Picture Lillian Ross, 2019-04-30 A classic look at Hollywood and the American film industry by The New Yorker's Lillian Ross and named one of the Top 100 Works of U.S. Journalism of the Twentieth Century Lillian Ross worked at The New Yorker for more than half a century and might be described not only as an outstanding practitioner of modern long form journalism but also as one of its inventors Picture originally published in 1952 is her most celebrated piece of reportage a closely observed and completely absorbing story of how studio politics and misguided commercialism turn a promising movie into an all around disaster The charismatic and hard bitten director and actor John Huston is at the center of the book determined to make Stephen Crane's The Red Badge of Courage one of the great and defining works of American literature the first modern war novel a book whose vivid imagistic style invites the description of cinematic into a movie that is worthy of it At first all goes well as Huston shoots and puts together a two hour film that is he feels the best he's ever made Then the studio bosses step in and the audience previews begin conferences are held and the movie is taken out of Huston's hands cut down by a third and finally released with results that please no one and certainly not the public It was an expensive flop In Picture which Charlie Chaplin aptly described as brilliant and sagacious Ross is a gadfly on the wall taking note of the operations of a system designed to crank out mediocrity
