The Rabbi, the Goddess, and Jung Naomi Ruth Lowinsky, 2016-11-01 A sanctuary for the soul In The Rabbi the Goddess and Jung Naomi Ruth Lowinsky shows us how to create a sacred space by cultivating one's inner life Admitting that this is not an easy practice in our hectic fearful times she demonstrates how the word from within orients whether it comes as gift or disturbance guest or ghost riddle or revelation It may force a confrontation with one's worst fears It may visit in nightmare images such as the enormous spider with hairy legs and eight baleful eyes that appeared in a dream come to warn it would seem of the perils facing human nature and Mother Nature It is essential especially in difficult times to make space for what the Kabbalah calls the beyond that lies within the still small voice of the Self the long view of the wisdom traditions In this collection of poetic visionary essays Lowinsky tells stories of the Lady Tree who showed up when she was six and has wandered in and out of her life revealing her Goddess nature Active imagination enables her to work out unfinished business with ancestors including her father and Jung Dreams introduce her to her spirit guides and to a dancing rabbi who insists she study Kabbalah And that scary spider turns out to be Grandmother Spider a creator goddess who has the power if we recognize Her to help us reweave our relationship with earth

Visual Data, 2009-01-01 The visual inputs we receive can be collectively called visual data Precisely how one defines visual data is a key question to ask That is one of the questions we asked each author who wrote a chapter for this book If one comes to a decision with respect to what visual data are then the next question becomes What are visual data like Then What do they mean As with any data we can collect it and compile it but if we don't have some way to bring meaning to it it has little value to us The answers may not be as straightforward as one might assume at the outset The extent to which visual data permeates what we do as educators is such that it may be difficult to identify every discipline in which it emerges In this book we have tried to provide a forum for authors from a cross section of common disciplines visual arts English literacy mathematics science social science and even higher education administration
