in the Harleian collection in the British Library For this volume Andrew Watson has provided extensive additional notes and indexes The Index of Middle English Prose S. J. Ogilvie-Thomson, 2007 The Index of Middle English Prose when completed will be a monumental achievement REVIEW OF ENGLISH STUDIES Giles of Rome's De Regimine Principum Charles F. Briggs, 1999-01-28 From the time of its composition c 1280 for Philip the Fair of France until the early sixteenth century Giles of Rome's mirror of princes the De regimine principum was read by both lay and clerical readers in the original Latin and in several vernacular translations and served as model or source for several works of princely advice This study examines the relationship between this didactic political text and its audience by focusing on the textual and material aspects of the surviving manuscript copies as well as on the evidence of ownership and use found in them and in documentary and literary sources Briggs argues that lay readers used De regimine for several purposes including as an educational treatise and military manual whereas clerics who often first came into contact with it at university glossed constructed apparatus for and modified the text to suit their needs in their later professional lives Sixteenth-Century Readers, Fifteenth-Century Books Margaret Connolly, 2019-01-17 Explores the reception of fifteenth century English manuscripts and two generations of a Tudor family who owned and read them ABHB Annual Bibliography of the History of the Printed Book and Libraries Hendrik D.L. Vervliet, 2013-11-11 The history of printing books and libraries is confined only to a limited extent within the boundaries of individual countries There are indeed few historical developments which have played a more universal role in reaction against all kinds of particularism than type design printing book production publishing illustration binding librarianship journal-ism and related subjects Their history should be assessed and studied primarily in an international not in a local context The bibliographical resources however which the historian of these subjects has at his disposal correspond hardly at all to the essentially international character of the object of his studies Since the appearance of the retrospective bibliography of BIG MORE and WYMAN covering the subject comprehensively up to 1880 the only current bibliography has been the Internationale Bibliographie des Buchs und Bibliothekswesens Covering a representative part of newly published literature it appeared from 1928 but did not survive the Second World War More recently several useful but limited bibliographies have appeared The Medieval English Universities Alan B.
