equitable diversity Drawing on in depth research at an urban elementary school Posey Maddox examines parents efforts to support the school through their outreach marketing and volunteerism She shows that when middle class parents engage in urban school communities they can bring a host of positive benefits including new educational opportunities and greater diversity But their involvement can also unintentionally marginalize less affluent parents and diminish low income students access to the improving schools In response Posey Maddox argues that school reform efforts which usually equate improvement with rising test scores and increased enrollment need to have more equity focused policies in place to ensure that low income families also benefit from and participate in school change
