Constructing a Place of Critical Architecture in China Guanghui Ding, 2016-03-09 For the past 30 years The Chinese journal Time Architecture Shidai Jianzhu has focused on publishing innovative and exploratory work by emerging architects based in private design firms who were committed to new material theoretical and pedagogical practices In doing so this book argues that the journal has engaged in the presentation and production of a particular form of critical architecture described as an intermediate criticality as a response to the particular constraints of the Chinese cultural and political context The journal s publications displayed a dual critique a resistant attitude to the dominant modes of commercial building practice characterised by rapid and large scale urban expansion and an alternative publishing practice focusing on emerging independent architectural practitioners through the active integration of theoretical debates architectural projects and criticisms This dual critique is illustrated through a careful review and analysis of the history and programme of the journal By showing how the work of emerging architects including Yung Ho Chang Wang Shu Liu Jiakun and Urbanus are situated within the context of the journal s special thematic editions on experimental architecture exhibition group design new urban space and professional system the book assesses the contribution the journal has made to the emergence of a critical architecture in China in the context of how it was articulated debated presented and perhaps even produced within the pages of the publication itself The protagonists of critical architecture have endeavoured to construct an alternative mode of form and space with strong aesthetic and socio political implications to the predominant production of architecture under the current Chinese socialist market economy To rebel against certain forms of domination and suppression by capital and power is by no means to completely reject them rather it is to use thos

Modernism in Late-Mao China Ke Song, 2023-04-28 This book investigates the architectural history of China in the Mao era 1949 1976 focusing on the rise of modernism in the last seven years of the Cultural Revolution from 1969 to 1976 It highlights the new architecture of this period exemplified by three clusters of buildings for foreign affairs namely buildings for foreign diplomacy in Beijing buildings for foreign trade in Guangzhou and China s foreign aid projects overseas The emergence of new architecture in the early 1970s is closely associated with China s political and diplomatic shift of the time from a radical emphasis on ideological struggle to a dynamic balance between leftist ideology and pragmatic concerns In this context China s relations with the West quickly improved culminating with American president Richard Nixon s visit to China in 1972 The increasing foreign affairs brought new opportunities to Chinese architects who referenced both Western modernism and Chinese architectural traditions to create a new version of Chinese modernism The book brings dimensions of form politics and knowledge to the analysis of architecture to construct an understanding of architectural design as an aesthetic political and intellectual practice Modernism in Late Mao China will be an enriching and useful reference for students and scholars who are interested in the global architectural history of the twentieth century especially Cold War modernism

Cody,2021-01-15 Building in China is about striking an architectural balance between the pull of monumental tradition and the push of technological novelty Centering on the dynamic period of post imperial and pre Communist China the book focuses on the building and city planning initiatives of Henry Murphy a little known American architect who initially ventured to China in 1914 to design a campus for the Yale in China programme but who then found himself captivated by a professional and cultural challenge that lasted two decades how to preserve China s rich architectural traditions while also designing new buildings using up to date Western technologies Murphy s buildings were compromises wine in old bottles as he once called them and the book uses those tles as lenses through which to understand not only Murphy s quest to find a middle ground for his architecture in China but also to gaze at a tumultuous society facing an uncertain future Murphy s buildings were more than vessels for either aesthetic visions or technical expertise inadvertently they became political emblems as Chinese rulers such as Chiang Kai shek and Sun Yat sen s son called on Murphy for city planning advice to complement their hopes for urban reconstruction There are few serious studies of Western architects in the twentieth century who practiced in non Western contexts and those scant studies that have been published concentrate largely on British French or Dutch examples in colonial settings Hence the book makes significant contributions to the fields of both American and Chinese architectural history Online Society in China David Kurt Herold,Peter Marolt,2011-03-25 This book discusses the rich and varied culture of China s online society and its impact on offline China It argues that the internet in China is a separate space in which individuals and institutions emerge and interact While offline and online spaces are connected and influence each other the Chinese internet is more than merely a technological or media extension of offline Chinese society Instead of following existing studies by locating online China in offline society the contributors in this book discuss the carnival of the Chinese internet on its own terms Examining the complex relationship between government officials and the people using the Internet in China this book demonstrates that culture is highly influential in how technology is used Discussing a wide range of different activities the contributors examine what Chinese people actually do on the internet and how their actions can be interpreted within the online society they are creating Restless Empire Odd Arne Westad,2012-08-28 As the twenty first century dawns China stands at a crossroads The largest and most populous country on earth and currently the world s second biggest economy China has recently reclaimed its historic place at the center of global affairs after decades of internal chaos and disastrous foreign relations. But even as China tentatively reengages with the outside world, the contradictions of its development risks pushing it back into an era of insularity and instability, a regression that as China's recent history shows would have serious implications for all other nations. In Restless Empire, award-winning historian Odd Arne Westad traces China's complex foreign affairs over the past 250 years, identifying the forces that will determine the country's path in the decades to come. Since the height of the Qing Empire in the eighteenth century, China's interactions and confrontations with foreign powers have caused its worldview to fluctuate wildly between extremes of dominance and subjugation, emulation and defiance. From the invasion of Burma in the 1760s to the Boxer Rebellion in the early 20th century to the 2001 standoff over a downed U.S. spy plane, many of these encounters have left Chinese with a lingering sense of humiliation and resentment and inflamed their notions of justice, hierarchy, and Chinese centrality in world affairs. Recently, China's rising influence on the world stage has shown what the country stands to gain from international cooperation and openness. But as Westad shows, the nation's success will ultimately hinge on its ability to engage with potential international partners while simultaneously safeguarding its own strength and stability. An in-depth study by one of our most respected authorities on international relations and contemporary East Asian history, Restless Empire is essential reading for anyone wishing to understand the recent past and probable future of this dynamic and complex nation.

Transnational Buildings in Local Environments Luciana Melchert Saguas Presas, 2017-11-22. By focusing on the skyscraping transnational building, this book bridges two key debates on the transformation and emerging problems besetting major cities: globalization and ecological and sustainable building design. While such structures tend to be constructed and/or used by transnational companies and are generally viewed as emblems of a global city, they nevertheless impact seriously on their local environment, posing numerous environmental burdens on it. By examining office blocks held by multinational firms in Amsterdam, São Paulo, and Beijing, the book analyses how transnational buildings might be made sustainable. It compares and contrasts the different social mechanisms that are or may be in place and how sustainable building practices that are being activated in certain locations could be adopted elsewhere.

La Chine - Livre de l'élève - Edition 2000 Dominique Borne, Jacques Scheibling, Thierry Sanjuan, 2000-03-06. Au programme du CAPES et de l'agrégation. Ce livre analyse les aspects de la réalité chinoise indispensables pour en comprendre le développement contemporain en repérer les structures sociales et spatiales, en identifier les permanences historiques et culturelles. Il laisse le plus souvent la parole aux faits singuliers qui permettent d'apprécier la complexité et les contradictions rivales d'une société en profonde mutation.

Between Solidarity and Economic Constraints Christoph Bernhardt, Andreas Butter, Monika Motylinska, 2023-04-27. Until the end of the Cold War in 1990, building projects and architectural icons played an important role in the self-portrayal of the competing systems. However, as the current research shows, we also find a large variety of forms of cooperation between the East, the South, and the West, not to forget the manifold cross-border entanglements within the South or the East This book explores the intersection of two strands of research On the one hand interaction in the field of architecture and construction between actors from socialist countries and from countries of the Global South have increasingly won interest amongst historians of architecture and planning On the other hand in the context of the strongly emerging Cold War Studies scholars have explored cooperation and circulation across the Iron Curtain with a focus on economic and research planning This book connects perspectives of planning construction and architectural design with those on economic interests and conflicts in projects and networks Furthermore it opens the view to the hubs of communication and exchange and on patterns of longterm transformation and appropriation of architecture
