Ruhland,2025-06-02 This volume interrogates the role of the manuscript medium in conveying history to medieval and early modern readers The contributors adopt a capacious understanding of history to explore history writing in its materiality from a variety of methodological and disciplinary perspectives The core contentions of this book are that the material features of manuscripts helped shaping historical narratives and defining history conceptually and that therefore the makers of these manuscripts played an instrumental role in history writing alongside authors Ranging from the ninth to the sixteenth centuries and comprising materials from across Western Europe in Latin and the vernaculars the ten chapters of this volume uncover stakes and strategies tied to highly specific contexts such as late thirteenth century Corbie or fifteenth century Zurich yet partaking in a shared practice of history writing with manuscripts Manuscript makers made history through layout rewriting illumination compilation choice of script and annotation and conferred history writing its material dimension This volume therefore situates the writing of history in its material dimension and invites us to consider medieval and early modern historiography in its medium Postmodern Traces and Recent Hindi Novels Veronica Ghirardi,2021-07-06

Postmodernism is a notoriously elusive concept and still the object of critical debates among scholars across a range of different disciplines. In literature, in particular, these debates are complicated by postmodern styles emanating from outside the concept's Western origins. By analyzing contemporary Hindi novels and drawing on both Western and Hindi literary criticism, Postmodern Traces and Recent Hindi Novels aims to understand some of the manifestations of postmodernism in contemporary Hindi fiction, including ways the latter might challenge the traditional parameters of postmodern literature. This book is essential reading for scholars and students specializing in South Asian studies and both postcolonial and comparative literature. It will also interest the general reader curious to know more about one of the less explored areas of world literature.

Defying Gravity Michael Syrotinski, 1998-04-02 Defying Gravity is a major reassessment of the work of Jean Paulhan within the context of his own times as well as in the light of contemporary debates in literary theory. Best known for his long serving editorship of the influential Parisian literary review La Nouvelle Revue Française, Paulhan is now widely acknowledged as one of the most central yet least understood figures of twentieth century French intellectual and literary history. Syrotinski's study admirably performs the dual purpose of introducing a genuinely innovative and distinctive writer to a general anglophone readership while engaging critically with his texts and their reception. Syrotinski's readings of Paulhan are both original and provocative and firmly establish him as an unavoidable point of reference for twentieth century French literary history and theory.
