Persuasion after Rhetoric in the Eighteenth Century and Romanticism Yasmin Solomonescu, Stefan H. Uhlig, 2024-07-18 While the question of how rhetoric lost authority to modern philosophical and scientific inquiry has drawn much scrutiny we have paid less attention to how values that were once bound up with rhetoric were rearticulated after its demise This volume explores how persuasion ceased to be the seemingly self-evident objective of rhetoric and became instead a variable and substantive focus for discussion in its own right After rhetoric ceded much of its centrality to logic and empirical procedures the significance and implications of persuasion were the subject of renewed attention in a range of different fields including philosophy law poetry novels botany cultural criticism historiography political thought and public lecturing Persuasion after Rhetoric in the Eighteenth Century and Romanticism maps how values of persuasion were adapted and diversified in ways that still resonate with current arguments about conviction understanding and belief Contributors address the figurations of persuasion in a range of theorists and writers from Jean Jacques Rousseau Adam Smith Immanuel Kant Edmund Burke and Mary Wollstonecraft to Samuel Richardson Jane Austen Thomas De Quincey Thomas Campbell William Hazlitt Heinrich Heine William Lloyd Garrison and Frances Ellen Watkins Harper This collection offers a detailed account of persuasive interests at the threshold of modernity It also prompts us to rethink persuasion now that its continued efficacy seems at risk in a fragmented public sphere

Saving Persuasion Bryan Garsten, 2009-03-31 In today's increasingly polarized political landscape it seems that fewer and fewer citizens hold out hope of persuading one another Even among those who have not given up on persuasion few will admit to practicing the art of persuasion known as rhetoric To describe political speech as rhetoric today is to accuse it of being superficial or manipulative In Saving Persuasion Bryan Garsten uncovers the early modern origins of this suspicious attitude toward rhetoric and seeks to loosen its grip on contemporary political theory Revealing how deeply concerns about rhetorical speech shaped both ancient and modern political thought he argues that the artful practice of persuasion ought to be viewed as a crucial part of democratic politics He provocatively suggests that the aspects of rhetoric that seem most dangerous the appeals to emotion religious values and the concrete commitments and identities of particular communities are also those which can draw out citizens capacity for good judgment Against theorists who advocate a rationalized ideal of deliberation aimed at consensus Garsten argues that a controversial politics of partiality and passion can produce a more engaged and more deliberative kind of democratic discourse
