Red Acorn:

The Red Acorn John McElroy, 2019-12-04 In The Red Acorn John McElroy presents a compelling exploration of the complexities of human relationships against the backdrop of the American Civil War. Fusing vivid historical detail with rich character development, McElroy's narrative weaves a tapestry of bravery, love, and betrayal. The novel employs a naturalistic literary style that echoes the tension and moral ambiguities of its time, reflecting the societal upheaval that shaped a nation. Through dynamic dialogue and intricate plotlines, McElroy examines not just the battlefields but also the emotional landscapes of his characters, making the war resonate deeply with the personal struggles of individuals caught in its midst. John McElroy, an author and veteran of the Civil War himself, draws heavily from his lived experiences and the tumultuous era in which he wrote. His exposure to the intricacies of military life and the psychological scars left by conflict profoundly influenced his storytelling. McElroy's firsthand knowledge of the war's impact on society and relationships provides authenticity to his characters' motivations and decisions, making their journeys all the more poignant. For readers interested in historical fiction that delves into the human condition, The Red Acorn is a must-read. McElroy's masterful blend of narrative depth and vivid historical context invites readers to reflect on the enduring effects of war, making it a significant contribution to the genre.

R. Auchmoody, 1993. Survival of recently fallen northern red oak acorns after exposure to a cool fall burn was determined on experimental plots in northwestern Pennsylvania. The fire consumed the leaf litter and fine woody material of the forest floor and was considered as a typical fall burn for this region. No acorns were consumed by the fire but some were charred. Between 40 and 49 percent of the acorns contained in the litter were killed. The fire was not hot enough to kill Curculio weevil larvae within the acorns. Burned acorns infested with Curculio that survived the fire had 20 percent lower germination rates than unburned acorns. Acorn Production in Northern Red Oak

The Red Acorn John McElroy, 2015-07-13 The name given this story is that made glorious by the valor and achievements of the splendid First Division of the Fourteenth Army Corps, the cognizance of which was a crimson acorn worn on the breasts of its gallant soldiers and borne upon their battle flags. There are few gatherings of men into which one can go to day without finding some one wearing as his most cherished ornament a red acorn frequently wrought in gold and studded with precious stones and which tells that its wearer is a veteran of Mill Springs, Perryville, Shiloh, Corinth, Stone River, Chickamauga, Mission Ridge, Atlanta, Jonesville, March to the Sea, and Bentonville.
