Lukundoo And Other Stories:

Lukundoo and Other Stories Edward Lucas White, 2016-04-12 1 Lukundoo It stands to reason said Twombly that a man must accept the evidence of his own eyes and when eyes and ears agree there can be no doubt He has to believe what he has both seen and heard Not always put in Singleton softly Every man turned toward Singleton Twombly was standing on the hearth rug his back to the grate his legs spread out with his habitual air of dominating the room Singleton as usual was as much as possible effaced in a corner But when Singleton spoke he said something We faced him in that flattering spontaneity of expectant silence which invites utterance I was thinking he said after an interval of something I both saw and heard in Africa Now if there was one thing we had found impossible it had been to elicit from Singleton anything definite about his African experiences As with the Alpinist in the story who could tell only that he went up and came down the sum of Singleton's revelations had been that he went there and came away His words now riveted our attention at once Twombly faded from the hearth rug but not one of us could ever recall having seen him go The room readjusted itself focused on Singleton and there was some hasty and furtive lighting of fresh cigars Singleton lit one also but it went out immediately and he never relit it Lukundoo Edward Lucas White, 1927 Index to Short Stories, 1929 Index to Short Stories--Supplement Ina
