

The background image is a dark, moody photograph of a brick building at night. A set of stone steps leads up from the bottom right towards the center of the frame. The building's facade is made of dark bricks, and some windows or architectural details are visible in the upper left. Lush, dark green tropical plants, including palm trees, are situated around the base of the building and along the steps. The overall lighting is low, creating a mysterious and sophisticated atmosphere.
