Andrew David Hardy,2005 During the twentieth century several million rural inhabitants of Vietnam s northern delta made the decision to move home seeking new space for themselves in the country s highlands Their decisions and the settlements they created had wide ranging effects on their home communities and on the people and environment of their destinations Many migrations were made in response to policy decisions made in Hanoi first by the French colonial authorities and later by Vietnam s independent socialist states This ground breaking study of the settlements of Vietnam s highland regions offers a historical analysis of and provides profound insights into the political economy of migration both in Vietnam and elsewhere the Vietnamese highlands as settlers from the plains turned the hills red Placing people s experiences in the context of government policy and national history this book explores their anticipations difficulties achievements and disappointments high lighting the geopolitical importance of the highlands The study can be read as a contribution to migration studies in South east Asia but also as a grassroots history of 20th century Vietnam Written in a lively reading style and illustrated by numerous maps and photographs this study promises to become a classic in Vietnamese historical studies Rural-Urban

Periods of Chinese French and Japanese rule reshaped and modernized Vietnam but so too did the colonial enterprises of the Vietnamese themselves as they extended their influence southward from the Red River Delta Over the centuries numerous kingdoms dynasties and states have ruled over and fought for what is now Vietnam The bloody Cold War era conflict between Ho Chi Minh's communist backed Democratic Republic of Vietnam and the American backed Republic of Vietnam was only the most recent instance when war divided and transformed Vietnam A major achievement Vietnam offers the grand narrative of the country's complex past and the creation of the modern state of Vietnam It is the definitive single volume history for anyone seeking to understand Vietnam today

Space Is Power John Hickman, 2016-02-29 From Russia's annexation of Crimea to China's nine dash line in the South China Sea it is clear that territory is as important in international politics now as it has ever been Yet too few contemporary foreign policy makers journalists and scholars are able to speak coherently about territorial issues Space Is Power The Seven Rules of Territory challenges the intellectual conceits that human territoriality is merely a social construct that territorial sovereignty is atavistic that territorial annexation is always irrational and that territorial disputes are provoked by foreign policy makers who seek to divert public attention from more important issues Space Is Power argues that territoriality is too basic to human nature to be denied and territorial sovereignty is too important to the survival of the modern state to be ignored The truths about territory are captured in seven rules some of which are intuitive while others contradict conventional wisdom Rather than anticipating the transcendence of the territorial states this book argues that the unmistakable direction of international politics is toward encompassing ever more physical space as the territory of states

Human Security Benny Teh Cheng Guan, 2012-01-03 Human security is becoming increasingly pronounced in recent years due to changes in the security landscape of world politics Yet inter state relations have continued to dominate security concerns in East Asia This has unfortunately eluded the broader understanding of issues and challenges facing the peoples of East Asia Home to nations with rapid economic growth and development East Asia is at the core of what some individuals have termed as the coming Asian Century Years of economic liberalization and exposure to globalization have permitted the region to achieve high levels of interconnectedness from within and without in unprecedented ways This has certainly reduced state control and opened up spaces for cross border human activities While economic wealth have increased substantially over the years it has also brought about bigger income disparities unsustainable safety nets and a surge in social problems from health issues to migratory concerns that threaten the safety and well being of individuals Human Security Securing East Asia's Future timely examines the fundamental issues causing human insecurities and evaluates the extent of which human security plays a role at the state and regional levels Covering the different areas of threats to humans and applying case study materials this volume provides an intellectual mix of perspectives that captures the relationship between people state and region This book will be of interest to those studying traditional and non traditional security threats Asian human development and critical policy analysis

Rural-Urban Dynamics Jytte Agergaard, Niels Fold, Katherine Gough, 2009-09-11 It has increasingly been recognised that rural and urban areas are inextricably interlinked This book adopts a fresh approach to the issue of rural urban dynamics through a study of the changing nature of livelihoods mobility and markets in ten study sites across four countries of Africa and Asia Building on detailed fieldwork conducted in Ghana Tanzania Vietnam and Thailand the authors explore how settlements and livelihoods are being transformed as long term inhabitants and recent migrants embrace new economic activities many of which are linked to global markets The book is structured around the concept of frontier which is conceptualized as being a dynamic space where the forces of economic demographic and social change are brought to bear The study sites include agricultural frontiers coffee cocoa pineapples and fresh fruit handicraft and manufacturing frontiers and mining frontiers gold and diamonds In all of the cases global value chain dynamics have played a pivotal role in shaping local livelihoods Some settlements are developing into new urban centres whilst others are suffering from a boom and bust experience due to the unreliability of export markets The similarities and differences between the frontier settlements are drawn out by comparing frontiers of similar types and by highlighting the theoretical and policy implications of the findings from all the frontier types The originality of the book lies in its combination of conceptual clarity methodological coherence and empirical richness By combining detailed empirical findings with theoretical insight from debates on livelihoods global value chains mobility patterns settlement dynamics and rural urban relations the book sheds new light on these issues within an overall framework of development trajectories in Africa and Asia Given scholars and international agencies current interest in the spatial dimensions of economic development this contribution is particularly timely with its fresh geographical approach to development issues this book is a pertinent and authoritative read for anyone researching or learning in the field of development

Vietnam and the West Wynn Wilcox, 2010 This sound interpretation of Vietnamese cultural attitudes contends that a major reason for American difficulties in Viet Nam has been the failure to appreciate how wide the gulf is between Viet Nam and the West Professor Smith first describes Vietnamese political and social traditions and shows how they were challenged by the West after 1858 He examines Viet Nam's search for independence and modernization in the first half of this century contrasts the two governments of the partitioned country during the years 1954-1963 and stresses the critical need to reassess attitudes toward Viet Nam His sophisticated ambitious survey of Viet Nam history will have a lasting value that sets it apart from the scores of ephemeral books on this country

The Uprooted Christina Elizabeth Firpo, 2016-01-31 For over a century French officials in Indochina systematically uprooted m'tis children those born of Southeast Asian mothers and white African or Indian fathers from their homes In many cases and for a wide range of reasons death divorce the end of a romance a return to France or because the birth was the result of rape the father had left the child in the mother's care Although the program succeeded in rescuing homeless children from life on the streets for those in their mothers care it was disastrous Citing an 1889 French law and claiming that raising children in the Southeast Asian cultural milieu was tantamount to abandonment colonial officials sought permanent protective custody of the children placing them in state-run orphanages or educational institutions to be transformed into little Frenchmen The Uprooted offers an in-depth investigation of the colony's child removal program the motivations behind it reception of it and resistance to it M'tis children Eurasians in particular were seen as a threat on multiple fronts colonial security white French dominance and the colonial gender order Officials feared that abandoned m'tis might become paupers or prostitutes thereby undermining white prestige M'tis were considered particularly vulnerable to the lure of anticolonialist movements their ambiguous racial identity and outsider status it was thought might lead them to rebellion M'tis children who could pass for white also played a key role in French plans to augment their own declining numbers and reproduce the French race nation and after World War II empire French child welfare organizations continued to work in Vietnam well beyond independence until 1975 The story of the m'tis children they sought to help highlights the importance and vulnerability of indigenous mothers and children to the colonial project Part of a larger historical trend the Indochina case shows striking parallels to that of Australia's Stolen Generation and the Indian and First Nations boarding schools in the United States and Canada This poignant and little known story will be of interest to scholars of French and Southeast Asian studies colonialism gender studies and the historiography of the family Anthropology and
