Recreating The Past:

Recreating the Past Victor G. Ambrus, Michael Aston, Mike Aston, 2009 Drawing Recreating the Past? John Pinkerton, 1988 Keeping Those Words in Mind Max Louwerse, 2021-07-15 How can humans keep thousands of words in mind and have no difficulty understanding trillions of sentences The answer to this question might lie in parents teaching their children language skills or in the human brain which may be equipped with a language instinct or maybe in impressive memory skills that link words to their perceptual information Undoubtedly there is some truth to some of these explanations But one answer perhaps the most important answer has been largely ignored Keeping Those Words in Mind tries to remedy this oversight Linguist and cognitive psychologist Max Louwerse PhD argues that understanding language is not just possible because of memory brains environment and computation but because of the patterns in the sequence of sounds and words themselves He demonstrates that what seems to be an arbitrary communication system with arbitrary characters and sounds that become words and arbitrary meanings for those words actually is a well organized system that has evolved over tens of thousands of years to make communication as efficient as it is What is needed for humans to acquire language is for humans to recognize and discover the patterns in our communication system By examining how our brains process language and find patterns the intricacies of the language system itself and even scientific breakthroughs in computer science and artificial intelligence Keeping Those Words in Mind brings a brand new and interdisciplinary explanation for our ability to extract meaning from language Northern Indiana Public Service Company V. Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, 1984 Manual of English Literature John Macmillan Brown, 1894 Irish Statesman George William Russell, 1929 Recreating the Past Lynda G. Intertwining of Aesthetics and Ethics Jadranka Skorin-Kapov, 2016-04-21 The Intertwining of Aesthetics and Ethics Exceeding of Expectations Ecstasy Sublimity analyzes the common experiential ground for both aesthetics and ethics by considering experiential environment both nature and art the precedents to desire the notion of experience incorporating a break and the reverberations of surprise leading to the intertwining of aesthetics and ethics Jadranka Skorin Kapov discusses different philosophical positions on the relationship between nature and art in conversation with Kant Hegel Goethe Gadamer and Adorno She argues that Kantian sublimity can carry over from nature to art As part of the discussions of expectations and authenticity the author interprets Husserl s view on expectations Heidegger s view on death and authenticity Blanchot s view on death and Arendt s view on natality As for understanding the aesthetic experience as the paradigmatic experience Skorin Kapov is informed by Dewey s work on art as experience Gadamer s work on experience of art and Jaus s work on the aesthetics of reception and the horizon of expectations After our sensibility and representational capability are broken recuperation then leads to sublimity and the subsequent feelings of admiration and or responsibility allowing for the intertwining of aesthetics and ethics Additionally elements of Kantian morality Foucault s ethics and Kierkegaard s work on interactions between aesthetics and ethics together help to characterize the relation between aesthetics and ethics Since we often encounter surprise due to unexpectedness in comedy Skorin Kapov also interprets philosophical views on the comedy and laughter including Aristotle Kierkegaard Meredith and Bergson using the theatrical work of Dario Fo as an example The novel analysis in The Intertwining of Aesthetics and Ethics will be of particular interest to students and scholars working or teaching in aesthetics phenomenology art history cultural studies and ethics Political Epistemology Pietro Daniel

Omodeo, 2019-10-14 This book is an investigation of the ideological dimensions of the disciplinary discourses on science in line with the scholarly tradition of historical epistemology It offers a programmatic treatment of the political epistemological problematic along three entangled lines of inquiry socio historical epistemological and historiographical The book aims for a meta level integration of the existing scholarship on the social and cultural history of science in order to consider the ways in which struggles for hegemony have constantly informed scientific discourses This problematic is of primary relevance for scholars in Science Studies philosophers historians and sociologists of science but would also be relevant for anybody interested in scientific culture and political theory The Routledge Handbook of the History and Sociology of Ideas

Stefanos Geroulanos, Gisèle Sapiro, 2023-09-26 The Routledge Handbook of the History and Sociology of Ideas establishes a new and comprehensive way of working in the history and sociology of ideas in order to obviate several longstanding gaps that have prevented a fruitful interdisciplinary and international dialogues Pushing global intellectual history forward it uses methodological innovations in the history of concepts gender history imperial history and history of normativity many of which have emerged out of intellectual history in recent years and it especially foregrounds the role of field theory for delimiting objects of study but also in studying transnational history and migration of persons and ideas The chapters also explore how intellectual history crosses the study of particular domains law politics economy science life sciences social and human sciences book history literature and emotions

The Routledge Handbook of Environmental History Emily

O'Gorman, William San Martín, Mark Carey, Sandra Swart, 2023-12-06 The Routledge Handbook of Environmental History presents a cutting edge overview of the dynamic and ever expanding field of environmental history It addresses recent transformations in the field and responses to shifting scholarly political and environmental landscapes The handbook fully and critically engages with recent exciting changes contextualizes them within longer term shifts in the field and charts potential new directions for study It focuses on five key areas Theories and concepts related to changing considerations of social justice including postcolonial antiracist and feminist approaches and the field's growing emphasis on multiple human voices and agencies The roles of non humans and the more than human in the telling of environmental histories from animals and plants to insects as vectors of disease and the influences of water and ice the changing theoretical approaches and the influence of concepts in related areas such as animal and discard studies How changes in theories and concepts are shaping methods in environmental history and shifting approaches to traditional sources like archives and oral histories as well as experiments by practitioners with new methods and sources Responses to a range of current complex problems such as climate change and how environmental historians can best help mitigate and resolve these problems Diverse ways in which environmental historians disseminate their research within and beyond academia including new modes of research dissemination teaching and engagements with stakeholders and the policy arena This is an important resource for environmental historians researchers and students in the related fields of political ecology environmental studies natural resources management and environmental planning Chapters 9 10 and 26 of this book are freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license

Egyptian Obelisks Transport Everett Sinclair, AI, 2025-03-04 Egyptian Obelisks Transport explores the remarkable engineering feats behind the creation of ancient Egyptian obelisks These monolithic monuments some weighing hundreds of tons were quarried transported and erected using techniques that continue to fascinate historians and engineers alike The book uncovers how the ancient Egyptians mastered quarrying techniques without modern machinery including the use of dolerite tools to extract stone It further investigates the sophisticated transportation methods employed to move these colossal structures across land and water revealing the organizational prowess required for such massive undertakings The book s approach is structured beginning with an introduction to obelisks within Egyptian architecture and religion It then details quarrying operations followed by an analysis of transportation logistics erection techniques and finally an examination of the symbolism of obelisks By examining archaeological evidence historical texts and recent experimental findings the book highlights the religious and political significance of obelisks emphasizing their connection to pharaonic power and their lasting impact on the Egyptian landscape The successful construction of obelisks reflects the advanced nature of ancient Egyptian civilization and their sophisticated understanding of engineering principles

Introduction to Personality Walter Mischel,Yuichi Shoda,Ozlem Ayduk,2007-09-10 This Eighth Edition reflects the new developments within personality psychology and gives the student a picture of the field as a cumulative integrative science that builds on its rich past and now allows a much more coherent view of the whole functioning individual in the social world This revision subtitled Toward an Integrative Science of the Person is committed to making that integration and its practical applications and personal relevance to everyday life even more clear and compelling for our students In this new edition the focus is placed on distilling how findings at each of the six major levels of analysis of personality trait disposition biological psychodynamic motivational behavioral conditioning phenomenological humanistic and social cognitive still speak to and inform each other and how they add to the current state of the science and its continuing growth

Entangled Things Alison Hulme,2024-08-22 Entangled Things takes the concept of entanglement as its starting point in investigating the relationship between us and the material things we engage with Each chapter illustrates a particular form of entanglement desiring things hoarding things creating things ridding ourselves of things using ethnographic examples and theoretical perspectives Hulme encourages a wider consideration of the place of humans in the world and the kind of choices we enact when influenced by the material things around us She explores our relationships with material objects in light of both personal and planetary space and personal and historical time from the space in our homes storage spaces landfill and oceans to the times in our lives and the times in wider shared histories that things connect us to not to mention our sense of time and our own place in the world In so doing Hulme intentionally places discussions on our entanglement with things squarely back into the context of the Anthropocene with a provocative analysis in which the Anthropocene is posited as a concept which on one hand takes away human agency placing us in the context of immense geological epochs whilst on the other hand pushes agency upon humans blaming us for the extreme challenges of the current era and looking to us to solve those challenges For Hulme material things are instrumental in helping us to grasp our existential place in the world and weave a way through the complications of living in epochal times
