Recreational Terror Women And The Pleasures Of Horror Film Viewing:

Recreational Terror Isabel Cristina Pinedo, 2016-02-24 In Recreational Terror Isabel Cristina Pinedo analyzes how the contemporary horror film produces recreational terror as a pleasurable encounter with violence and danger for female spectators. She challenges the conventional wisdom that violent horror films can only degrade women and incite violence and contends instead that the contemporary horror film speaks to the cultural need to express rage and terror in the midst of social upheaval. The Horror Film Stephen Prince, 2004 Focusing on recent postmodern examples, this is a collection of essays reviewing the history of the horror film and the psychological reasons for its persistent appeal. Women,

Monstrosity and Horror Film Erin Harrington, 2017-08-10 Women occupy a privileged place in horror film. Horror is a space of entertainment and excitement of terror and dread and one that relishes the complexities that arise when boundaries of taste and bodies of reason are blurred and dismantled. It is also a site of expression and exploration that leverages the narrative and aesthetic horrors of the reproductive, the maternal, and the sexual to expose the underpinnings of the social, political, and philosophical othering of women. This book offers an in-depth analysis of women in horror films through an exploration of gynae-horror films concerned with all aspects of female reproductive horror: from reproductive and sexual organs to virginity, pregnancy, birth, motherhood, and finally to menopause. Some of the themes explored include the intersection of horror, monstrosity, and sexual difference; the relationships between normative female heterosexuality and the twin figures of the chaste virgin and the voracious vagina dentata; embodiment and subjectivity in horror films about pregnancy and abortion; reproductive technologies, monstrosity, and mad science; the discursive construction and interrogation of monstrous motherhood; and the relationships between menopause, menstruation, hagsploitation, and abject, barren bodies in horror. The book not only offers a feminist interrogation of gynae-horror but also a counter-reading of the gynae-horrific that both accounts for and opens up new spaces of productive, radical, and subversive monstrosity within a mode of representation and expression that has often been accused of being misogynistic. It therefore makes a unique contribution to the study of women in horror film, specifically, while also providing new insights in the broader area of popular culture, gender, and film philosophy. The Films of John Carpenter John Kenneth Muir, 2015-09-15 The films of John Carpenter cover a tremendous range and yet all bear his clear personal stamp. From the horrifying Halloween to the touching Starman to the controversial The Thing to the comic Big Trouble in Little China, his films reflect a unique approach to filmmaking and singular views of humanity and American culture. This analysis of Carpenter's films includes a historical overview of his career and in-depth entries on each of his films from 1975's Dark Star to 1998's Vampires. Complete cast and production information is provided for each. The book also covers those films written and produced by Carpenter such as Halloween II and Black Moon Rising, as well as Carpenter's work for television. Appendices are included on films Carpenter was offered but turned down, the slasher films that followed in the wake of the highly successful Halloween, the actors and characters who make repeated appearances in Carpenter's films and ratings for Carpenter's work. Notes, bibliography, and index are included.

A Dictionary of Film Studies Annette Kuhn, Guy Westwell, 2020-04-28. A Dictionary of Film Studies covers all aspects of its discipline as it is currently taught at undergraduate level. Offering exhaustive and authoritative coverage, this A-Z is written by experts in the field and covers terms, concepts, debates, and movements in film theory and criticism, national, international, and transnational cinemas, film history, movements, and genres, film industry organizations and practices, and key technical terms and concepts. Since its first publication in 2012, the dictionary has been updated to incorporate over 40 new entries, including computer games and film disability, ecocinema, identity, portmanteau, film practice, as research, and film in Vietnam. Moreover, numerous revisions have been made to existing entries to account for developments in the discipline and changes to film institutions. More generally, indices of films and filmmakers mentioned in the text are included for easy access to relevant entries. The dictionary also has 13 feature articles on popular topics and terms, revised and informative bibliographies for most entries, and more than 100 web links to supplement the text.

A Short History of Film Wheeler Winston Dixon, Gwendolyn Audrey Foster, 2013-02-15. A Short History of Film, Second Edition, provides a concise and accurate overview of the history of world cinema, detailing the major movements, directors, studios, and genres from 1896 through 2012. Accompanied by more than 250 rare color and black and white stills, including many from recent films, the new edition is unmatched in its panoramic view, conveying a sense of cinema's sweep in the twentieth and early twenty-first centuries as it is practiced in the United States and around the world. Wheeler Winston Dixon and Gwendolyn Audrey Foster present new and amended coverage of the industry, in addition to updating the birth and death dates and final works of notable directors. Their expanded focus on key films brings the book firmly into the digital era and chronicles the death of film as a production medium. The book takes readers through the invention of the kinetoscope, the introduction of sound and color between the two world wars, and ultimately the computer-generated imagery of the present day. It details significant periods in world cinema, including the early major industries in Europe, the dominance of the Hollywood studio system in the 1930s and 1940s, and the French New Wave of the 1960s. Attention is given to small independent efforts in developing nations and the more personal independent film movement that briefly flourished in the United States, the significant filmmakers of all nations, and the effects of censorship and regulation on production everywhere. In addition, the authors incorporate the stories of women and other minority filmmakers who have often been overlooked in other texts. Engaging and accessible, this is the best one-stop source for the history of world film available for students, teachers, and general audiences alike.

A Short History of Film, Third Edition Wheeler Winston Dixon, Gwendolyn Audrey Foster, 2018-03-30. With more than 250 images, new information on international cinema, especially Polish, Chinese, Russian, Canadian, and Iranian filmmakers, an expanded section on African American filmmakers, updated discussions of new works by major American directors, and a new section on the rise of comic book movies and computer-generated special

Reading Phineas, Watching Slashers Brandon R. Grafius, 2018-03-20 The tale of the zeal of Phineas expressed when he killed an Israelite man and a Midianite woman having sex and thus stopped a plague of consorting with idolatrous neighbors in the Israelite camp Numbers 25 has long attracted both interest and revulsion Scholars have sought to defend the account to explain it as pious fiction or to protest its horrific violence Brandon R Grafius seeks to understand how the tale expresses the latent anxieties of the Israelite society that produced it combining the insights of historical criticism with those of contemporary horror and monster theory Grafius compares Israelite anxieties concerning ethnic boundaries and community organization with similar anxieties apparent in horror films of the 1980s then finds confirmation for his method in the responses of Roman period readers who reacted to the tale of Phineas as a tale of horror The combination of methods allows Grafius to illumine the concern of an ancient priestly class to control unsettled and unsettling community boundaries and to raise questions of implications for our own time Dreamscapes in Italian Cinema Francesco Pascuzzi, Bryan

Cracchiolo, 2015-01-21 Dreamscapes in Italian Cinema explores different representations of dreams visions hallucinations and hypnagogic states in Italian film culture covering the works of some of the most significant auteurs in the history of Italian cinema Fellini Pasolini Moretti Bellocchio among others Dreams are discussed both in a filmic context considering the diegetic and formal techniques employed to construct and represent them and as allegories or metaphors in a broader cultural political and social sense the film industry itself as the proverbial dream factory and dreams as hopes aspirations or altogether parallel universes for example The book covers works released over different decades and spanning multiple genres drama gothic film horror comedy and it is intended to shed light on a topic that is as suggestive as it is insufficiently studied Routledge Encyclopedia of Narrative Theory David Herman, Manfred Jahn, Marie-Laure Ryan, 2010-06-10 The past several decades have seen an explosion of interest in narrative with this multifaceted object of inquiry becoming a central concern in a wide range of disciplinary fields and research contexts As accounts of what happened to particular people in particular circumstances and with specific consequences stories have come to be viewed as a basic human strategy for coming to terms with time process and change However the very predominance of narrative as a focus of interest across multiple disciplines makes it imperative for scholars teachers and students to have access to a comprehensive reference
