Ibn Khaldun and the Social Sciences Javad Tabatabai, 2024-10-16 Arabic and European studies of Ibn Khaldun the great medieval polymath follow one of two paths In one direction scholars interpret his Prolegomena written in 1377 as the point at which the new social sciences emerged They identify Ibn Khaldun s new science of culture as sociology or as an Islamic or Arab alternative to sociology In the other direction the interpretation of Khaldunian discourse is confined to the Islamic Aristotelian paradigm of its time The epistemological novelty of the Prolegomena is dismissed and the science of culture is perceived as a minor contribution to the Aristotelian curriculum Charting a different path Javad Tabatabai s highly original Ibn Khaldun and the Social Sciences is an inquiry into the condition of the impossibility of the social sciences in the Islamic Aristotelian paradigm Rather than identifying the science of culture as a forerunner of or alternative to sociology it investigates the Prolegomena within the epistemological framework established by the social sciences Javad Tabatabai theorizes the condition of impossibility of the scientific revolution as the epistemic obstacle to modernity in Islamic civilization This theorization revisits Michel Foucault s discussion of the condition of possibility of the human sciences in light of the history of Christian Aristotelian thought and the broader French debates about epistemology from Bachelard to Althusser Ibn Khaldun and the Social Science offers a critical theory of tradition and modernity in the Middle East elaborating on a historical situation where social and human sciences emerged by the way of colonial and post colonial translations of discourse from Europe and in a historical and epistemological break with inherited traditions of knowledge In this situation Tabatabai highlights the significance of reactivating Ibn Khaldun s critical reckoning with the limit of inherited traditions as the political theological horizon of renewal
