Leone, Parker B. Potter (Jr.), 1988 Historical Archaeology Martin Hall, Stephen W. Silliman, 2009-02-09 This volume offers lively current debates and case studies in historical archaeology selected from around the world including North America Latin America Africa the Pacific and Europe Authored by 19 experts in the field Explores how historical archaeologists think about their work piecing together information from both material culture and documents in an attempt to understand the lives of the people and societies they study Engages with current theory in an accessible manner Truly global in its approach but avoids subsuming local experiences of people into global patterns Summarizes not only the current state of historical archaeology but also sets the course for the field in decades to come International Handbook of Historical Archaeology Teresita Majewski, David Gaimster, 2009-06-07 In studying the past archaeologists have focused on the material remains of our ancestors Prehistorians generally have only artifacts to study and rely on the diverse material record for their understanding of past societies and their behavior Those involved in studying historically documented cultures not only have extensive material remains but also contemporary texts images and a range of investigative technologies to enable them to build a broader and more reflexive picture of how past societies communities and individuals operated and behaved Increasingly historical archaeology refers not to a particular period place or a method but rather an approach that interrogates the tensions between artifacts and texts irrespective of context In short historical archaeology provides direct evidence for how humans have shaped the world we live in today Historical archaeology is a branch of global archaeology that has grown in the last 40 years from its North American base into an increasingly global community of archaeologists each studying their area of the world in a historical context Where historical archaeology started as part of the study of the post Columbian societies of the United States and Canada it has now expanded to interface with the post medieval archaeologies of Europe and the diverse post imperial experiences of Africa Latin America and Australasia The 36 essays in the International Handbook of Historical Archaeology have been specially commissioned from the leading researchers in their fields creating a wide ranging digest of the increasingly global field of historical archaeology The volume is divided into two sections the first reviewing the key themes issues and approaches of historical archaeology today and the second containing a series of case studies charting the development and current state of historical archaeological practice around the world This key reference work captures the energy and diversity of this global discipline today Interdisciplinary Investigations of the Boott Mills, Lowell, Massachusetts: The boarding house system as

Leone, Parker B. Potter, 1994-04-17 The Smithsonian Institution Press publishes a series of significant volumes in anthropology Each volume collects papers by leading scholars on aspects of a central topic A collection of original essays exploring the recovery of meaning from the historical archaeological record      Archaeologies of the Contemporary Past Victor Buchli, Gavin Lucas, 2002-01-04 Archaeologies of the Contemporary Past turns what is usually seen as a method for investigating the distant past onto the present In doing so it reveals fresh ways of looking both at ourselves and modern society as well as the discipline of archaeology This volume represents the most recent research in this area and examines a variety of contexts including Art Deco landfills miner strikes college fraternities an abandoned council house      African American Historic Places National Register of Historic Places, 1995-07-13 Culled from the records of the National Register of Historic Places a roster of all types of significant properties across the United States African American Historic Places includes over 800 places in 42 states and two U S territories that have played a role in black American history Banks cemeteries clubs colleges forts homes hospitals schools and shops are but a few of the types of sites explored in this volume which is an invaluable reference guide for researchers historians preservationists and anyone interested in African American culture Also included are eight insightful essays on the African American experience from migration to the role of women from the Harlem Renaissance to the Civil Rights Movement The authors represent academia museums historic preservation and politics and utilize the listed properties to vividly illustrate the role of communities and women the forces of migration the influence of the arts and heritage preservation and the struggles for freedom and civil rights Together they lead to a better understanding of the contributions of African Americans to American history They illustrate the events and people the designs and achievements that define African American history And they pay powerful tribute to the spirit of black America

I, Too, Am America Theresa A. Singleton, 1999 The moral mission archaeology set in motion by black activists in the 1960s and 1970s sought to tell the story of Americans particularly African Americans forgotten by the written record Today the archaeological study of African American life is no longer simply an effort to capture unrecorded aspects of black history or to exhume the heritage of a neglected community Archaeologists now recognize that one cannot fully comprehend the European colonial experience in the Americas without understanding its African counterpart This collection of essays reflects and extends the broad spectrum of scholarship arising from this expanded definition of African American archaeology treating such issues as the analysis and representation of cultural identity race gender and class cultural interaction and change relations of power and domination and the sociopolitics of archaeological practice I Too Am America expands African American archaeology into an inclusive historical vision and identifies promising areas for future study Global

Archaeological Theory Pedro Paulo Funari, Andrés Zarankin, Emily Stovel, 2006-04-07 Archaeological theory has gone through a great upheaval in the last 50 years from the processual theory which wanted to make archaeology more scientific to post processual theory which understands that interpreting human behavior even of past cultures is a subjective study This subjective approach incorporates a plurality of readings thereby implying that different interpretations are always possible allowing us to modify and change our ideas under the light of new information and or interpretive frameworks In this way interpretations form a continuous flow of transformation and change and thus archaeologists do not uncover a real past but rather construct a historical past or a narrative of the past Post processual theory also incorporates a conscious and explicit political interest on the past of the scholar and the subject This includes fields and topics such as gender issues ethnicity class landscapes and consumption This reflects a conscious attempt to also decentralize the discipline from an imperialist point of view to an empowering one Method and theory also means being politically aware and engaged to incorporate diverse critical approaches to improve understanding of the past and the present This book focuses on the fundamental theoretical issues found in the discipline and thus both engages and represents the very rich plurality of the post processual approach to archaeology The book is divided into four sections Issues in Archaeological Theory Archaeological Theory and Method in Action Space and Power in Material Culture and Images as Material Discourse

Detention Castles of Stone and Steel James C. Garman, 2005 Garman's research stands out as the most interesting and insightful archaeological analysis of an institution that I have read Randall McGuire Binghamton University The advent of the Enlightenment ignited many changes in the philosophical landscape of both the young American republic and its European counterparts Among the new ideals propagated was the notion of reforming society's deviants Contrary to the long held view that the purpose of the prison was primarily punishment a new and more optimistic mindset regarded prison as the principal agent of social and moral reform Consequently the 1830s saw a number of states and territories construct prisons dedicated to this new correctional ideology One such state was Rhode Island In Detention Castles of Stone and Steel James C Garman conducts an in depth study of the history of the first Rhode Island State Prison Based on extensive archaeological excavations and a rich trove of historical documents Garman gives a searching account of how a well intentioned effort by Rhode Island to reform its prison population turned into a spectacular boondoggle Indeed the state's supposed prison of the future was only in operation for forty years from 1838 to 1878 Garman looks at the prison landscape the changing labor regime and the contested notion of discipline in the Rhode Island State Prison Garman also seeks to answer why this project failed to accomplish its purpose of serving as a beacon of reform Detention Castles of Stone and Steel uncovers a variety of reasons for the prison's failure to live up to its noble ideals A large measure of the problem rested according to Garman with ambiguous intent legislative indifference and the drive to make the prison a source of profit as well as a site for reform for the state This book will be of great interest to anyone who is interested in historical archaeology nineteenth century history and social history National Capital Area Archeological Overview and Survey Plan Barbara J. Little, 1995 Biography of a Hacienda Elizabeth Terese Newman, 2014-04-17 Winner James Deetz Book Award Society for Historical Archaeology Biography of a Hacienda is a many voiced reconstruction of events leading up to the Mexican Revolution and the legacy that remains to the present day Drawing on ethnohistorical archaeological and ethnographic data Elizabeth Terese Newman creates a fascinating model of the interplay between the great events of the Revolution and the lives of everyday people In 1910 the Mexican Revolution erupted out of a century of tension surrounding land ownership and control over labor During the previous century the elite ruling classes acquired ever increasingly large tracts of land while peasants saw their subsistence and community independence vanish Rural working conditions became so oppressive that many resorted to armed rebellion After the war new efforts were made to promote agrarian reform and many of Mexico's rural poor were awarded the land they had farmed for generations Weaving together fiction memoir and data from her fieldwork Newman reconstructs life at the Hacienda San Miguel Acocotla a site located near a remote village in the Valley of Atlixco Puebla Mexico Exploring people's daily lives and how they affected the buildup to the Revolution and subsequent agrarian reforms the author draws on nearly a decade of interdisciplinary study of the Hacienda Acocotla and its descendant community Newman's archaeological research recovered information about the lives of indigenous people living and working there in the one hundred years leading up to the Mexican Revolution Newman shows how women were central to starting the revolt and she adds their voices to the master narrative Biography of a Hacienda concludes with a thoughtful discussion of the contribution of the agrarian revolution to Mexico's history and whether it has succeeded or simply transformed rural Mexico into a new global hacienda system Estate Landscapes : Design, Improvement and Power in the Post-medieval Landscape

Jonathan Finch, Katherine Giles, 2007 An exciting study of the social and landscape phenomena of the Estate Landscape In recent years the post medieval landscape has attracted new interest from archaeologists historians and geographers concerned to understand the development of the historic environment One of the key structuring elements within these landscapes from the sixteenth century until the aftermath of the Second World War was undoubtedly the landed estate However it was not until the late nineteenth century that any systematic attempt to quantify the presence of these estates was undertaken prompted by the move to democratic reform and the persistent link between political power and landed wealth Yet the importance of the landed estate in structuring power social relationships and both agricultural and industrial production was not limited to the UK From the eighteenth century the link between the UK estates and patterns of landholding and exploitation in the colonies became increasingly complex and recursive This volume explores the relationships between the form and structure of British and Colonial estate landscapes their agricultural management and the political structures and social relationships they reproduced The articles address themes as diverse as the creation and development of the agrarian landscape improvement ornamental landscapes and gardens and estate architecture Overall it highlights the wealth and diversity of existing scholarship and suggests new directions for post medieval archaeology in this dynamic area of research

Marx's Ghost Thomas C. Patterson, 2020-08-06 How did our current society come into being and how is it similar to as well as different from its predecessors These key questions have transfixed archaeologists anthropologists and historians for decades and strike at the very heart of intellectual debate across a wide range of disciplines Yet scant attention has been given to the key thinkers and theoretical traditions that have shaped these debates and the conclusions to which they have given rise This pioneering book explores the profound influence of one such thinker Karl Marx on the course of twentieth century archaeology Patterson reveals how Australian archaeologist V Gordon Childe in the late 1920s was the first to synthesize discourses from archaeologists sociologists and Marxists to produce a corpus of provocative ideas He analyzes how these ideas were received and rejected and moves on to consider such important developments as the emergence of a new archaeology in the 1960s and an explicitly Marxist strand of archaeology in the 1970s Specific attention is given to the discussion arenas of the 1990s where archaeologists of differing theoretical perspectives debated issues of historic specificity social transformation and inter regional interaction How did the debates in the 1990s pave the way for historical archaeologists to investigate the interconnections of class gender ethnicity and race In what ways did archaeologists make use of Marxist concepts such as contradiction and exploitation and how did they apply Marxist analytical categories to their work How did varying theoretical groups critique one another and how did they overturn or build upon past generational theories Marx's Ghost Conversations with Archaeologists provides an accessible guide to the theoretical arguments that have influenced the development of Anglophone archaeology from the 1930s onwards It will prove to be indispensable for archaeologists historians anthropologists and social and cultural theor

Archaeological Study of Rural Capitalism and Material Life Mark D. Groover, 2006-04-11 Historical archaeology has largely focused on the study of early military sites and homes of upper class. Research on lower classes was viewed as a supplement to local histories documenting political military and financial leaders of the 18th and 19th centuries. An Archaeological Study of Rural Capitalism and Material Life will be of interest to historical archaeologists, cultural anthropologists, social historians, and historical sociologists, especially researchers studying the influence of globalization and economic development upon rural regions like Appalachia.

Digging Into Popular Culture Ray Broadus Browne, Pat Browne, 1991 This volume presents archaeological studies in conjunction with cultural anthropological studies as a means to enhance popular culture studies. Scholar Malcolm K. Shuman points out that the study of archaeology must be careful to chart the total human content of an artifact because archaeology is a profoundly human and humanizing endeavor that cannot be divorced from the matrix of human life. The other ten essays cover aspects of archaeology and cultural anthropology, and the authors are meticulous in studying their subject in context.

The Origins of the Civilization of Angkor volume 2 Charles Higham, 2007-10-10 Noen U Loe and Non Muang Kao are two large moated prehistoric settlements in Nakhon Ratchasima Province, Northeast Thailand. Excavations in 1997-8 revealed a cultural sequence that began in the late Bronze Age, followed by four mortuary phases covering the Iron Age. This report describes the palaeoenvironment, excavation chronology, and material culture, human remains, and social structure of the prehistoric inhabitants of these two sites. It is the second volume reporting on the research programme The Origins of the Civilization of Angkor.
