health and the body Taking recent debates on the body and society as its point of departure the book critically reexamines a series of embodied issues and emotional agendas in health and illness Included here are cutting edge discussions and debates concerning the medicalized body health inequalities childhood and ageing the dilemmas of high tech medicine chronic illness and disability caring and bio ethics sleep death and dying the body in late postmodernity Written in an accessible engaging style with many original and innovative insights the book will appeal to undergraduate and postgraduate students alike and to researchers and lecturers with an interest in the embodied agendas of health and medicine in the new millennium Home Equity and Ageing Owners Lorna Fox O'Mahony, 2012-01-06 The growing use of housing equity to support a range of activities and needs raises complex issues particularly for older owners In an environment in which older owners are pushed towards housing equity transactions to meet income and welfare costs they are required to make choices from a complex and sometimes bewildering range of options The transactions which facilitate the use of home equity as a resource to spend in later life from trading down and ordinary secured and unsecured debt to targeted products including reverse lifetime mortgages home reversion plans and sale and rentback agreements raise important legal and regulatory issues This book provides a contextual analysis of the financial transactions that older people enter into using their housing equity It traces the protections afforded to older owners through the ordinary law of property and contract as well as the development of specific regulatory protections focused on targeted products The book employs the notion of risk to highlight the nature and causes of the situational vulnerabilities to which older people are now subject as consumers of housing equity showing that the older owner's personal situation is crucial in determining whether and why they may seek to release equity the options and products available to them and the impact of harms resulting from adverse transactions The book critically evaluates the extent to which this context is incorporated in the legal frameworks through which these transactions are governed as a measure of the appropriateness of existing legal provision as well as considering the arguments surrounding special protection for older owners in housing equity transactions Ageing and Diversity

Daatland, Svein Olav, Biggs, Simon, 2006-04-05 Assessing the stereotyped conceptions of ageing this book explores the diversity of individual pathways of ageing the sources of identifications migration and otherness and the tension between social structures and personal agency It is aimed at academics students and practitioners in the fields of sociology social psychology and welfare Ethics, Aging, and Society Martha B. Holstein, Mark Waymack, Jennifer Parks, Jennifer A. Parks, 2010-11-01 Ethics Aging and Society is the first major work in ten years to critically address issues and methodologies in aging and ethics This well organized volume begins theoretically and offers new ways of thinking about ethics that can handle the complexities and realities of aging in particular social contexts Choice This new research based book by experts in the field of ethics is excellent and much needed I challenge you to consider reading this book and seeing all the ways in which you might be forced to rethink things that most of us take as given for ethics and aging I know you will not be disappointed and I guarantee you will end up thinking long and hard about personal and professional decisions you may have made as well as your assumptions about aging in America CFLE Network Newsletter National Council on Family Relations This is a book that should be required reading for all involved in the ethical provision of services to the aging on any level as well as for policy makers and administrators in positions of influence over the lives of older patients PsycCRITIQUES the authors application of feminist ethics to frail elders rings true to both my clinical experience working with frail elders and my research experience trying to understand their quality of life concerns there were true gems of ideas in this book that illuminated the limitations of the dominant paradigm of autonomy in bioethics The authors make a compelling critique of end of life care GeriPal A Geriatrics and Palliative Care Blog This book presents second generation issues in ethics aging and society by presenting critical outcomes that arise when ethics is applied to the practical concerns that occur in day to day elder care The first volume in over 10 years to address ethics and gerontology it is unparalleled in its comprehensiveness and integration of well developed philosophical arguments with empirical research humanistic scholarship and insights gained from practical experience This book challenges the tried and true approaches to ethical issues in aging and opens avenues for creative problem solving The authors diverse backgrounds bring the advantages of both interdisciplinary scholarship and practical experience to this comprehensive textbook It is an essential resource for those interested in and working with older people from upper level undergraduate students and graduate division students to gerontology practitioners in training Key Features Presents the first major work in over 10 years to integrate the disciplines of ethics and aging Includes case studies derived from day to day practice Addresses individual clinical ethics in health and long term care and ethical issues raised by public policy cultural norms and social attitudes Examines such critical issues as Alzheimer s disease long term care ageism public policy anti aging medicine elder abuse and natural disasters Explores new directions in ethical and social philosophy as they pertain to gerontology and care

Book Jacket Framing Age Iris Loffeier,Benoît Majerus,Thibault Moulaert,2017-05-12 Ageing populations have gradually become a major concern in many industrialised countries over the past fifty years drawing the attention of both politics and science The target of a raft of health and social policies older people are often identified as a specific and vulnerable population At the same time ageing has become a specialisation in many disciplines medicine sociology psychology to name but three and a discipline of its own gerontology This book questions the framing of old age by focusing on the relationships between policy making and the production of knowledge The first part explores how the meeting of scientific expertise and the politics of old age anchors the construction of both individual and collective relationships to the future Part II brings to light the many ways in which issues relating to ageing can be instrumentalised and ideologised in several public debate arenas Part III argues that scientific knowledge itself composes with objectivity bringing ideologies of its own to the table and looks at how this impacts discourse about ageing In the final part the contributors discuss how the frames can themselves be experienced at different levels of the division of labour whether it is by people who work on them legislators or scientists by people working with them professional carers or by older people themselves Unpacking the political and moral dimensions of scientific research on ageing this cutting edge volume brings together a range of multidisciplinary European perspectives and will be of use to all those interested in old age and the social sciences

Aging, Spirituality, and Religion Melvin Kimble,Susan H. McFadden,2002-12-01 Volume II picks up where Volume I left off with practical advice and tools for ministry with the aging in a variety of settings Gerontological and theological perspectives undergird the practical guidance and a final section treats of the unique ethical issues involved in ministry with the aging

Quality Of Life And Older People Bond, John,Corner, Lynne,2004-09-01 Quality of life and older people reviews the way that older people talk about their quality of life and how this differs from the ways that younger people researchers and scientists policy makers and professionals discuss it The book challenges the traditional approaches to the meaning and measurement of quality of life in older people by placing older people s accounts at the centre It draws on a range of behavioural and social science knowledge to present a new way of thinking and understanding about quality of life and older people

The Voice of the Past Paul Thompson,2017-02-24 Oral history gives history back to the people in their own words And in giving a past it also helps them towards a future of their own making Oral history and life stories help to create a truer picture of the past and the changing present documenting the lives and feelings of all kinds of people many otherwise hidden from history It explores personal and family relationships and uncovers the secret cultures of work It connects public and private experience and it highlights the experiences of migrating between cultures At the same time it can bring courage to the old meaning to communities and contact between generations Sometimes it can offer a path for healing divided communities and those with traumatic memories Without it the history and sociology of our time would be poor and narrow In this fourth edition of his pioneering work fully revised with Joanna Bornat Paul Thompson challenges the accepted myths of historical scholarship He discusses the reliability of oral evidence in comparison with other sources and considers the social context of its development He looks at the relationship between memory the self and identity He traces oral history through its own past and weighs up the recent achievements of a movement which has become international with notably strong developments in North America Europe Australia Latin America South Africa and the Far East despite resistance from more conservative academics This new edition combines the classic text of The Voice of the Past with many new sections including especially the worldwide development of different forms of oral history and the parallel memory boom as well as discussions of theory in oral history and of memory trauma and reconciliation It offers a deep social and historical interpretation along with succinct practical advice on designing and carrying out a project The Voice of the Past remains an invaluable tool for anyone setting out to use oral history and life stories to construct a more authentic and balanced record of the past and the present
