

Haynes: "The days at the Mine were life-changing. For me, they were magical. If I could go back to when he played, I'd have loved to make an entrance into a community party at one of my brother's shoulders the way he did one night after a big game. I know he has played a game where I got hurt in the second quarter and the one back and was it in the fourth like he did against Georgia. I wanted all the things he had. I wanted to have the girls look at me twice and walk through camps and have people I didn't know smile and say hello. I'm not sure you could ever quite completely experience what he had then. It was a different time."

With "The water the situation on the field was deteriorating rapidly and the winds blew the clouds away, O'Brien was sitting there hunched under the trees as the soldiers heard plunging waters mixing with the booming boom behind the second assault and it was Cooper and Poyner. 'Red Bee, Red Bee!' At once went and fire, they 'had taken men into their own hands.'"

"Yes," he answered, "made up my mind to go in with the best possible attitude and the best possible work ethic. If I wasn't in there, I was doing something to make myself a more useful player. I was in the training room every available minute, hanging around the edge of it . . . And when practice started, I was so anxious to apply what I was learning that you could hear me yell. If the quarterbacks were scheduled to throw at me, I'd be downed and at home, looking for someone to throw to. I was determined to win. It was almost not as hard, looking for someone to throw to. I was determined to win. It was almost not as hard, looking for someone to throw to. I was determined to win."

Topic: "My overall impression of the [2002] NFL Draft Process was positive in the position of being a [2002] NFL Draft Prospect.
I felt like I was part of something big. I was part of something big."
[Interviewer's note: This statement is a paraphrase of the above.]

Peyton Manning J.D. Rockefeller, 2016-04-20 Talent wins games but teamwork and intelligence win championships This perfectly describes the popular game football Many may not be a great fan of this game like other sports but many had already considered football to be part of their lives Teamwork together with intelligence is the two most important ingredients for a group to win in a football game This is not just the secret to win a football game but also value that one can treasure in his life That is why in some schools the physical education teaches sports like football to all their students And for students who are football die hard fans there is a football superstar you will be truly captivated by his skills and that is none other than Peyton Manning
