Fischer, 2016-06-22 This book is inspired by the 2015 Italian Art Society sponsored conference sessions of the American Association of Italian Studies Its seven chapters span the art of ancient Etruria to twentieth century Italy and explore a variety of media including mirrors cameos treasury objects reliquaries ceramics and figurines

Contributors approach the topic of the minor arts from a variety of interdisciplinary perspectives including reception use patronage gender issues propaganda and iconography The volume thus fills the lacuna in the scholarship of the minor arts and reveals that the minor arts are unique and worthy of study for their size preciousness patronage audience function portability and material Ultimately in revealing the importance of these objects the book shows that the division between the major and minor arts is no longer valid and that these objects of the minor arts hold as much significance as those of the major arts

Experiencing Dodona Diego Chapinal-Heras,2021-03-08 A monograph concerning the sanctuary of Dodona and its role in the political context of Epirus might be a remarkable input Located in a region that has received more interest in the last years this book attempts to analyze the way the shrine evolved in connection with the political developments of its surrounding region The study employs a diachronic perspective and emphasizes throughout that religion was a dynamic not a static phenomenon The chronology of this research extends from the Archaic to Hellenistic periods Its key novelty is that it offers an entirely new holistic approach to an ancient religious site by considering its polyfunctionality At the same time that it presents a state of the art analysis of the shrine of Dodona and contributes with a new theory concerning the function of some structures located in the sacred area it also highlights the close connection between a settlement and its region For this reason the aim is to become a reference work that allows continuing the current trend of studies focused on Epirus a territory traditionally considered as secondary

Swifter Than the Arrow Michael Rice, 2006-03-31 Swifter than the Arrow explores a little known aspect of life in Ancient Egypt celebrating the Egyptians as the first known civilisation to have formed the special bond with the dog that persists today as the most remarkable and enduring of human animal relationships Five thousand years ago the Egyptians selected and bred hounds for the chase and as the loved companions of both the Great Ones the ruling classes and of less exalted folk For more than twenty five centuries they kept the breed true a remarkable achievement to be counted alongside the development of stone architecture and the building of the pyramids the invention of hieroglyphs the creation of kingship and of the first nation state in the world The dogs on which the Egyptians lavished such loving care and skill were the elegant slender prick eared golden hounds familiar from a thousand tomb reliefs that they called tjesm They were given affectionate names and were the companions of kings who honoured them with rich burials to ensure that they would be together for ever in the Afterlife Numerous representations of dogs and their masters from predynastic rock art through to elaborate tomb paintings and reliefs leave us in no doubt as to the sincerity of the affection that the Egyptians felt for their dog companions The first named dog lover in history was the earliest known queen Herneith who was buried with her hound at Saqqara Dogs and other canines also played their roles in the rich pantheon of ancient Egyptian religion figuring as semi divine messengers between the worlds of the living and the dead Perhaps the most familiar such deity is the sleek black jackal headed god Anubis guardian of the Necropolis and attendant of the underworld Swifter than the Arrow also examines the evidence that hounds living today most notably modern breeds such as the so called Pharaoh Hound are directly descended from the Egyptian hound It reveals remarkable information about the ancestry of the hounds of the Mediterranean islands that unmistakably share the appearance and character of the dogs that once raced across the Egyptian deserts This unique book throws fresh light on our understanding of ancient Egypt while providing a completely fresh insight into the development of mankind s remarkable bond with the domesticated dog     Synopsis Andrew D.
