Simple French Cooking Xavier Marcel Boulestin, 1925 The Player Bookazine Issue 24
The Player, 2013-11-30 Food and Cooking on Early Television in Europe Ana Tominc, 2022-02-14

This collection critically examines the role of food programming on European early television and the impact this might have had on food habits and identities for the European audiences. It foregrounds various food programme genres from travelog, cooking show, and TV cooking competition to more artistic forms. For the first time, it examines in one place eight European countries from Portugal to Czechoslovakia and Britain to France and Yugoslavia to explore ways in which television contributed to culinary change, demonstrating differences and similarities in which early food programme in Europe shaped and promoted progress, modernity, gender, and national identities in both Eastern and Western Europe. Featuring a number of archival images that illustrate early food programme visually, this collection complements other research into postwar food history, adding a perspective of visual medium that is often neglected. As such, it should be interesting for food and media historians as well as those interested in European postwar history and culture.

A Treasury of Great Recipes, 50th Anniversary Edition Price, Vincent, Price, Mary, 2015-10-09
Good cooking is where you find it, according to the authors of this unique collection, whose international smorgasbord ranges from the haute cuisine of Europe's finest restaurants to the juicy hot dogs at Dodger Stadium. In perhaps the first celebrity cookbook, famed actor Vincent Price and his wife Mary present mouthwatering recipes from around the world in simplified, unpretentious forms that anyone can make and enjoy. Selected from London's The Ivy, Madrid's Palace Hotel, New York's Sardi's, and other legendary establishments, the recipes are accompanied by witty commentaries, while color photos and atmospheric drawings by Fritz Kredel make this one of the most beautiful books of its kind. Includes a Retrospective Preface by the couple's daughter, Victoria Price, and a new Foreword by Wolfgang Puck.

East End Paradise Jojo Tulloh, 2013-09-30
Those of us living in towns and cities might think that the pleasures of growing our own food, watching the seasons pass with the changing produce, and getting our hands stuck into the soil are beyond our reach. But a growing number of urban dwellers are realising that there are ways of connecting with the land and enjoying the sheer pleasure of watching something grow without giving up the joys of living in the city. Jojo Tulloh takes us to her inner city allotment and guides us through a year of cooking inspired by the food that has sprung from her surprisingly fertile patch of East London waste ground English Language Cookbooks, 1600-1973 Lavonne B. Axford, 1976 The Routledge Handbook of Sustainable Food and Gastronomy Philip Sloan, Willy Legrand, Clare Hindley, 2015-06-12

The issues surrounding the provision preparation and development of food products is fundamental to every human being on the planet. Given the scarcity of agricultural land, environmental pollution, climate change, and the exponential growth of the world's population, where starvation and obesity are both widespread, it is little wonder that exploring the frontiers of food is now a major focus for researchers and practitioners. This timely Handbook provides a systematic guide to the current state of knowledge on sustainable food. It begins by analyzing the historical development surrounding food production and consumption, then moves on to discuss the current food crisis and challenges, as well as the impacts linked to modern agriculture and food security. Finally, it concludes with a section that examines emerging sustainable food trends and movements, in addition to an analysis of current food science innovations. Developed from specifically commissioned original contributions, the Handbook's inherent multidisciplinary approach paves the way for deeper understanding of all aspects linked to the evolution of food in society, including insights into local food, food and tourism, organic food, indigenous and traditional food, sustainable restaurant practices, consumption patterns, and sourcing. This book is essential reading for students, researchers, and academics interested in the possibilities of sustainable forms of gastronomy and gastronomy's contribution to sustainable development. The title includes a foreword written by Roberto Flore, Head Chef at the Nordic Food Lab, Copenhagen, Denmark.

Picnic Crumbs Anabel Loyd, 2014-01-01 A collection of stories from all sorts of people over several centuries.

Fishes with Funny French Names Debra Kelly, 2021-12-02 This book tells the story of what happens when an essentially Parisian institution travels and establishes itself in its neighbour's capital city, bringing with it French food culture and culinary practices. The arrival and evolution of the French restaurant in the British capital is a tale of culinary and cultural exchange and of continuity and change in the development of London's dining out culture. Although the main character of this story is the French restaurant, this cultural history also necessarily engages with the people who produce, purvey, purchase, and consume that food culture in many different ways and in many different settings in London over a period of some one hundred and fifty years. British references to France and to the French are littered with associations with food, whether it is desired, rejected, admired, loathed, envied, disdained, from the status of haute cuisine and the restaurants and chefs associated with it, to contemporary concerns about food poverty and food waste, to dietary habits and the politicisation of food, and at every level in between. However, thinking about the place of the French restaurant in London restaurant and food culture over a long time span in many and varied places and spaces in the capital creates a more nuanced picture than that which may at first seem obvious.

Lustful Appetites Rachel Hope Cleves, 2024-11-18 We take the edible trappings of flirtation for granted: chocolate-covered strawberries and romance oysters on the half shell, and desire the eggplant emoji and a suggestive wink. But why does it feel so natural for us to link food and sexual pleasure? Rachel Hope

Cleves explores the long association between indulging in good food and an appetite for naughty sex from the development of the Parisian restaurant as a place for men to meet with prostitutes and mistresses to the role of sexual outlaws like bohemians new women lesbians and gay men in creating epicurean culture in Britain and the United States Taking readers on a gastronomic journey from Paris and London to New York Chicago and San Francisco Lustful Appetites reveals how this preoccupation changed the ways we eat and the ways we are intimate while also creating stigmas that persist well into our own twenty first century
