Manning The Race Reforming Black Men In The Jim Crow Era:

Manning the Race Marlon B. Ross, 2004-06 Explores how African American men have been marketed embodied and imaged for the purposes of racial advancement during the first half of the 20th C

New Negro Politics in the Jim Crow South Claudrena N. Harold, 2016-10-01 This study details how the development and maturation of New Negro politics and thought were shaped not only by New York based intellectuals and revolutionary transformations in Europe but also by people ideas and organizations rooted in the South Claudrena N Harold probes into critical events and developments below the Mason Dixon Line sharpening our understanding of how many black activists along with particular segments of the white American Left arrived at their views on the politics of race nationhood and the capitalist political economy Focusing on Garveyites A Philip Randolph s militant unionists and black anti imperialist protest groups among others Harold argues that the South was a largely overlooked incubator of black protest activity between World War I and the Great Depression The activity she uncovers had implications beyond the region and adds complexity to a historical moment in which black southerners provided exciting organizational models of grassroots labor activism assisted in the revitalization of black nationalist politics engaged in robust intellectual arguments on the future of the South and challenged the governance of historically black colleges To uplift the race and by extension transform the world New Negro southerners risked social isolation ridicule and even death Their stories are reminders that black southerners played a crucial role not only in African Americans revolutionary quest for political empowerment ontological clarity and existential freedom but also in the global struggle to bring forth a more just and democratic world free from racial subjugation dehumanizing labor practices and colonial oppression

Identity and the Failure of America John Michael, 2008 From Thomas Jefferson to John Rawls justice has been at the center of America s self image and national creed At the same time for many of its peoples from African slaves and European immigrants to women and the poor the American experience has been defined by injustice oppression disenfranchisement violence and prejudice In Identity and the Failure of America John Michael explores the contradictions between a mythic national identity promising justice to all and the realities of a divided hierarchical and frequently iniquitous history and social order Through a series of insightful readings Michael analyzes such cultural moments as the epic dramatization of the tension between individual ambition and communal complicity in Moby Dick attempts to effect social change through sympathy in the novels of Lydia Marie Child and Harriet Beecher Stowe Ralph Waldo Emerson s antislavery activism and Frederick Douglass s long fight for racial equity and the divisive figures of John Brown and Nat Turner in American letters and memory Focusing on exemplary instances when the nature of the United States as an essentially conflicted nation turned to force Michael ultimately posits the development of a more cosmopolitan American identity one that is more fully and justly imagined in response to the nation s ethical failings at home and abroad John Michael is professor of English and of visual and cultural studies at the University of Rochester He is the author of Anxious Intellectuals

Dividing Lines Andréa N. Williams, 2013-01-02 One of the most extensive studies of class in nineteenth century African American literature to date Dividing Lines unveils how black fiction writers represented the uneasy relationship between class differences racial solidarity and the quest for civil rights in black communities By portraying complex highly stratified communities with a growing black middle class these authors dispelled notions that black Americans were uniformly poor or uncivilized The book argues that the signs of class anxiety are embedded in postbellum fiction from the verbal stammer or prim speech of class conscious characters to fissures in the fiction's form Andre N Williams delves into the familiar and lesser known works of Frances E W Harper Pauline Hopkins Charles W Chesnutt Sutton Griggs and Paul Laurence Dunbar showing how these texts mediate class through discussions of labor moral respectability ancestry spatial boundaries and skin complexion Dividing Lines also draws on reader responses from book reviews editorials and letters to show how the class anxiety expressed in African American fiction directly sparked reader concerns over the status of black Americans in the U S social order Weaving literary history with compelling textual analyses this study yields new insights about the intersection of race and class in black novels and short stories from the 1880s to 1900s The Condemnation of Blackness Khalil

Gibran Muhammad, 2019-07-22 Chronicling the emergence of deeply embedded notions of black people as a dangerous race of criminals by explicit contrast to working class whites and European immigrants this fascinating book reveals the influence such ideas have had on urban development and social policies Democracy's Reconstruction Katharine Lawrence Balfour, 2011-03-16 In Democracy's Reconstruction the latest addition to Cathy Cohen and Fredrick Harris's Transgressing Boundaries series noted political theorist Lawrie Balfour challenges a longstanding tendency in political theory the disciplinary division that separates political theory proper from the study of black politics Political theory rarely engages with black political thinkers despite the fact that the problem of racial inequality is central to the entire enterprise of American political theory To address this lacuna she focuses on the political thought of W E B Du Bois particularly his longstanding concern with the relationship between slavery's legacy and the prospects for democracy in the era he lived in Balfour utilizes Du Bois as an intellectual resource applying his method of addressing contemporary problems via the historical prism of slavery to address some of the fundamental racial divides and inequalities in contemporary America By establishing his theoretical method to study these historical connections she positions Du Bois's work in the political theory canon similar to the status it already has in history sociology philosophy and literature A Freedom Bought with Blood Jennifer C.

James, 2012-09-01 In the first comprehensive study of African American war literature Jennifer James analyzes fiction poetry autobiography and histories about the major wars waged before the desegregation of the U S military in 1948 Examining literature about the Civil War the Spanish American Wars World War I and World War II James introduces a range of rare and understudied texts by writers such as Victor Daly F Grant Gilmore William Gardner Smith and Susie King Taylor She argues that works by these as well as canonical writers such as William Wells Brown Paul Laurence Dunbar and Gwendolyn Brooks mark a distinctive contribution to African American letters In establishing African American war literature as a long standing literary genre in its own right James also considers the ways in which this writing centered as it is on moments of national crisis complicated debates about black identity and African Americans claims to citizenship In a provocative assessment James argues that the very ambivalence over the use of violence as a political instrument defines African American war writing and creates a compelling contradictory body of literature that defies easy summary

The Radical Fiction of Ann Petry Keith Clark, 2013-06-03 This welcome study delivers a long overdue analysis of the works of Ann Petry 1908 1997 a major mid twentieth century African American author Primarily known as the sole female member of the Wright School of Social Protest Petry has been most recognized for her 1946 novel The Street about a woman s struggle to raise her son in a hardscrabble Harlem neighborhood Keith Clark moves beyond assessments of Petry as a sort of literary descendent of Richard Wright to acclaim her innovative approaches to gender performance sexuality and literary technique Engaging a variety of disciplinary frameworks including gothic criticism masculinity and gender studies queer theory and psychoanalytic theory Clark offers fresh readings of Petry s three novels and collection of short stories Clark explores for example Petry s use of terror in The Street where both blacks and whites appear physically and psychically monstrous He also identifies the use of dark comedy and the macabre in her startling depictions of race class gender construction and sexual identity in the stories The Bones of Louella Brown and The Witness Petry s overlooked second novel Country Place set in a deceptively serene bucolic Connecticut hamlet camouflages a world as palsied and nightmarish as the Harlem of her previous work While confirming the black feminist dimensions of Petry s writing Clark also assesses the writer s representations of an array of black and white masculine behaviors some socially sanctioned others transgressive and taboo in her unheralded masterpiece The Narrows and her widely anthologized short story Like a Winding Sheet Expansive in scope The Radical Fiction of Ann Petry foregrounds and analyzes Petry s unique concerns and agile techniques re introducing and situating her among more celebrated male contemporaries
