Red Sorrow:

Red Sorrow Nanchu, 2012-03-08 At the outbreak of the Cultural Revolution 13 year old Nanchu watched Red Guards destroy her home and torture her parents whom they jailed She was left to fend for herself and her younger brother When she grew older she herself became a Red Guard and was sent to the largest work camp in China There she faced primitive conditions sexual harassment and the pressure to conform Eventually she was admitted to Madam Mao's university where politics were more important than learning Her testimony is essential reading for anyone interested in China or human rights

Asian American Fiction, History and Life Writing Helena Grice, 2012-11-12 The last ten years have witnessed an enormous growth in American interest in Asia and Asian American history In particular a set of key Asian historical moments have recently become the subject of intense American cultural scrutiny namely China's Cultural Revolution and its aftermath the Korean American war and its legacy the era of Japanese geisha culture and its subsequent decline and China's one child policy and the rise of transracial international adoption in its wake Grice examines and accounts for this cultural and literary preoccupation exploring the corresponding historical political situations that have both circumscribed and enabled greater cultural and political contact between Asia and America

The Red Door Shawn C. Harris, 2022-09-05 The story starts at a Jewish funeral fist after fist fills with cool damp earth It travels to Israel at Ben Gurion airport here she comes hauling her baggage rendered clumsy by her burden beneath that smooth brown skin that halo of thick coarse hair the plantation and the shtetl live in blood and memory her passport names her Tirzah Persephone Horowitz after an aunt on her dad's side who died so young in the camps and her mother's favorite Greek myth but to call her Tirzah is too much like uncovering her nakedness like speaking aloud the holy name and the holy city of Tzfat I am a city of song plucked strings of a lyre loud brassy klezmer throbbing techno beats shoes clomp clomping on cobblestone tires screeching on the asphalt river winding round my peak It features monsters Terry loves monsters loved them since her first pimples and pubes sneaking Dracula under the covers wondering what it would be like to feel a vampire's fangs on her neck to taste human blood in her mouth to transform into wolf or bat or mist but Dracula always dies staked and beheaded by good Christian men because magic and mystery must not survive And it ends No That would be telling Stories of Red Hanrahan W. B. Yeats, 2016-01-11 RED HANRAHAN Hanrahan the hedge schoolmaster a tall strong red haired young man came into the barn where some of the men of the village were sitting on Samhain Eve It had been a dwelling house and when the man that owned it had built a better one he had put the two rooms together and kept it for a place to store one thing or another There was a fire on the old hearth and there were dip candles stuck in bottles and there was a black quart bottle upon some boards that had been put across two barrels to make a table Most of the men were sitting beside the fire and one of them was singing a long wandering song about a Munster man and a Connaught man that were quarrelling about their two provinces Hanrahan went to the man of the house and said I got your message but when he had said that he stopped for an old mountainy man that had a shirt and trousers of unbleached flannel and that was sitting by himself near the door was looking at him and moving an old pack of cards about in his hands and muttering Don t mind him said the man of the house he is only some stranger came in awhile ago and we bade him welcome it being Samhain night but I think he is not in his right wits Listen to him now and you will hear what he is saying Prince, Goodbye Xian GongZi,2020-09-01 Once she transmigrated the Godly Doctor Leng Yue had become a combination of ugliness trash and evil Everyone viewed her as a ferocious beast but they couldn t avoid her The beloved crown prince treated her like nothing You think the scar on her face is ugly With a wave of her hand the medicine reached Scar returning her face to the heavens Calling her trash Sorry but sister has top grade spiritual roots I can only blame you for being blind Watch as my wondrous hands come back to life and my heaven defying meridians open

of an extremely rich and diverse tradition of women's writing of the imperial period 221 B C E 1911 C E Many of these writings are of considerable literary quality Others provide us with moving insights into the lives and feelings of a surprisingly diverse group of women living in Confucian China a society that perhaps more than any other is known for its patriarchal tradition Because of the burgeoning interest in the study of both premodern and modern women in China several scholarly books articles and even anthologies of women's poetry have been published in the last two decades This anthology differs from previous works by offering a glimpse of women's writings not only in poetry but in other genres as well including essays and letters drama religious writing and narrative fiction The authors have presented the selections within their respective biographical and historical contexts This comprehensive approach helps to clarify traditional Chinese ideas on the nature and function of literature as well as on the role of the woman writer

Breakthrough Shirley Marie McCarther, Donna M. Davis, 2023-05-01 The History of Education Series presents historical analyses and interpretations of matters of concern to education Each volume in the series is developed and edited in partnership with the Organization of Educational Historians who since 1965 has endeavored to promote the pursuit of educational history through opportunities for presentation and discussion of papers at annual meetings to advance and improve the teaching of the history of education in institutions of higher education to cultivate fruitful relationships between scholars in the history of education and to encourage promising young scholars in the field of history of education

ENDORSEMENT Without question Breakthrough From Pandemic Panic to Promising Practice is a volume that will stand out as a major contribution to our understanding of COVID 19 and its unfolding impact on education and society Under the guidance of Drs McCarther and Davis the contributing authors provide an excellent explication of the devastating impact of COVID 19 while at the same time presenting voices of hope and promise with its emphasis on human sacrifice endurance and resilience to survive This is a must read Bruce A Jones Howard University East-West Symbioses Eugene Eoyang,2019-03-15 This book explores the encounters between East and West studying how they get along These exchanges involve deliberate exoticizations and incommensurabilities as well as creative fusions such as Matteo Ricci a Jesuit monk in the late 16th early 17th centuries who learned Chinese in Beijing well enough to compose works in Chinese and Octavio Paz the Mexican Nobel Laureate who admired Chinese civilization The book also considers the effect of the West on Asian countries the cases of Japan and Turkey who tried to modernize by becoming more Western and the examples of China and Korea who adopted Western forms of theatre to advance a distinctly Asian aesthetic It will appeal to anyone seeking more than a superficial understanding of the encounters between East and West
