Mandelas Children Growing Up In Post Apartheid South Africa:

Mandela's Children Oscar A. Barbarin, Linda M. Richter, 2013-11-26 There is a gap between the hope for improved social conditions in post apartheid South Africa and the grim reality of black life there is especially striking for South African children who face serious threats to their health and development as a consequence of poverty racism violence and residual social inequality Mandela's Children presents the contrasting conditions of hope and peril that characterize life in South African families schools and communities Using empirical data and qualitative case studies the authors analyze and discuss research on children's behavioral emotional and academic development and how they are influenced by community violence household poverty and family functioning This discussion is balanced by one that considers the competence health and resilience of South African children

Children and Young People's Relationships Samantha Punch, Kay Tisdall, 2016-04-08 This book challenges the current state of childhood studies by exploring children and young people's agency and relationships It considers how recent theorisations of relationships and relational processes can move childhood studies forward particularly in relation to re thinking claims of children and young people's agency and uncritical assertions around children and young people's participation and voice It does this by bringing together case studies of children's inter generational and intra generational relationships from both the Majority and Minority Worlds The main themes include negotiated power agency across contexts and negotiations of identity The chapters show both the heritage of childhood studies particularly within the UK and where it may be going One of the key aims of the book is to add to the limited but growing cross world dialogue that encourages cross cultural learning from research and practice in both Majority and Minority World contexts leading towards a more integrated global approach to childhood studies This book was published as a special issue of Children's Geographies

Youth Violence Catherine Ward, Andrew Dawes, Amelia van der Merwe, 2012-01-25 Youth violence Sources and solutions in South Africa thoroughly and carefully reviews the evidence for risk and protective factors that influence the likelihood of young people acting aggressively Layers of understanding are built by viewing the problem from a multitude of perspectives including the current situation in which South African youth are growing up perspectives from developmental psychology the influences of race class and gender and of the media The book then reviews the evidence for effective interventions in the contexts of young people's lives, their homes, their schools, their leisure activities, with gangs in the criminal justice system in cities and neighbourhoods and with sexual offenders. In doing so, thoughtful suggestions are made for keeping an evidence-based perspective while necessarily adapting interventions for developing world contexts such as South Africa. Youth violence in South Africa: Sources and solutions is a valuable addition to the library of anyone who has ever wondered about youth violence or wanted to do something about it. A Child's Mind Required! Mary Lindner, 2010-08-18

As children grow up, they discover taboo areas in their environment and in life. They are in need of advice to prevent them from placing themselves in risky situations. The primary preventive approach to a life skills programme on HIV/AIDS and sex education called Child Mind Project can be seen as such an initiative. Bodies of Knowledge Efua Prah, Susan Levine, 2021-12-01

Spanning the countries of South Africa, Swaziland and Ghana, this collection of work brings into focus child and youth experience together as a collage of anthropology, creative writing, poetry and the fine arts. Woven together by questions related to the political economy of child and youth, well-being, identity formation and the multiple layers through which children articulate their health narrative, Bodies of Knowledge considers living in and coping with chronic illness, spirit possession and death. The growth in Critical Health Humanities and the Arts globally suggests the desire for blended efforts to draw in a wider breadth of knowledge that cuts across the divided worlds of critical social science and the arts. This book set in an African context offers myriad possibilities for cross-disciplinary synergies as learning sites. It is a critical contribution to the field of children and childhood studies. Ageing in Sub-Saharan Africa Jaco Hoffman, Katrien Pype, 2018-01-24

A collection of in-depth ethnographic analyses of the impact of local and global transformations on the care or lack of received by older people in sub-Saharan Africa. International Perspectives on Children and Mental Health Hiram E. Fitzgerald, Kaija Puura M.D., Mark Tomlinson, Campbell Paul, 2011-07-06

This unprecedented set examines the most prominent factors that harm or support healthy development in children outside the United States, from abuse and economics to social injustice and poor public policy. In International Perspectives on Children and Mental Health, expert contributors from around the world examine the forces affecting the psychological well-being of children in regions worldwide. They consider such factors as family conditions and economic status, including single parents, poverty, disease, war, child abuse, substance abuse in the home and a loss of community stability. And they look at political, religious, national and global matters, including racism and class inequality. Since education is key to children's success, the essays consider these factors largely in the context of how they affect educational readiness and academic adjustment. Volume 1 of the set considers development and context, while volume 2 focuses on prevention and treatment. Specific examples enable readers to better understand the often horrific challenges to child development and mental health across nations. But the work is not limited to exploring problems. It also looks at various programs and actions that mitigate risks, helping children to be mentally healthy despite the odds. Black Youth Aspirations Botshabelo Maja, 2021-11-10

book is about how to trigger the capacity to aspire among black youth Examining the transition out of adulthood and imagined futures of black youth Maja helps us understand how black youth aspirations might be raised and how a better future for young people can be achieved The Developing Child in the 21st Century Sandra Smidt, 2013-06-19 Offering a sociocultural approach to education and learning this fascinating exploration of childhood provides an in depth understanding of how children make sense of the world and the people in it Examining the ways in which children express their thoughts feelings and actively generate meaning through experience and interaction this fully revised and updated new edition is illustrated throughout by extensive case studies and covers a diverse range of topics including socio historical and global child development over time and place the child as meaning maker and active learner learning in the context of family culture group society representing and re representing the world understanding roles identity race and gender making sense of science and technology the implications of neuroscience Taking a clearly articulated and engaging perspective Sandra Smidt draws upon multiple sources and ideas to illustrate many of the facets of the developing child in a contemporary context She depicts children as symbol users role players investigators and creative thinkers and follows children s progress in forming their understanding of their environment asking questions about it and expressing it through music dance art and constructive play Highly accessible and with points for reflection concluding each chapter The Developing Child is essential reading for teachers lecturers and students taking courses in early childhood psychology or sociology
