General Staff,1920 Location of Graves and Disposition of Bodies of American Soldiers who Died Overseas ,1920 Growth in a Traditional Society Philip T. Hoffman,2018-06-05 Philip Hoffman shatters the widespread myth that traditional agricultural societies in early modern Europe were socially and economically stagnant and ultimately dependent on wide scale political revolution for their growth Through a richly detailed historical investigation of the peasant agriculture of ancien r gime France the author uncovers evidence that requires a new understanding of what constituted economic growth in such societies His arguments rest on a measurement of long term growth that enables him to analyze the economic institutional and political factors that explain its forms and rhythms In comparing France with England and Germany Hoffman arrives at fresh answers to some classic questions Did French agriculture lag behind farming in other countries If so did the obstacles in French agriculture lurk within peasant society itself in the peasants culture in their communal property rights or in the small scale of their farms Or did the obstacles hide elsewhere in politics in the tax system or in meager opportunities for trade The author discovers that growth cannot be explained by culture property rights or farm size and argues that the real causes of growth derived from politics and gains from trade By challenging other widely held beliefs such as the nature of the commons and the workings of the rural economy Hoffman offers a new analysis of peasant society and culture one based on microeconomics and game theory and intended for a wide range of social scientists Climate and History Robert I.
